II.E.6
1498

II. E. 6.

FANTAZIES

OF

Two, Three, and Four Parts,

FOR

VIOLS.

Composed by Michael East, Batchelor of Musick.

LONDON,
Printed, and are sold by John Playford, at his shop in the TEMPLE.

1995 0905505
Rema 909
B73/1

FANTAZIES

OF

Two, Three, and Four Parts

FOR VIOLS.

Compos'd by Mr. Richard Brideoke of Norfolk.

LONDON,
Printed, and are Sold by Robe Playford, at his Shop in the TEMPLE.

TO THE TRVELY NOBLE LOVER OF LEARNING, AND PATRON OF ARTS, SIR CHRISTOPHER HATTON, Knight of the most Honourable Order of the BATH,

Michael East Batchellour of Musicke, wisheth all increase of Honour and Happinesse.

Honoured Sir:

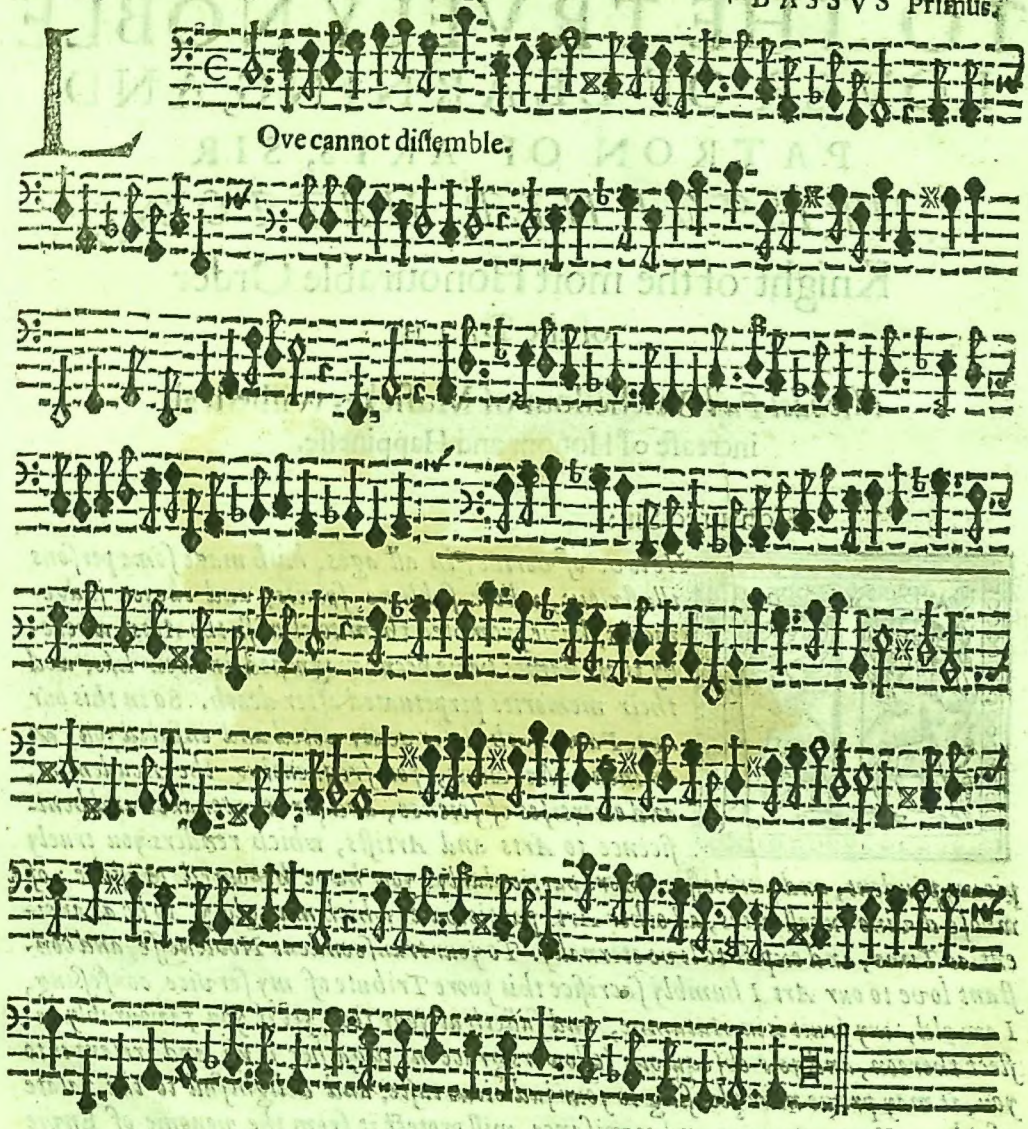
THe love of vertue, in all ages, hath made some persons illustrious, whose sublime spirits, and choyce judgements, have prompted them to cherish the Arts: whereby their names have beene magnified in their life, and their memories perpetuated after death. So in this our age, Fame hath deservedly voted and enstiled you, an eminent Mecænas, for frequenting the Academies, and exercises of science, and for countenance and benificence to Arts and Artists, which renders you truely pious, prudent, and pereleſſe. More particularly, you have honoured Musicke: of whose divine excellencies, all other Arts participate, which may glory to be as ancient as Time, and expect to live eternally. To your transcendent Nobleneſſe, and constant love to our Art, I humbly sacrifice this poore Tribute of my service, confessing, I am old, my fruit is in Autumne, and falleth at your feet, yet if you favourably reflect thereon, and your obsequious followers grace me to gather it up, and present it to you, it may prove more pleasing to your judicious taste, and delightfull to the palate of others. Your patronage and cognisance, will protect it from the venome of Envie and Ignorance, which if you descend to vouchsafe, you shall highly oblige,

Honoured Sir,

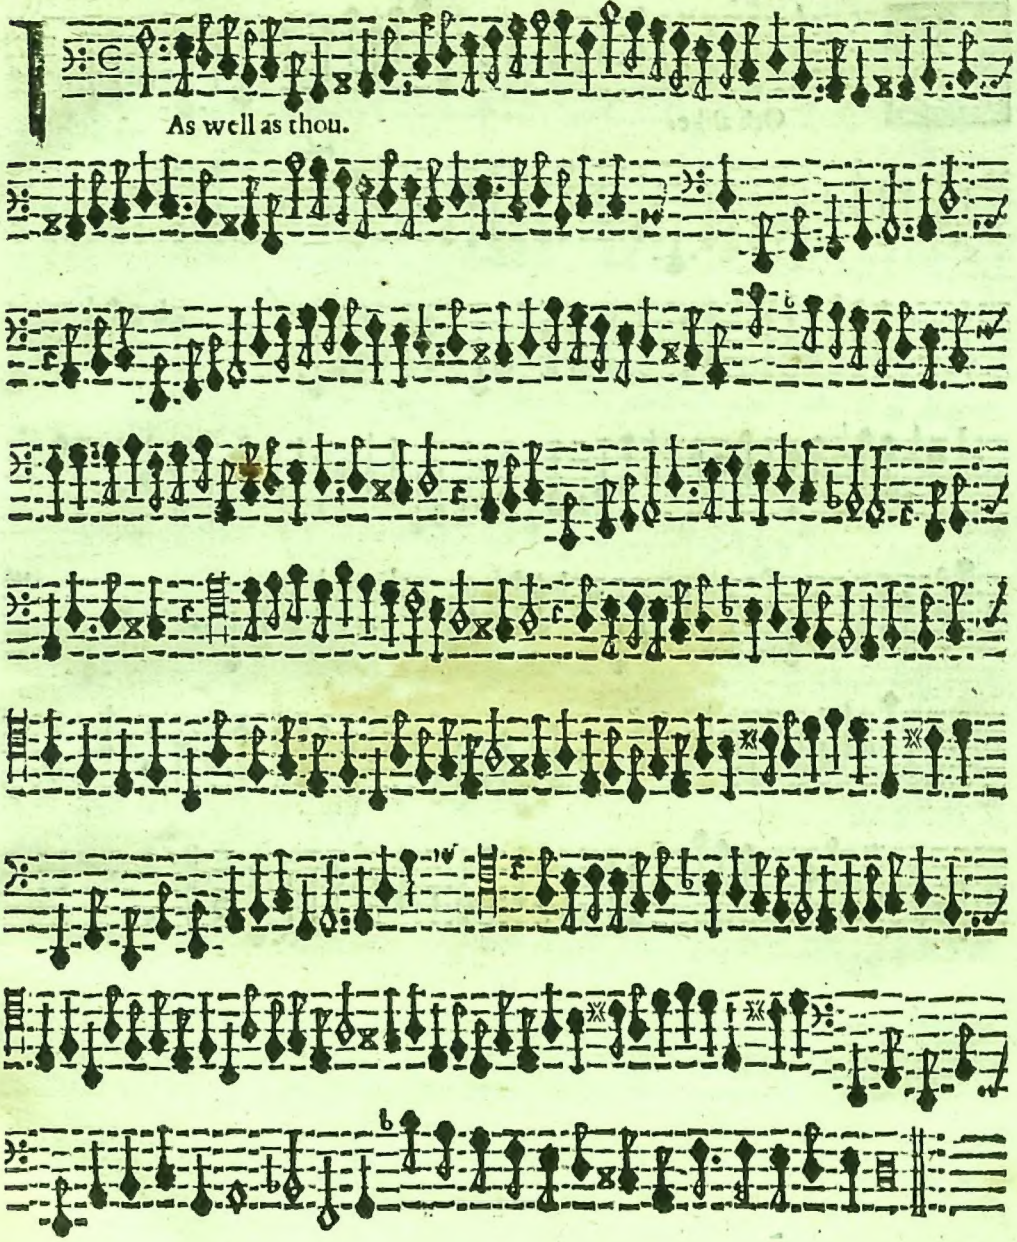
Yours ever humbly devoted

loyally to serve you,

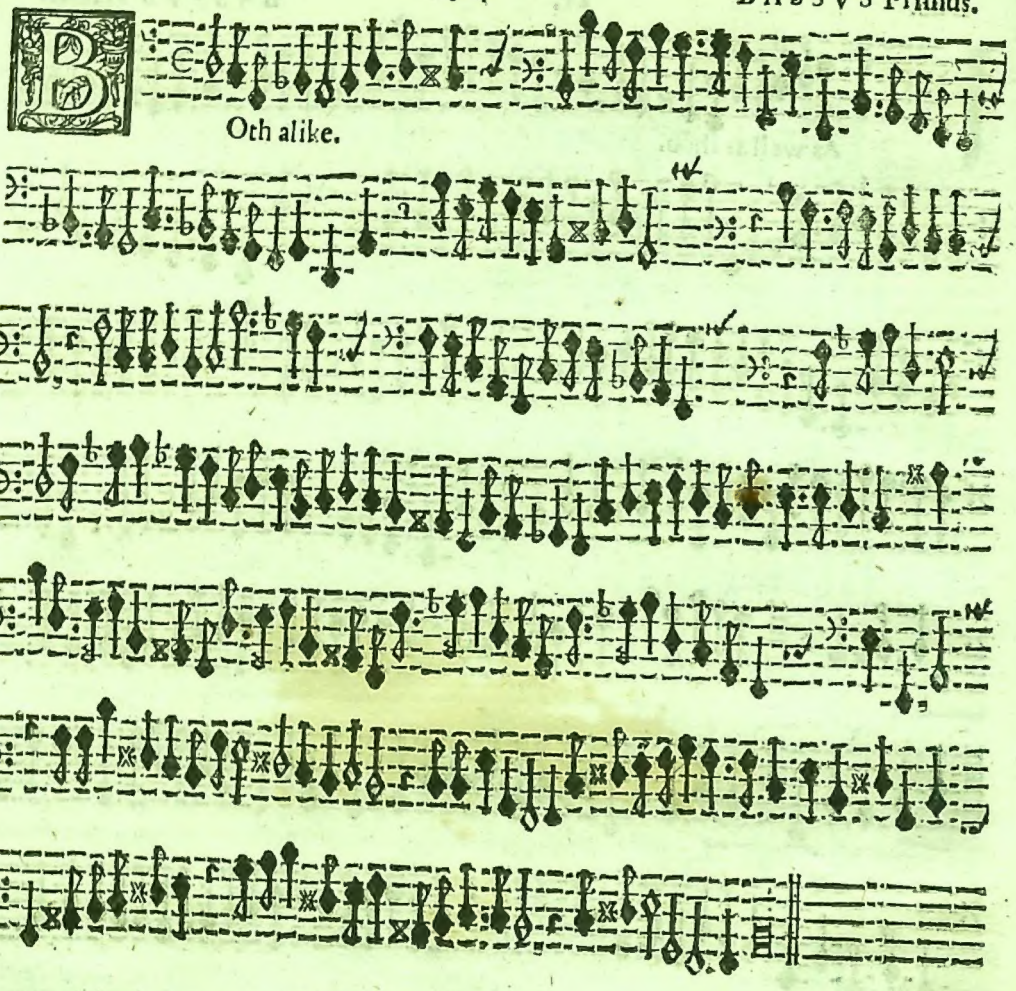
MICHAEL EAST.



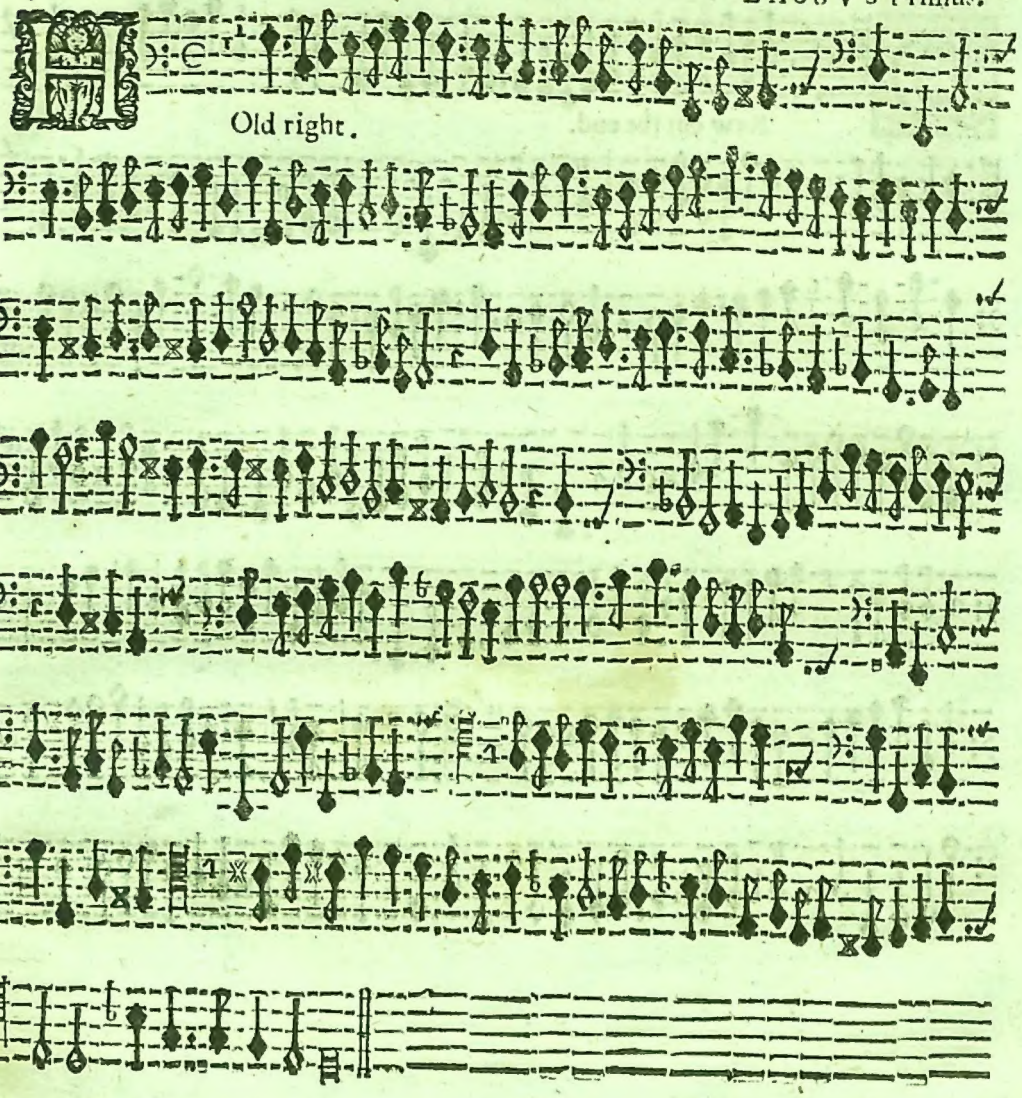
Ove cannot dissemble.



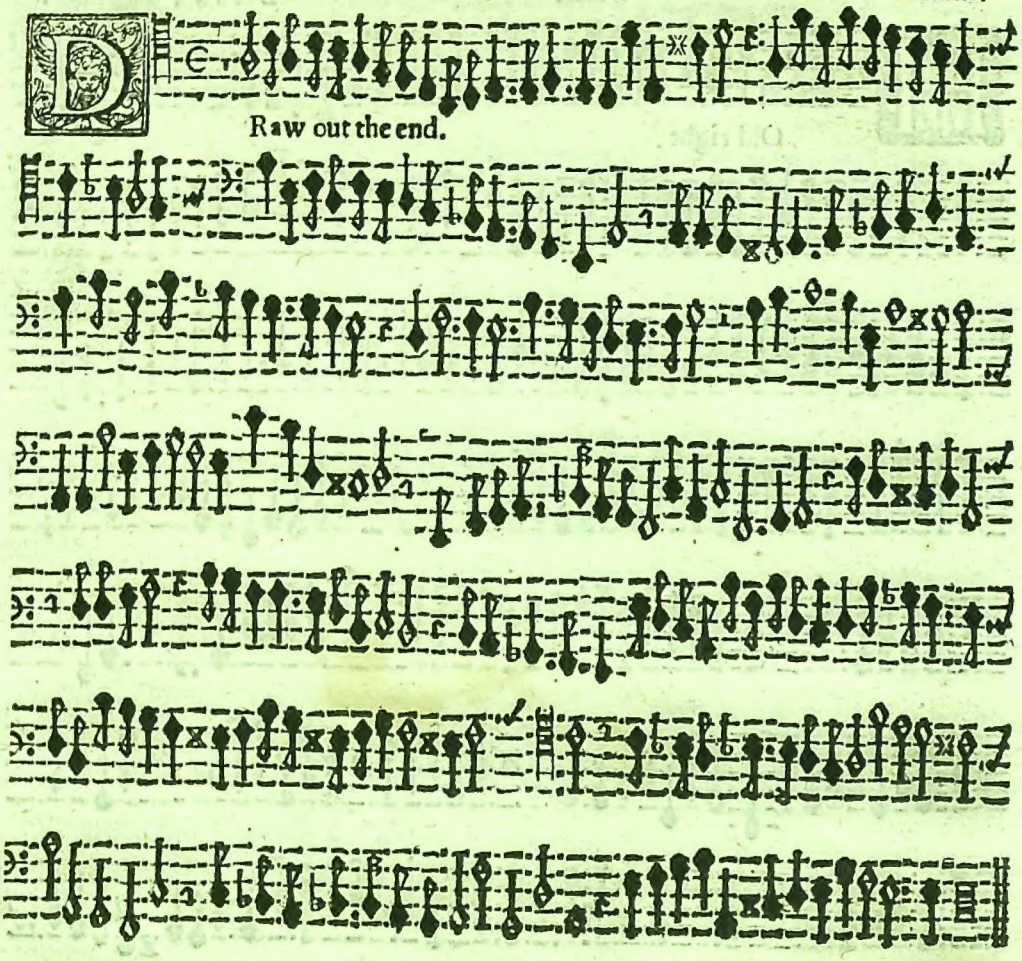
As well as thou.



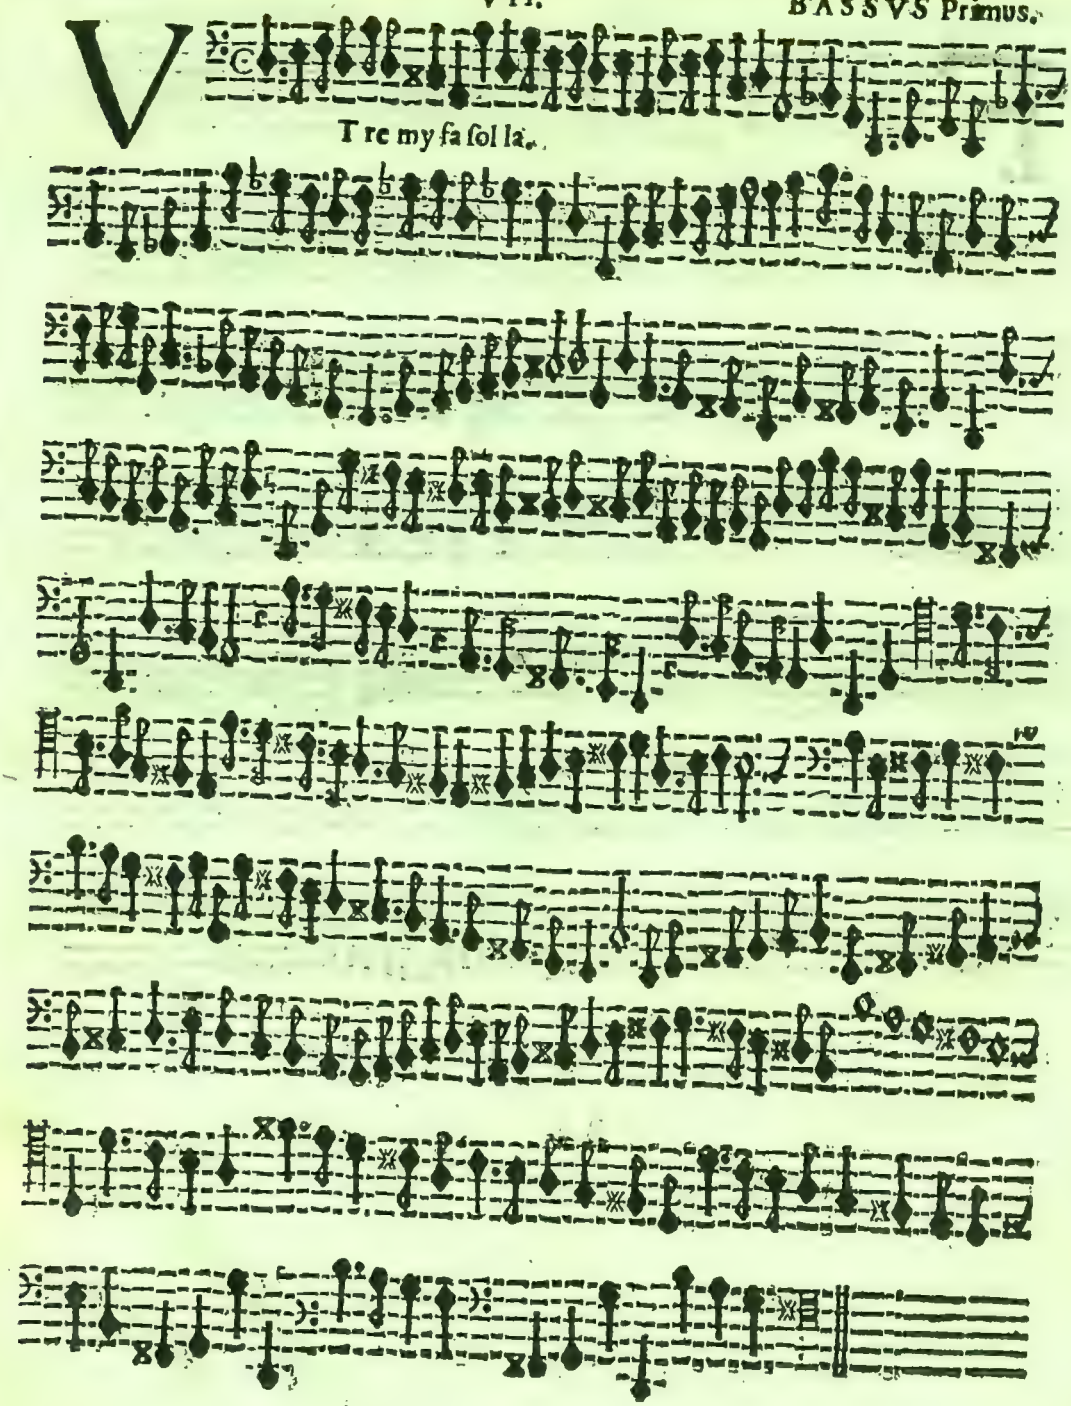
Both alike.



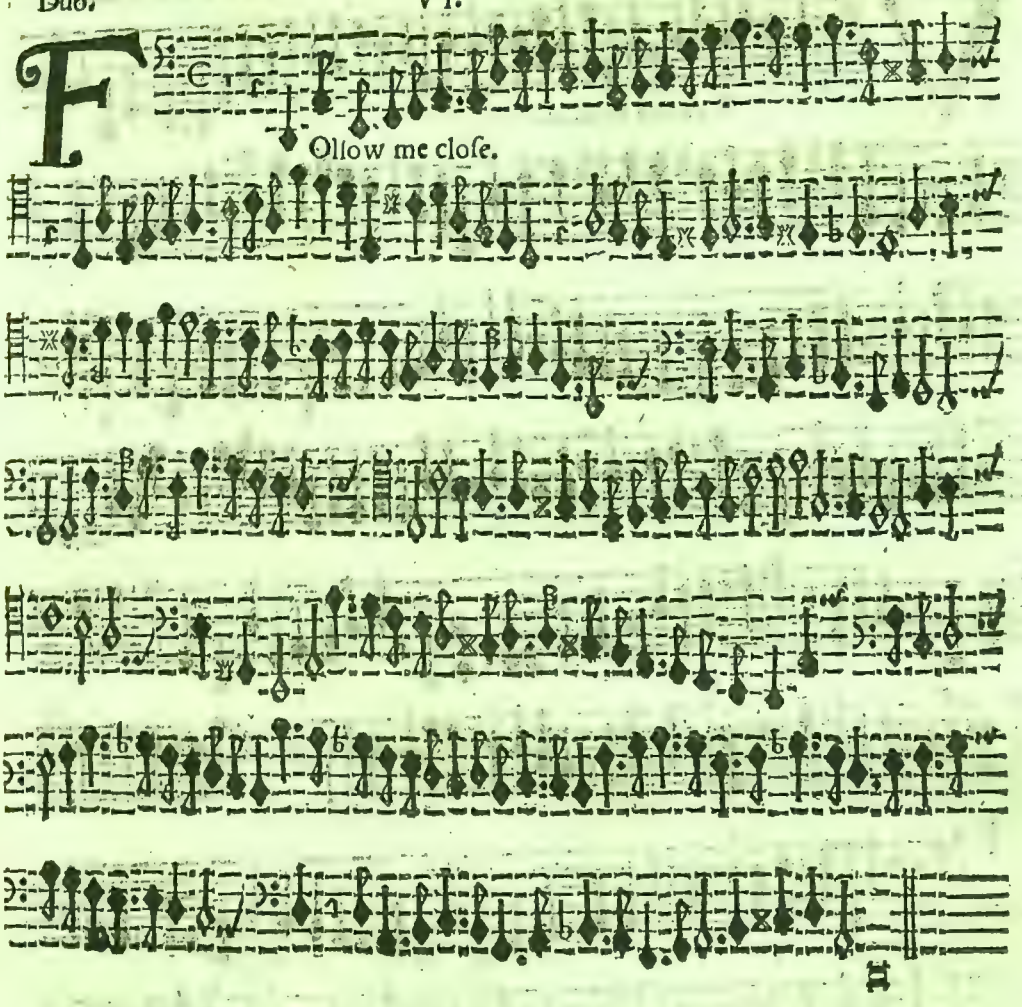
Old right.



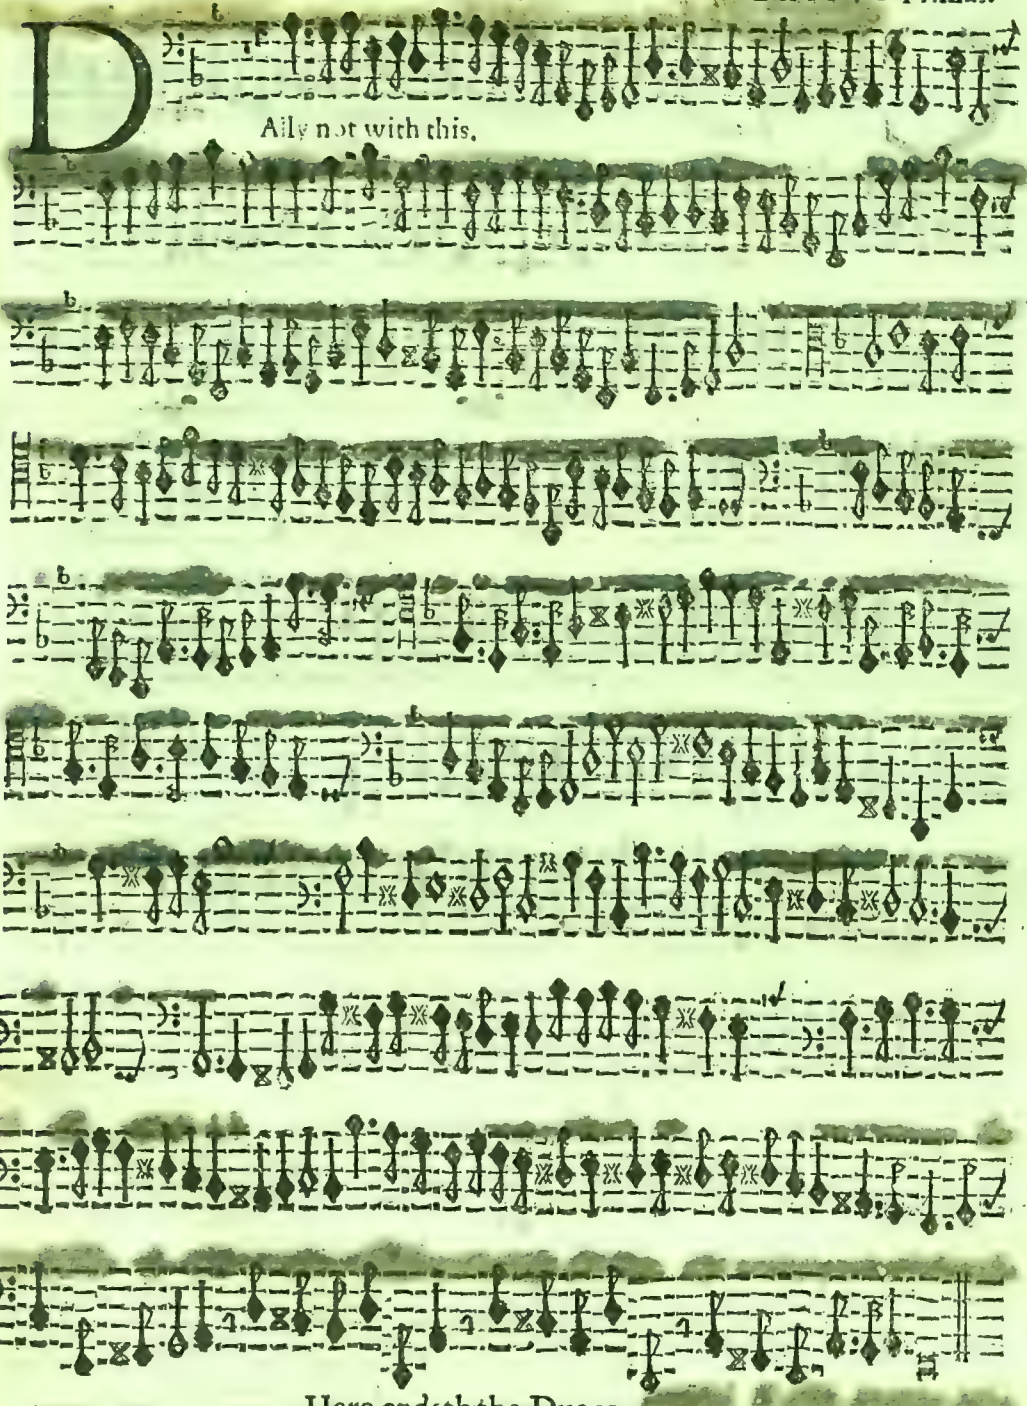
Raw out the end.



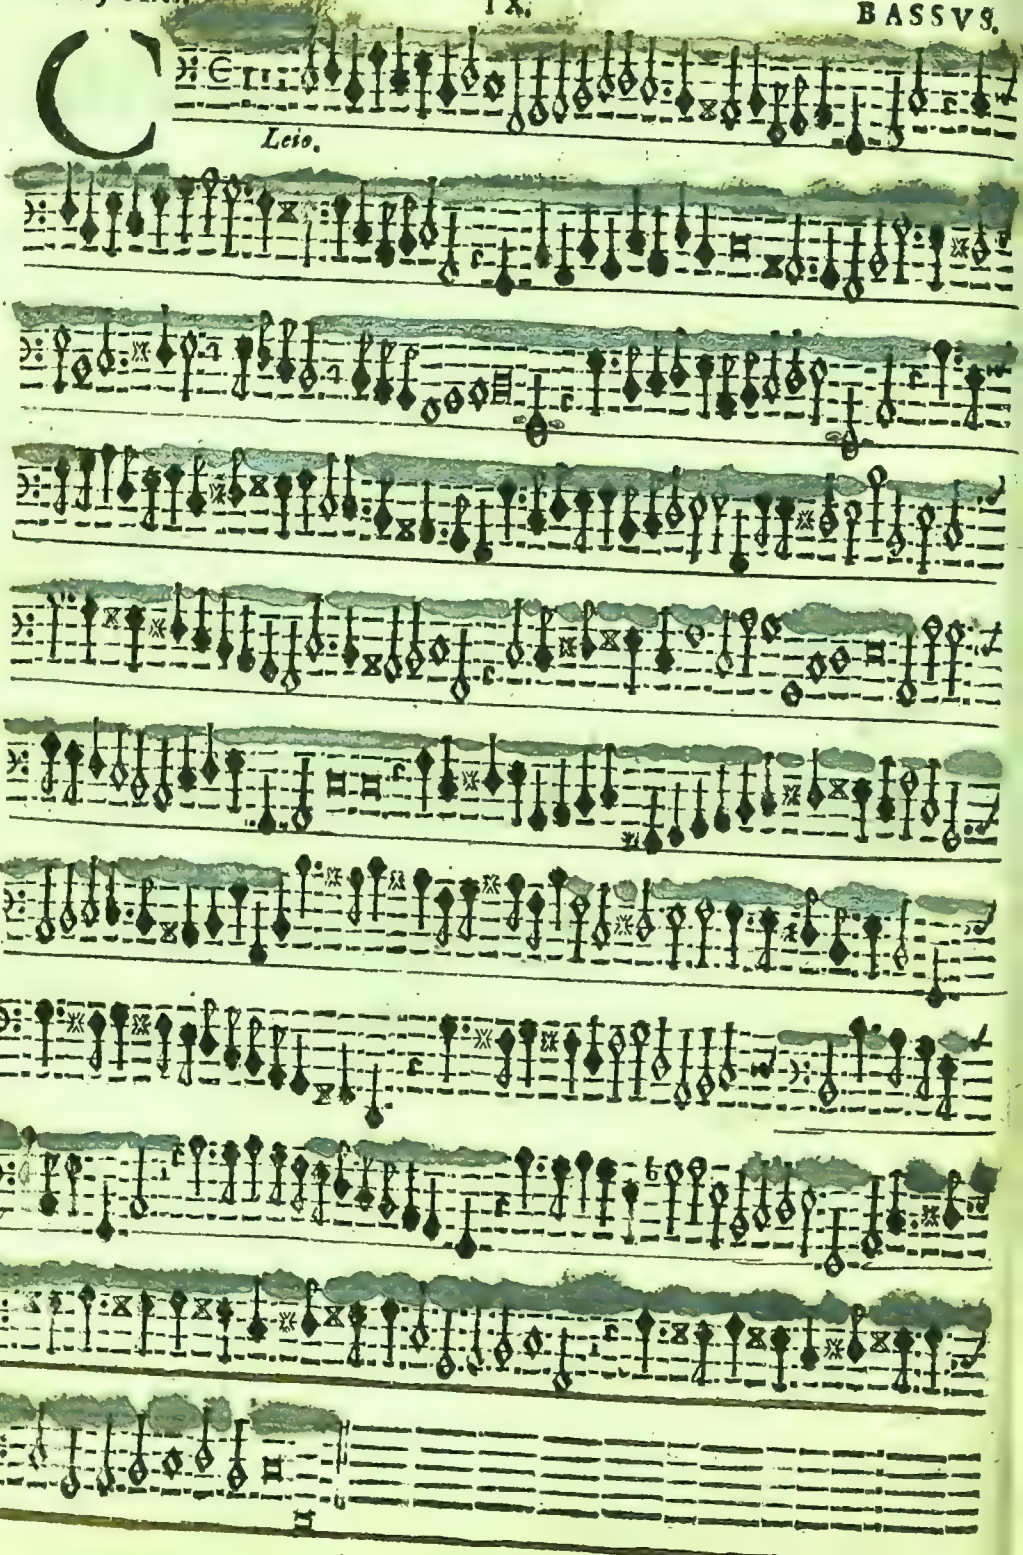
V
T re my fa sol la.



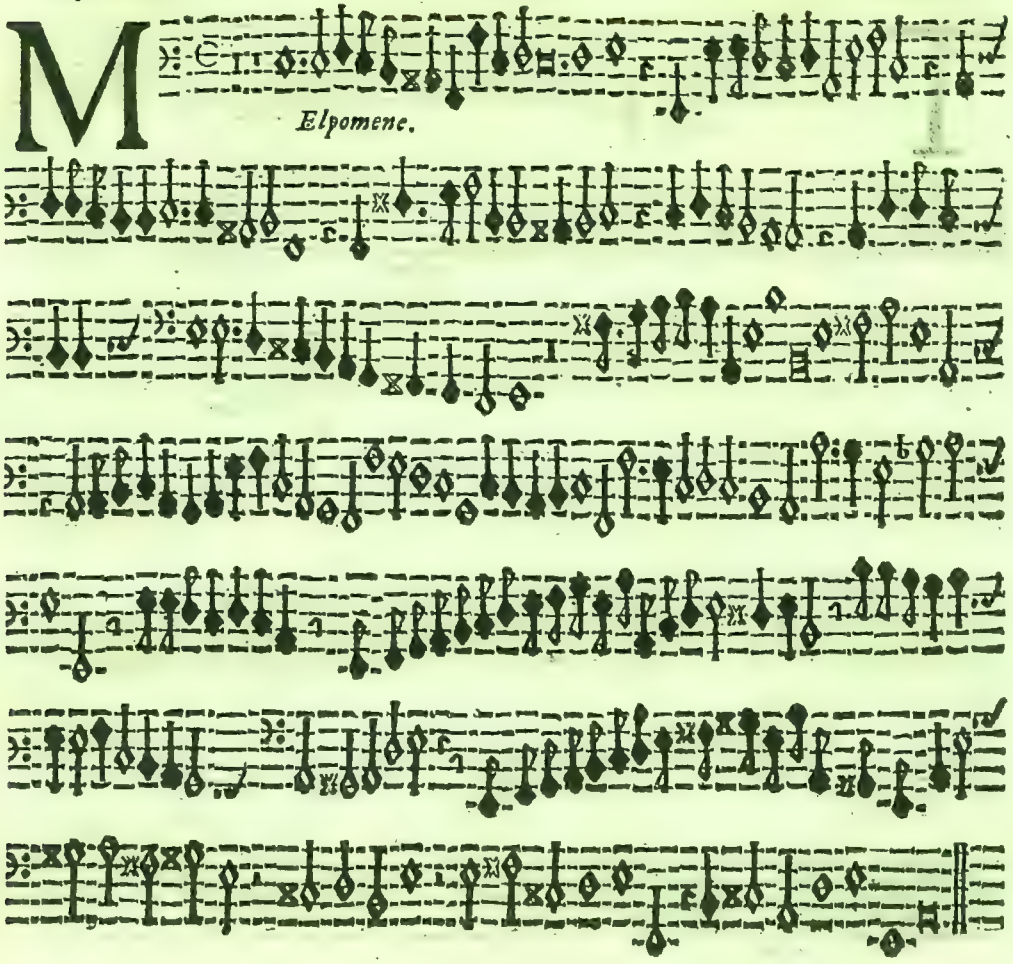
Follow me close.



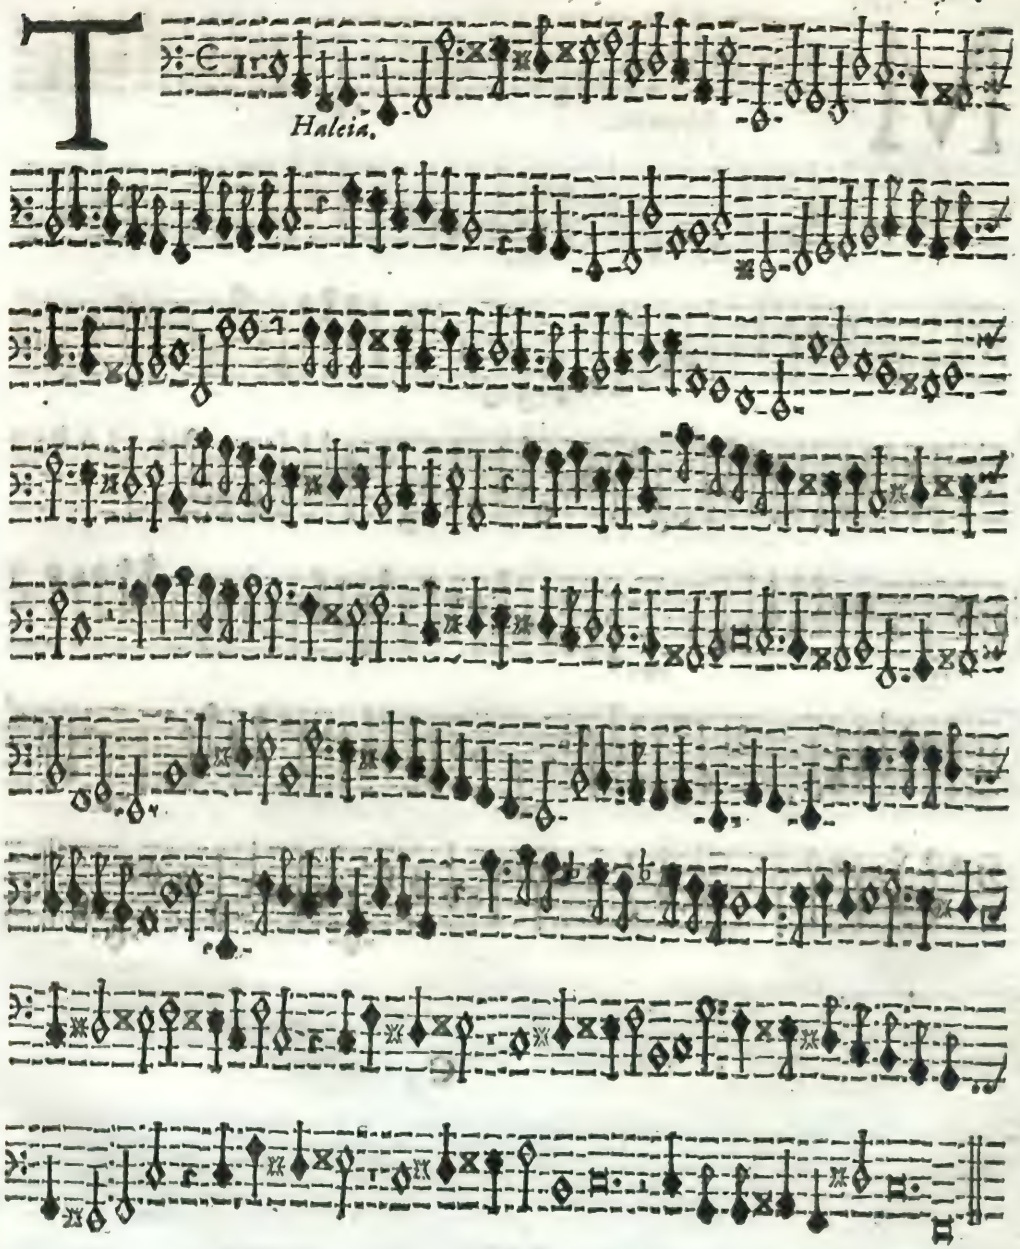
Here endeth the Duoes.



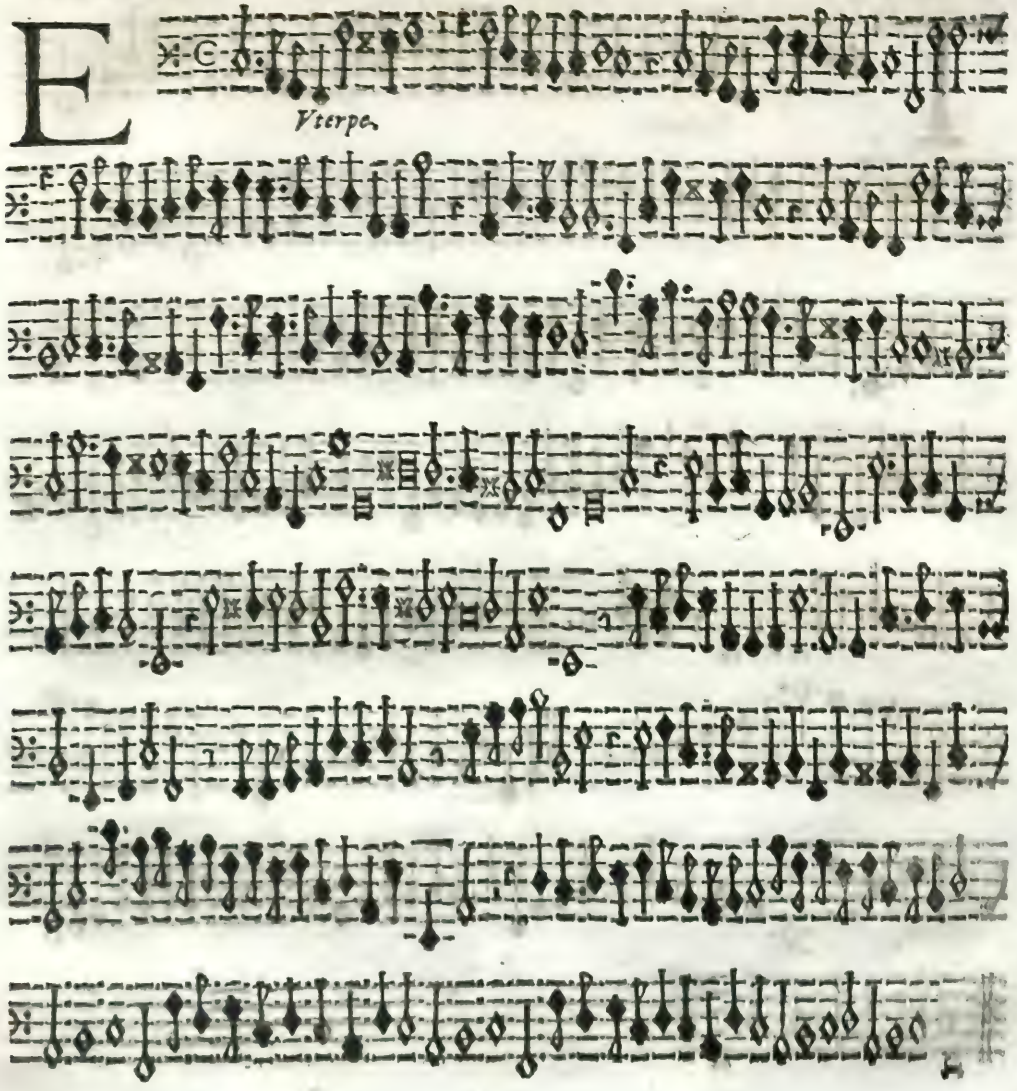
Cleio.



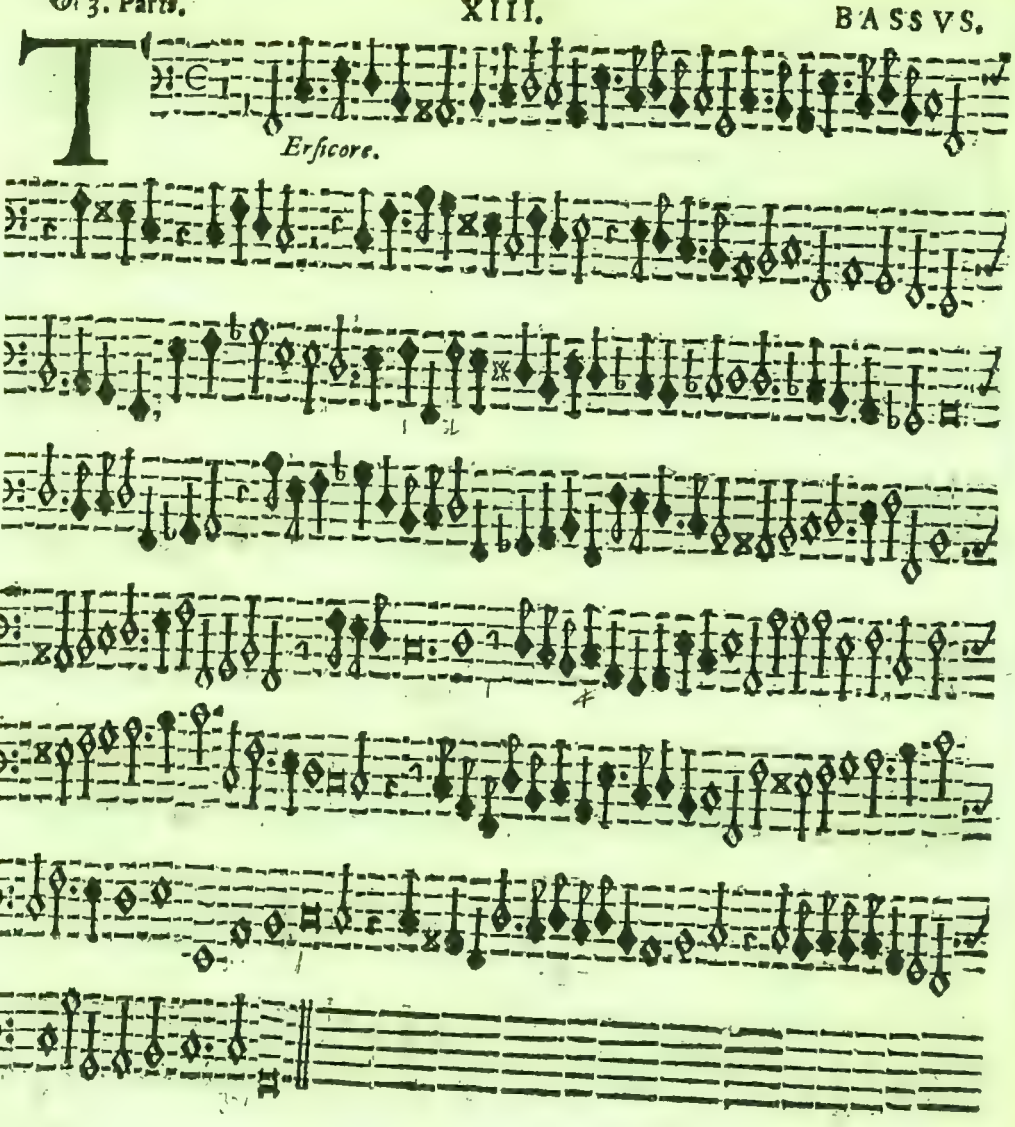
Elpomene.



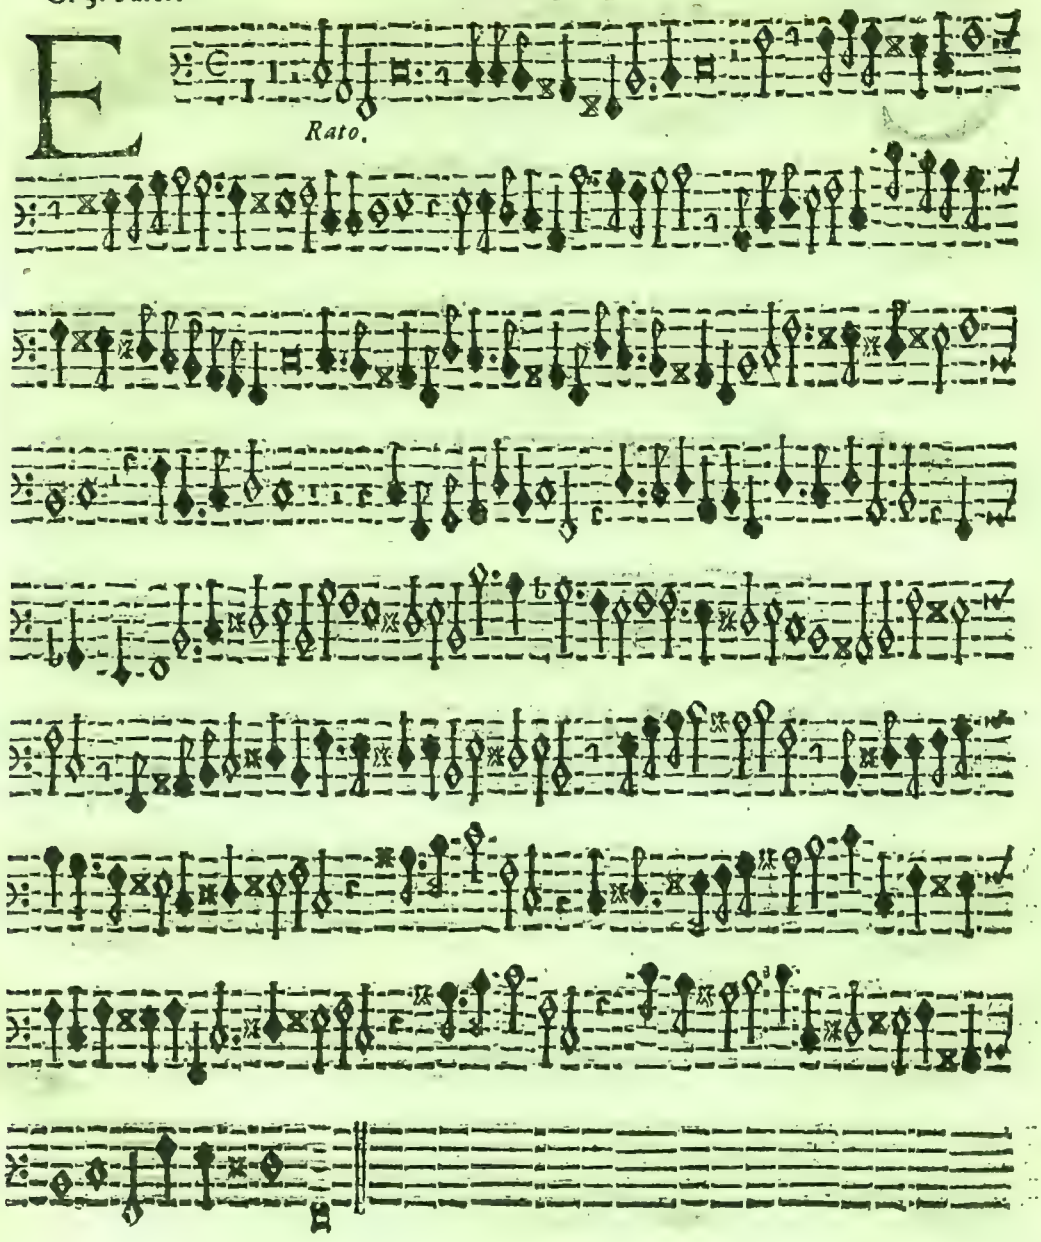
Halelu.



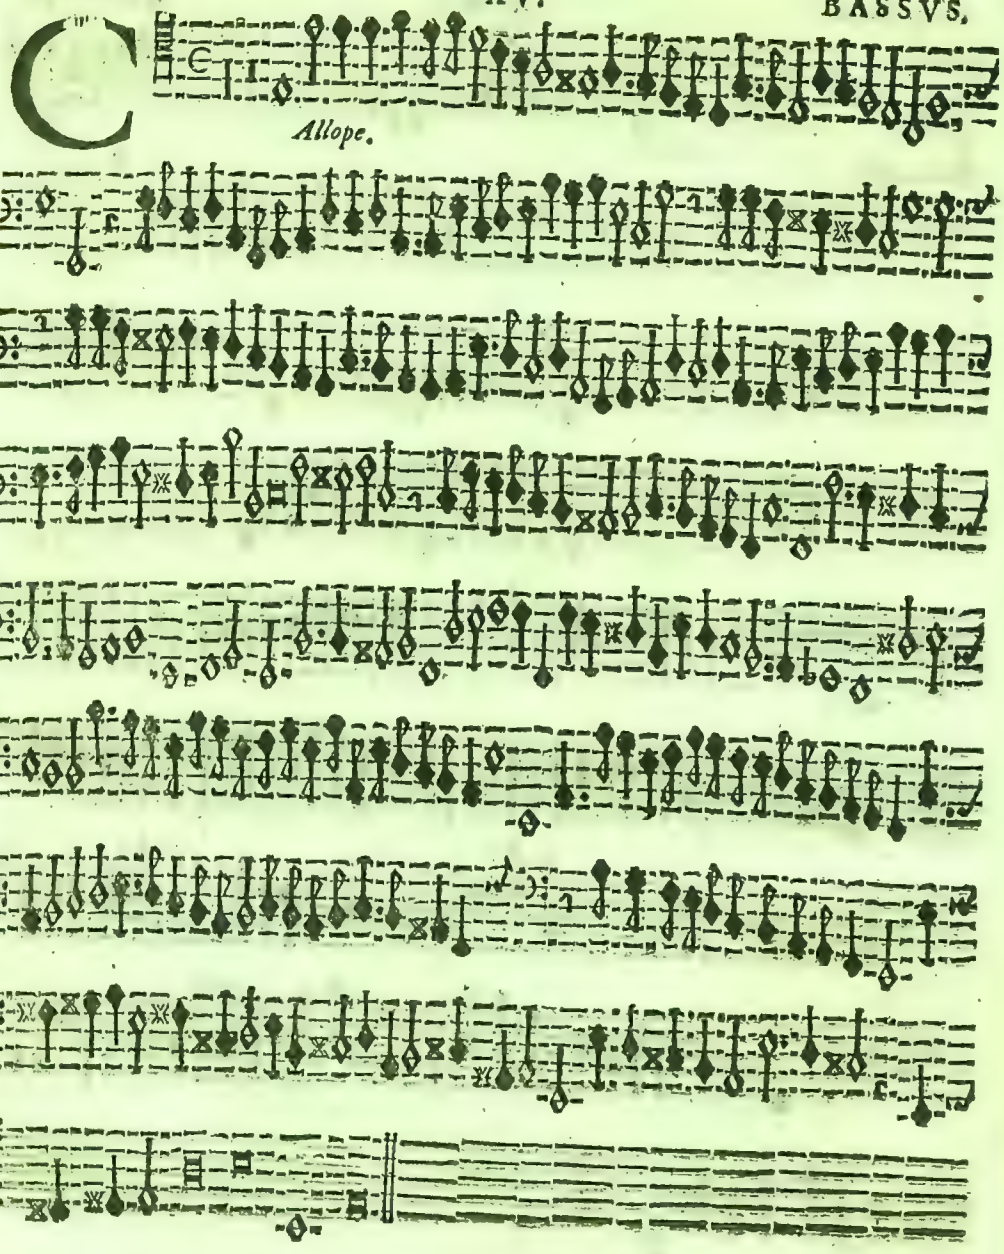
Vterpe.



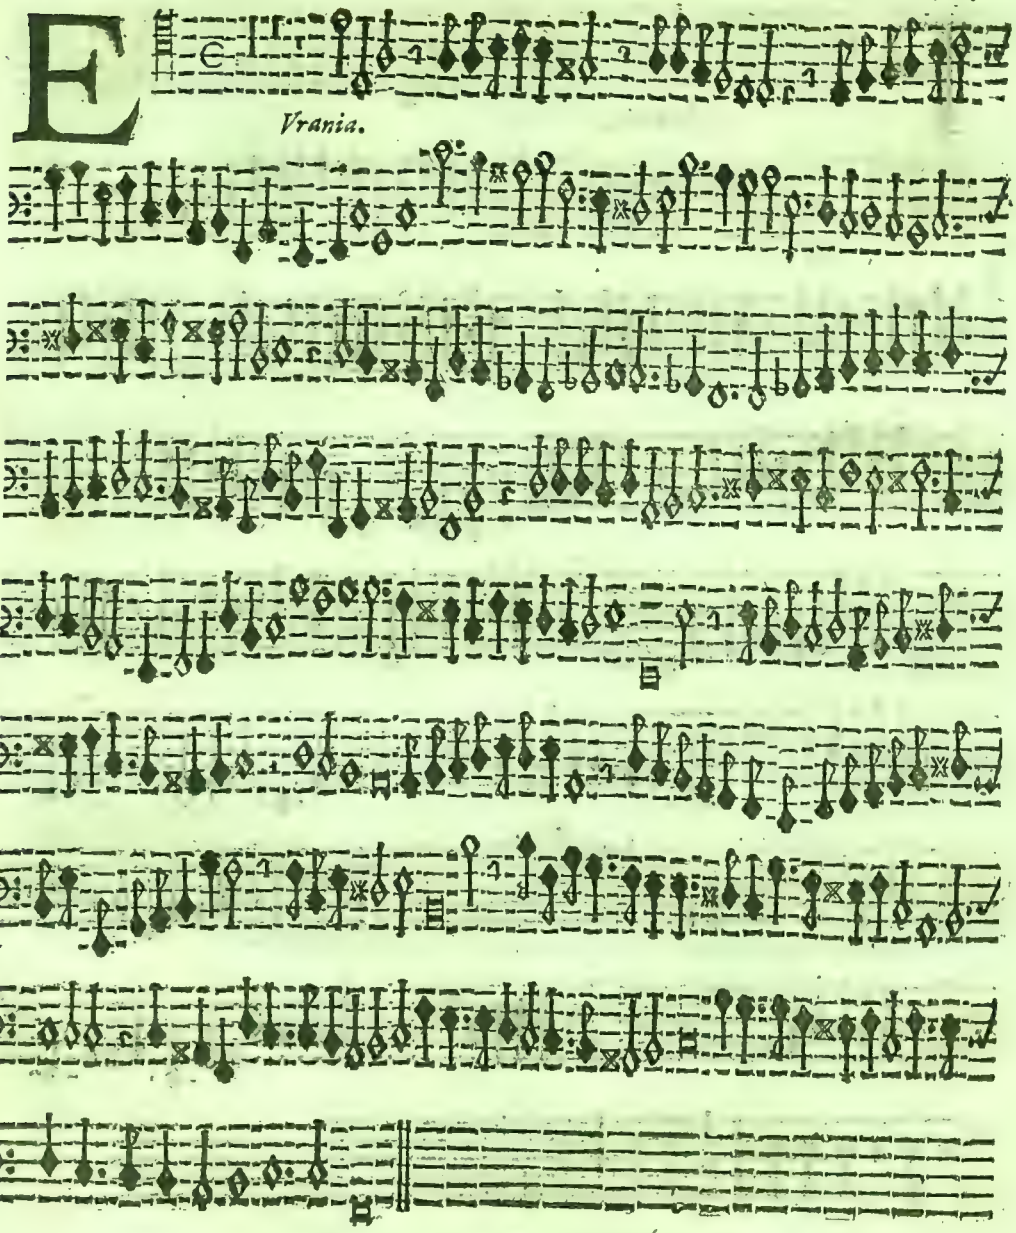
Erſicore.



Rato.

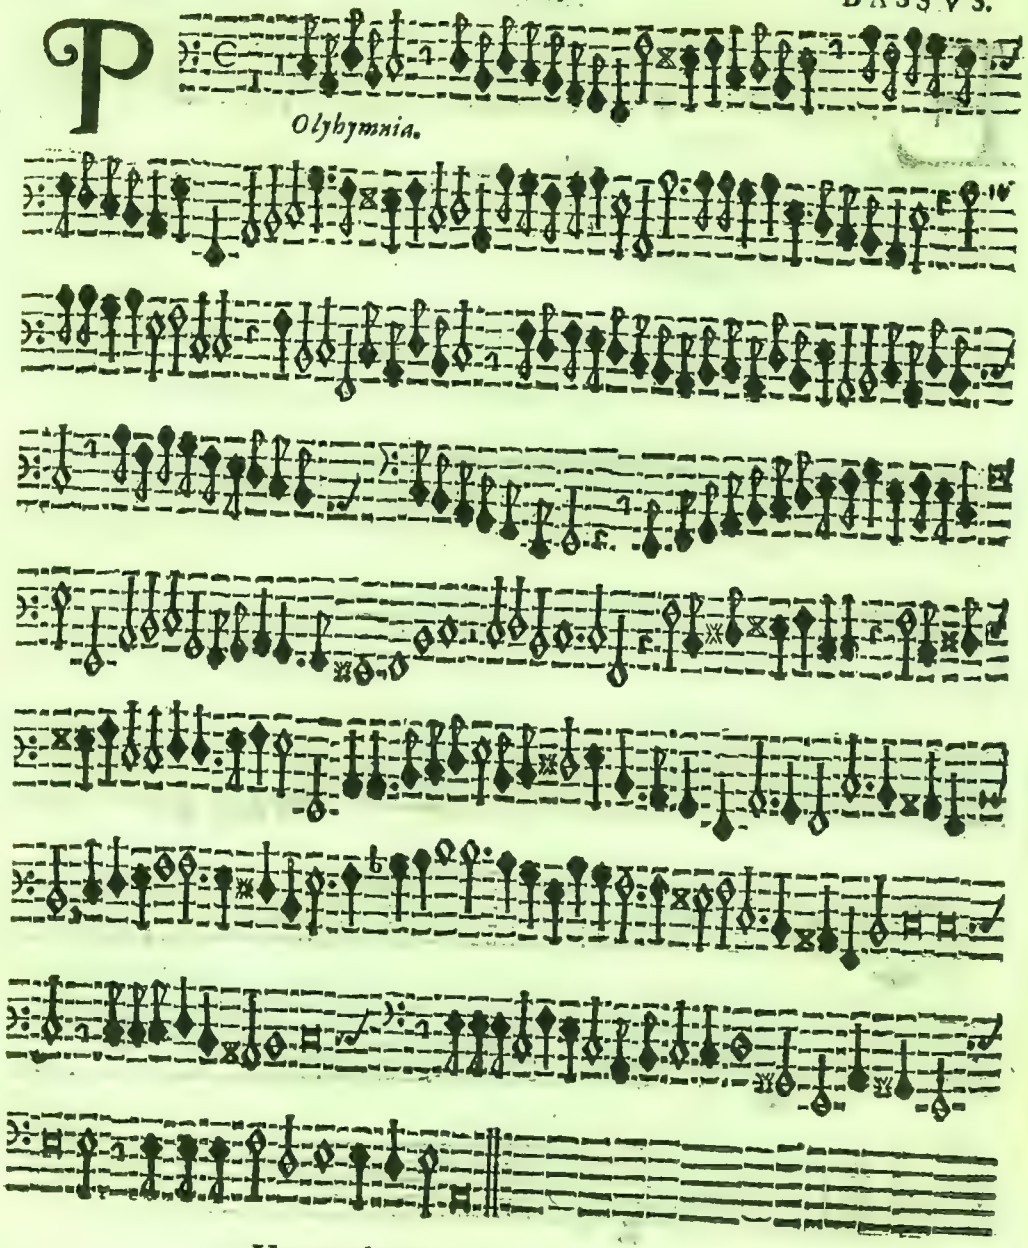


Allope.

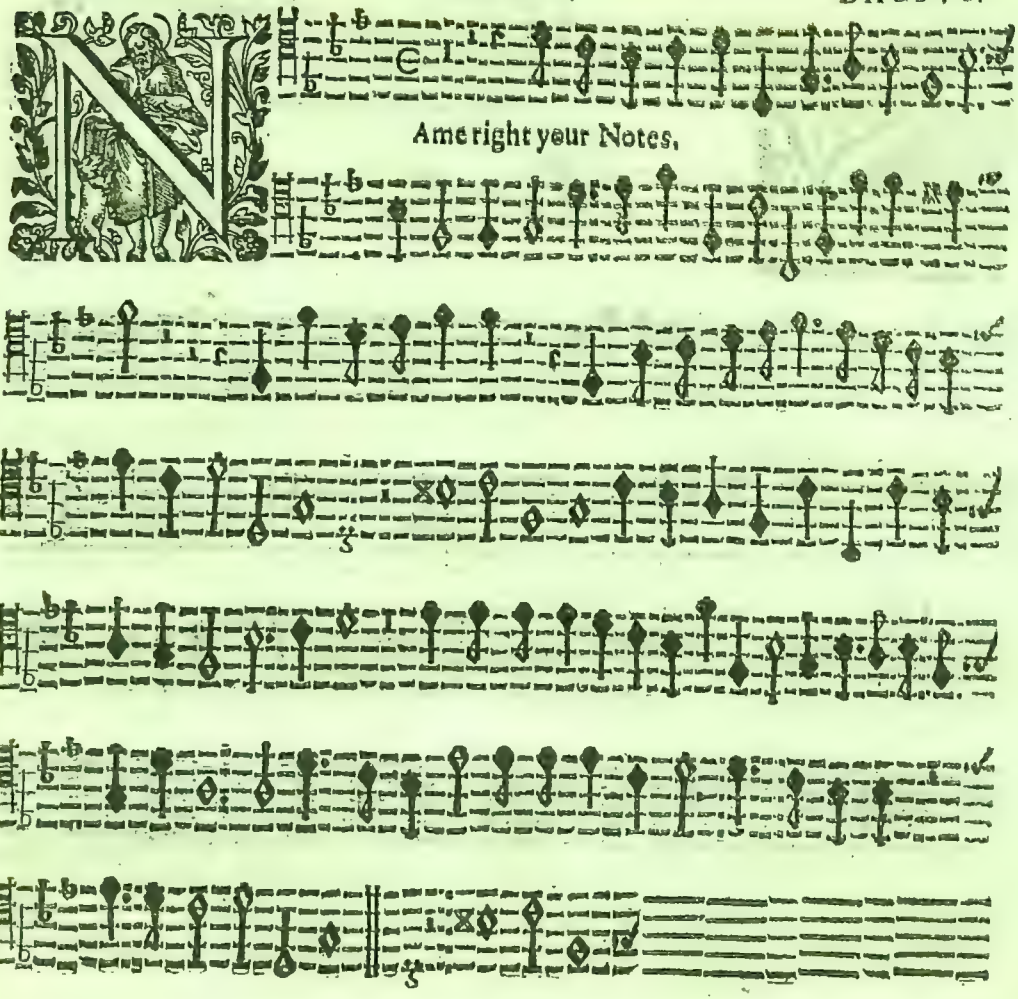


Vrania.

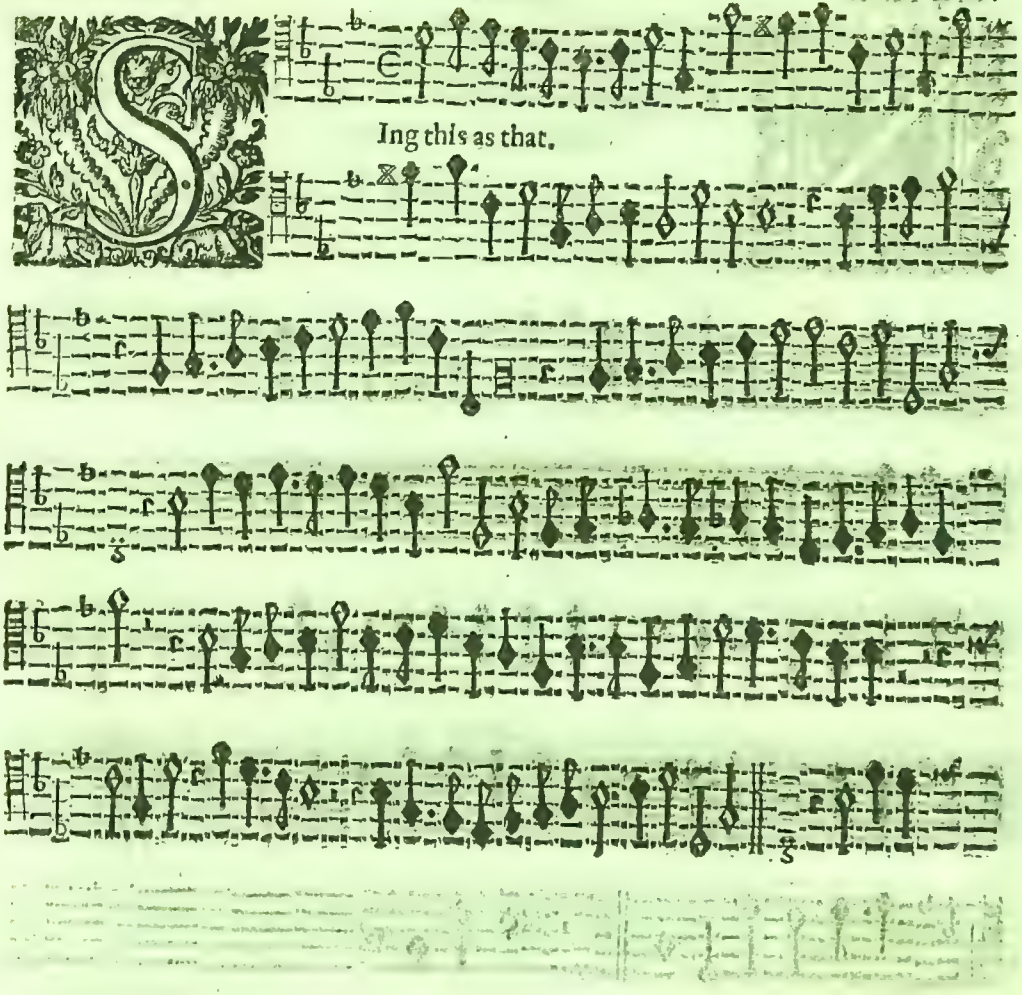
Olyhymnia.



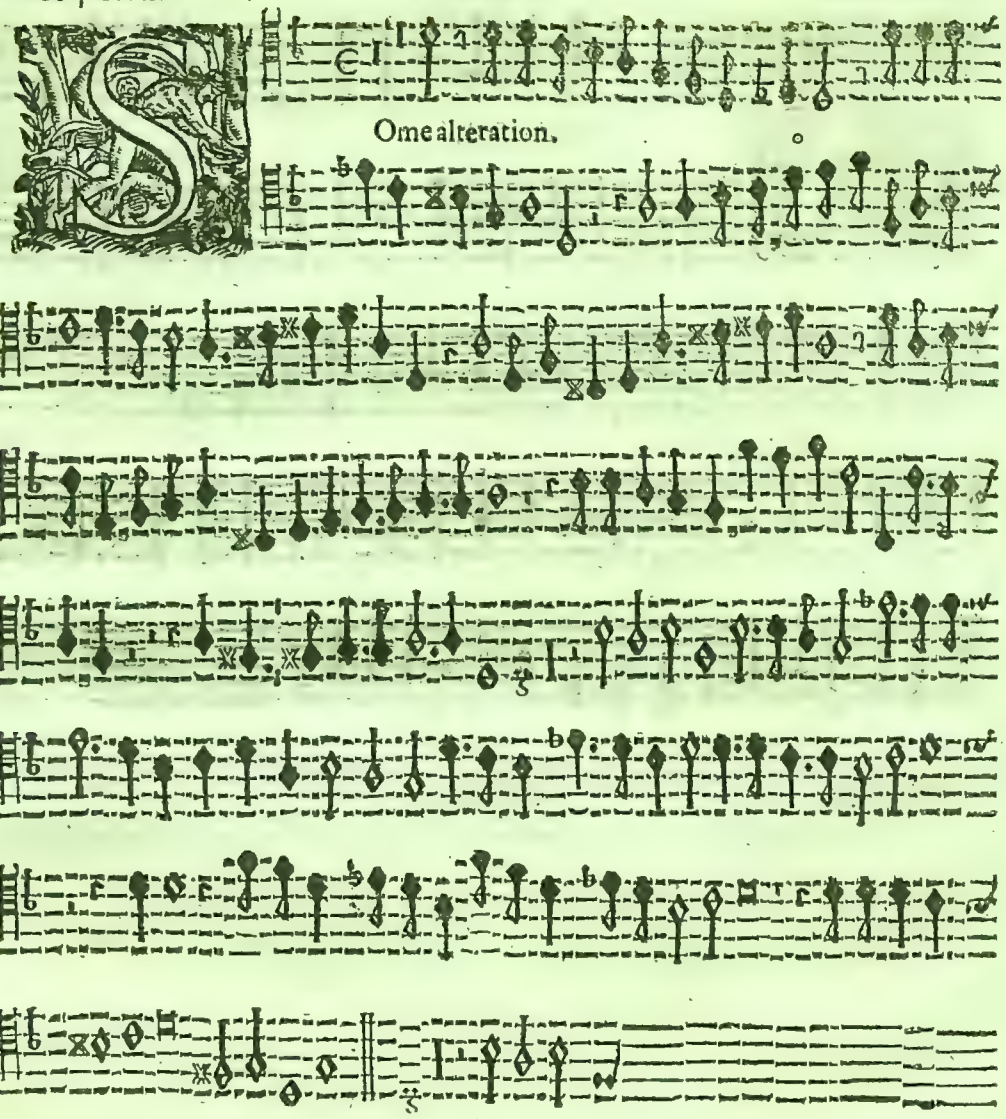
Here endeth the Fancies of 3. Parts.



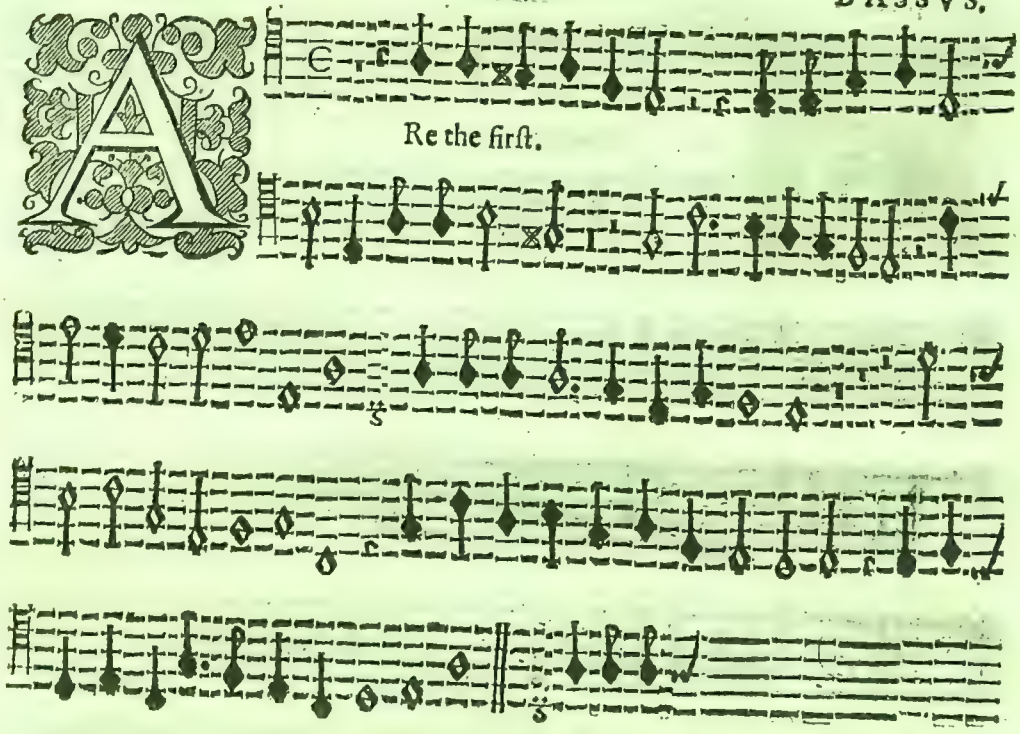
Ame right your Notes,



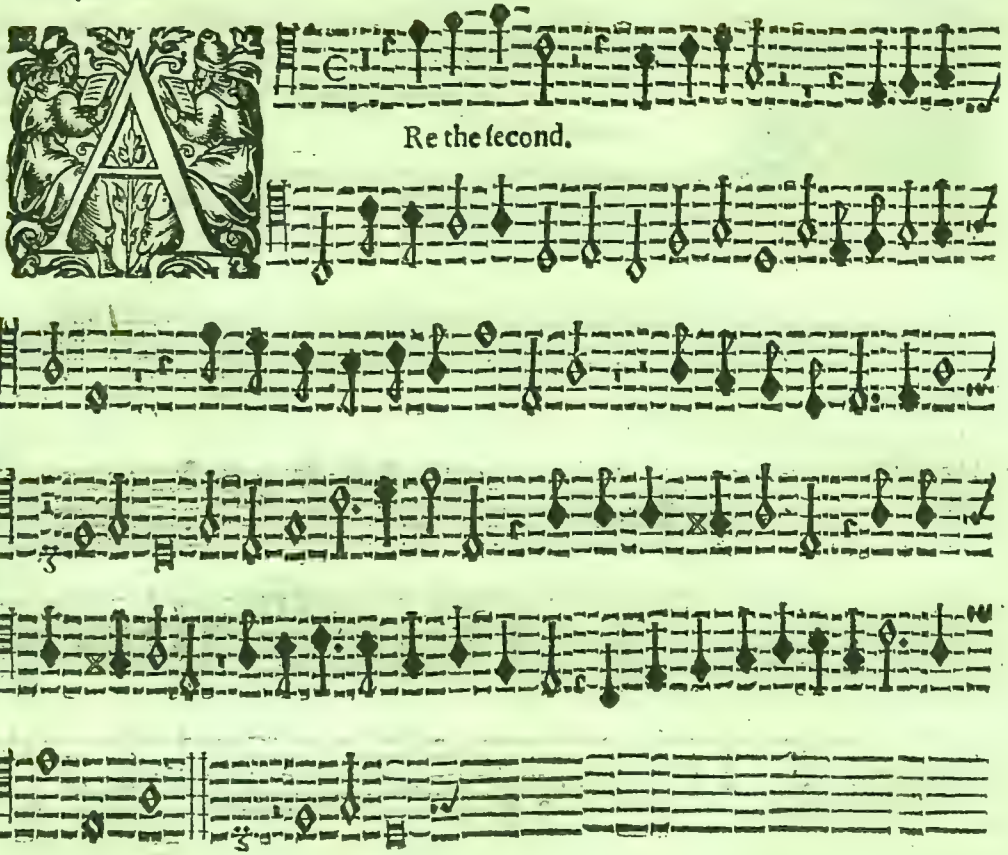
Ing this as that.



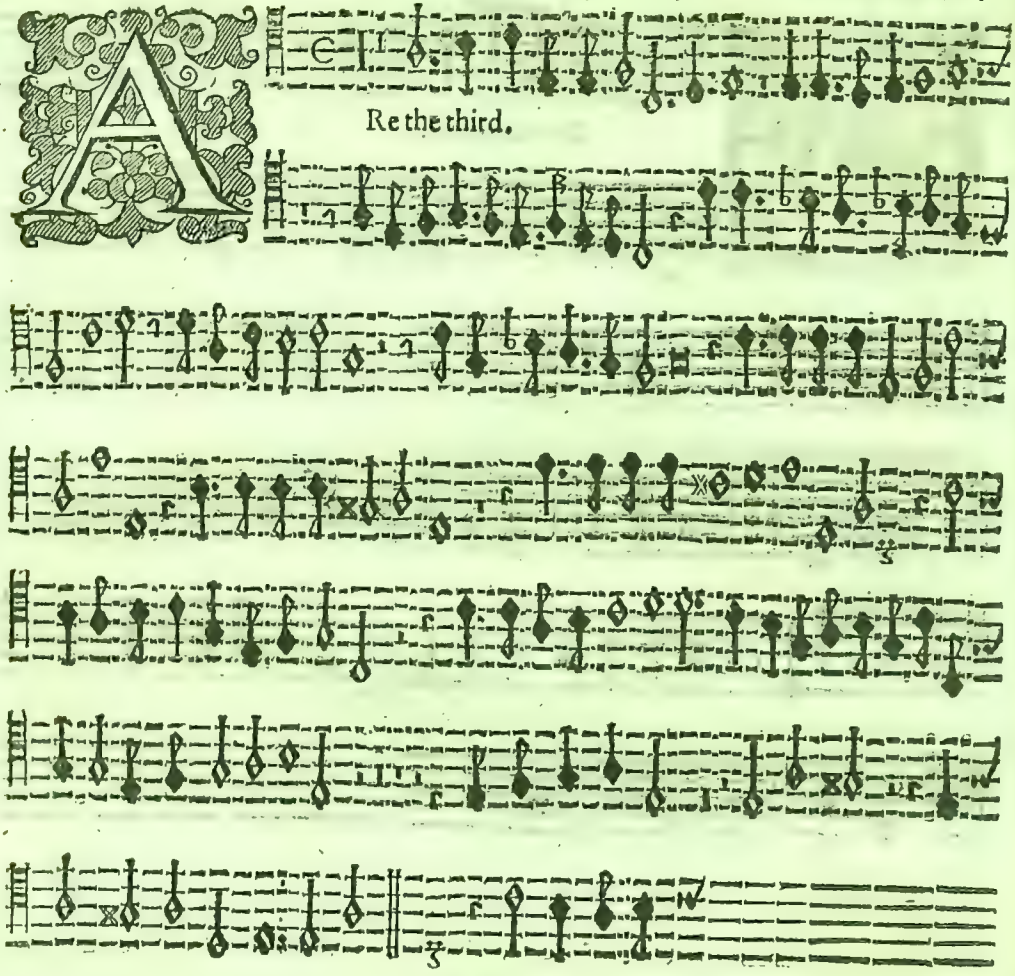
Ome alteration.



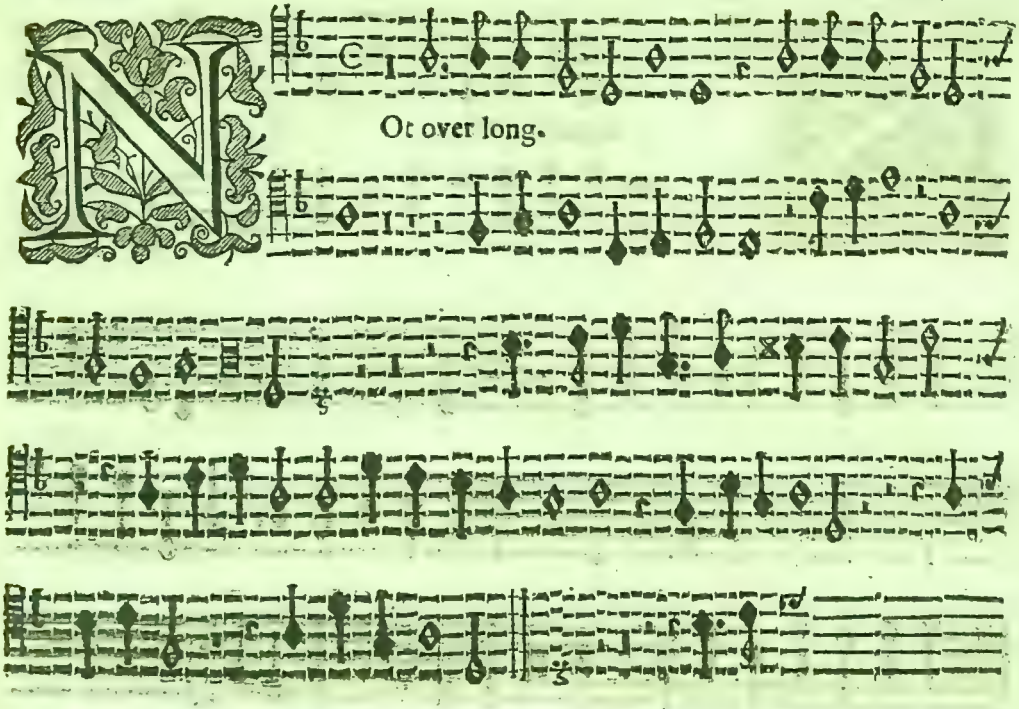
Re the first.



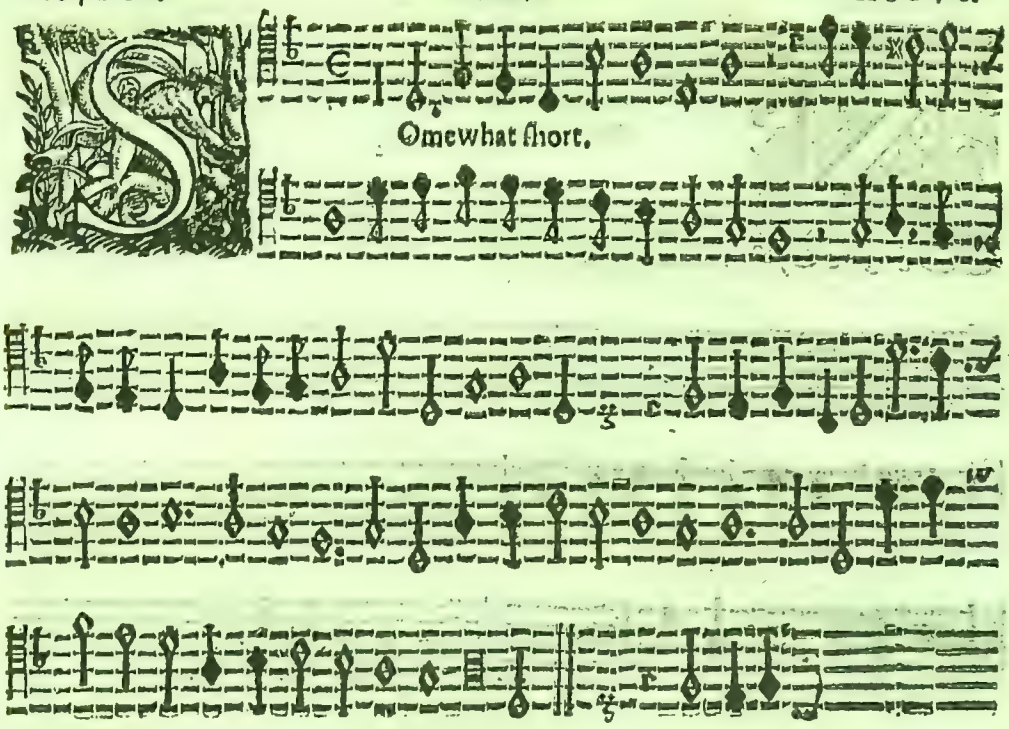
Re the second.



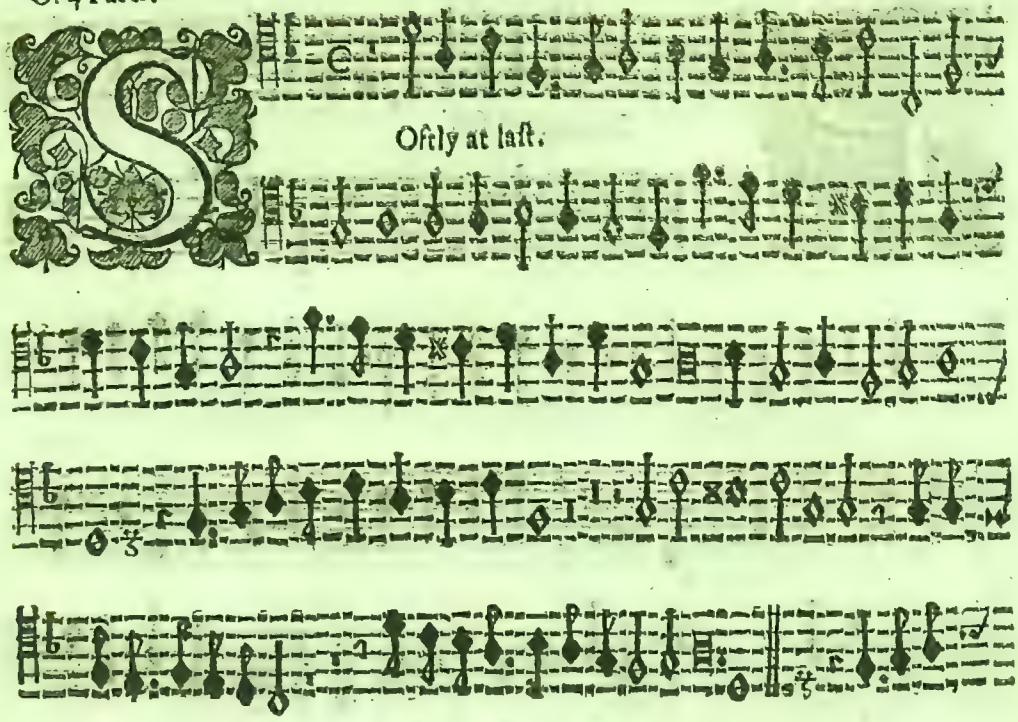
A
Re the third.



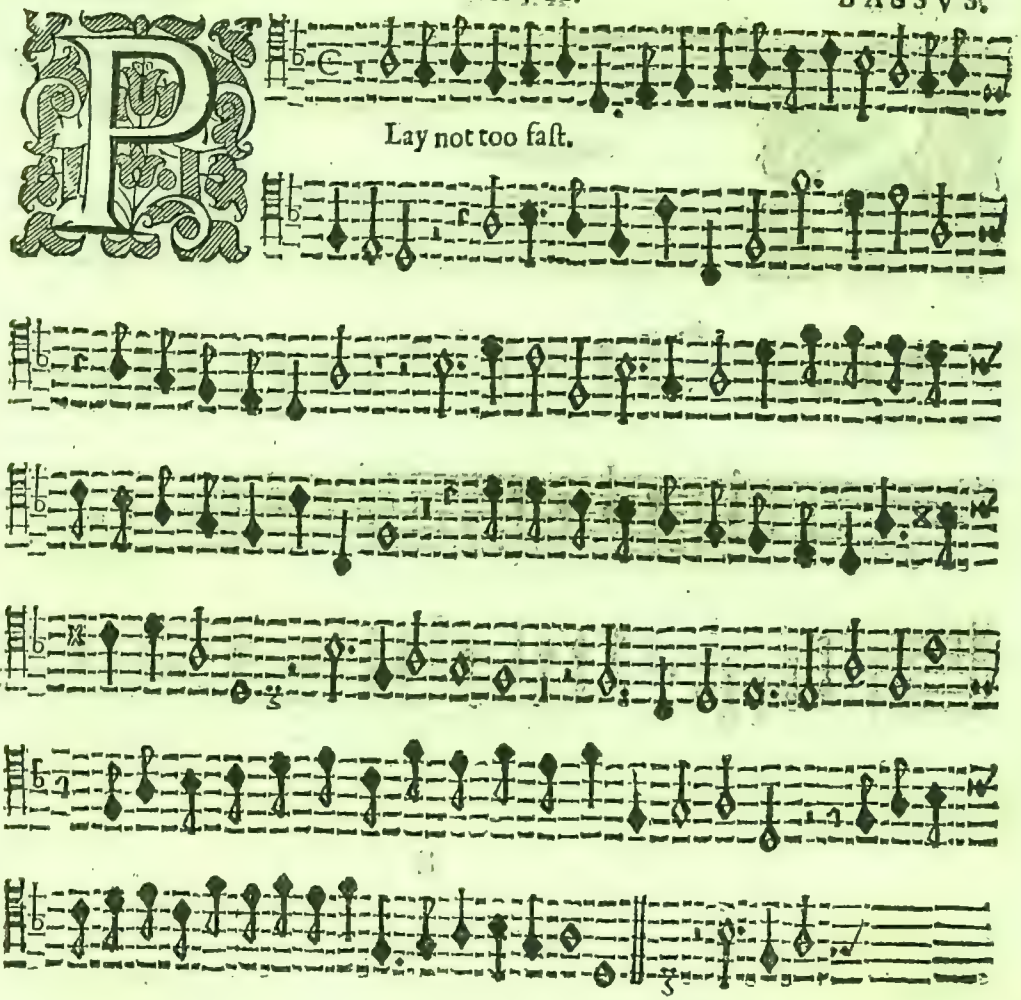
Ot over long.



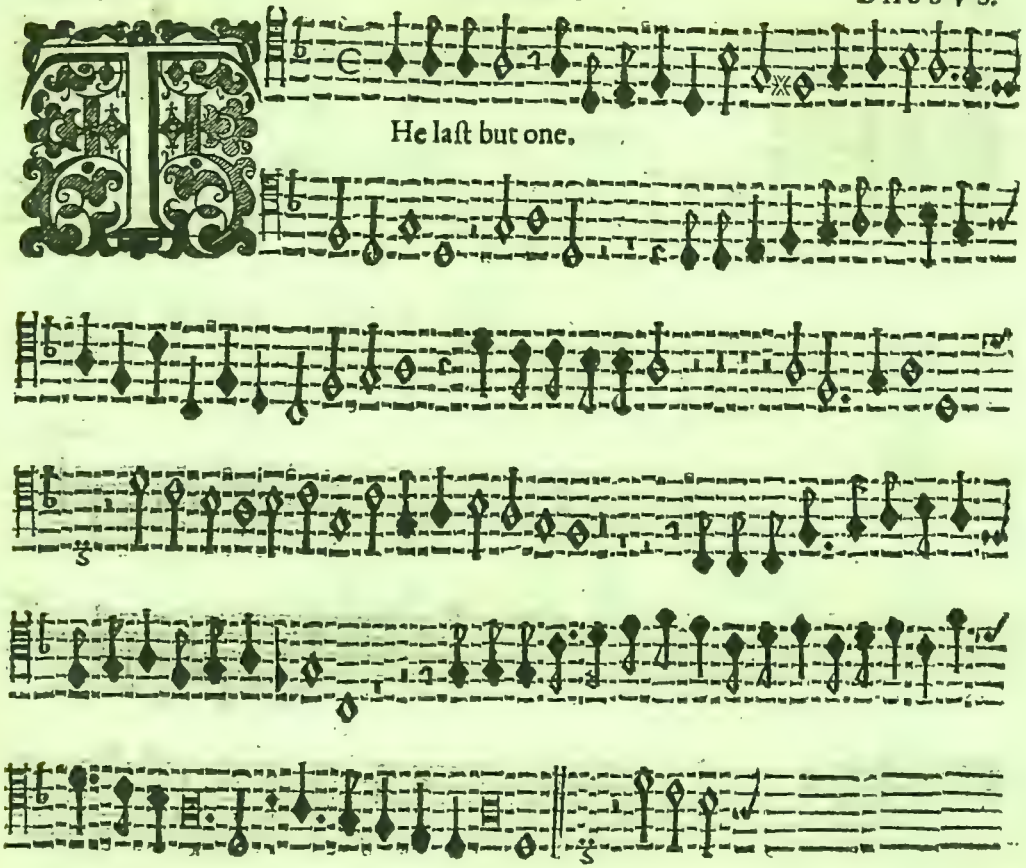
Omewhat short.



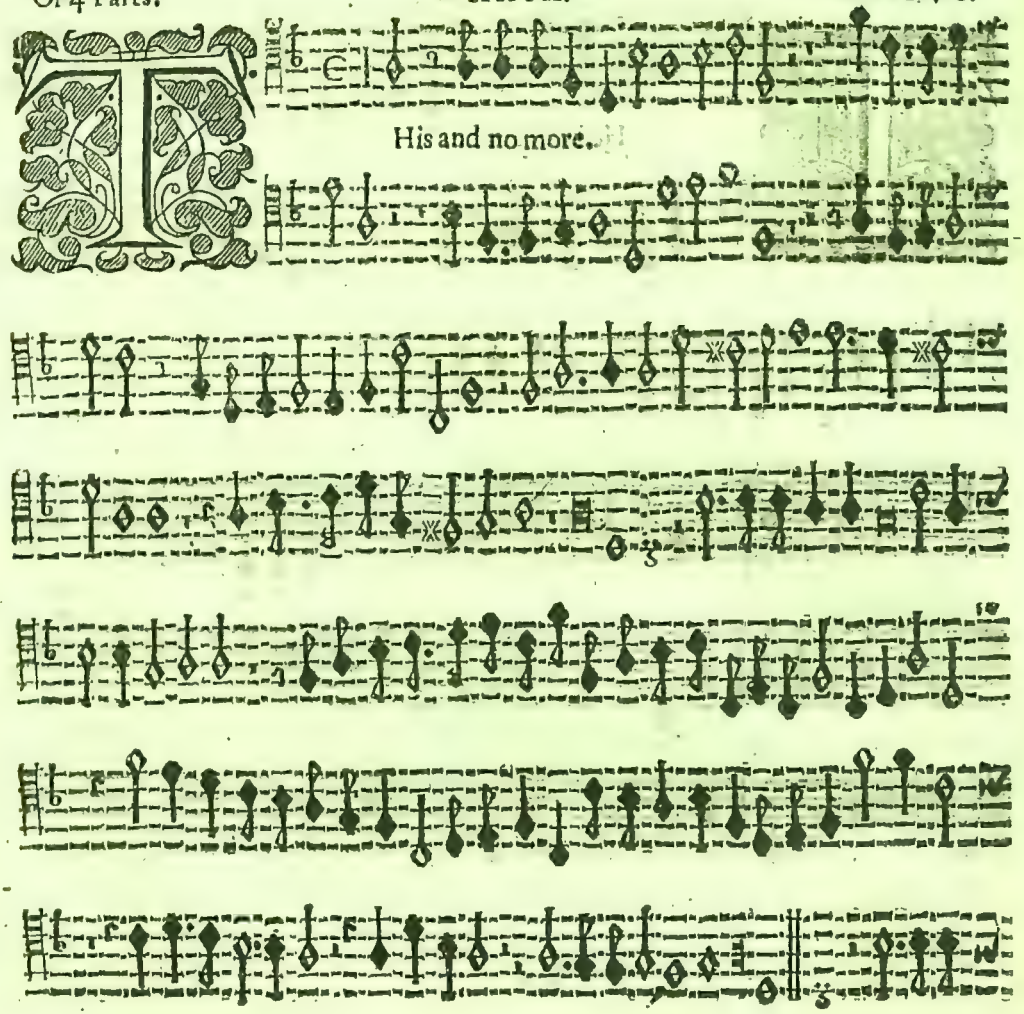
Oftly at laſt.



Lay not too fast.



The laſt but one.



FINIS.

FANTAZIES

OF

Two, Three, and Four Parts,

FOR

VIOLS.

Composed by Michael East, Batchelor of Musick.

LONDON,
Printed, and are sold by John Playford, at his shop in the TEMPLE.

A950403505
room 904
B 3/2

FANTAZIES

FOR VIOLS.

TO THE TRVELY NOBLE LOVER OF LEARNING, AND PATRON OF ARTS, SIR CHRISTOPHER HATTON, Knight of the most Honourable Order of the BATH,

Michael East Batchellour of Musicke, wisheth all increase of Honour and Happinesse.

Honoured Sir:

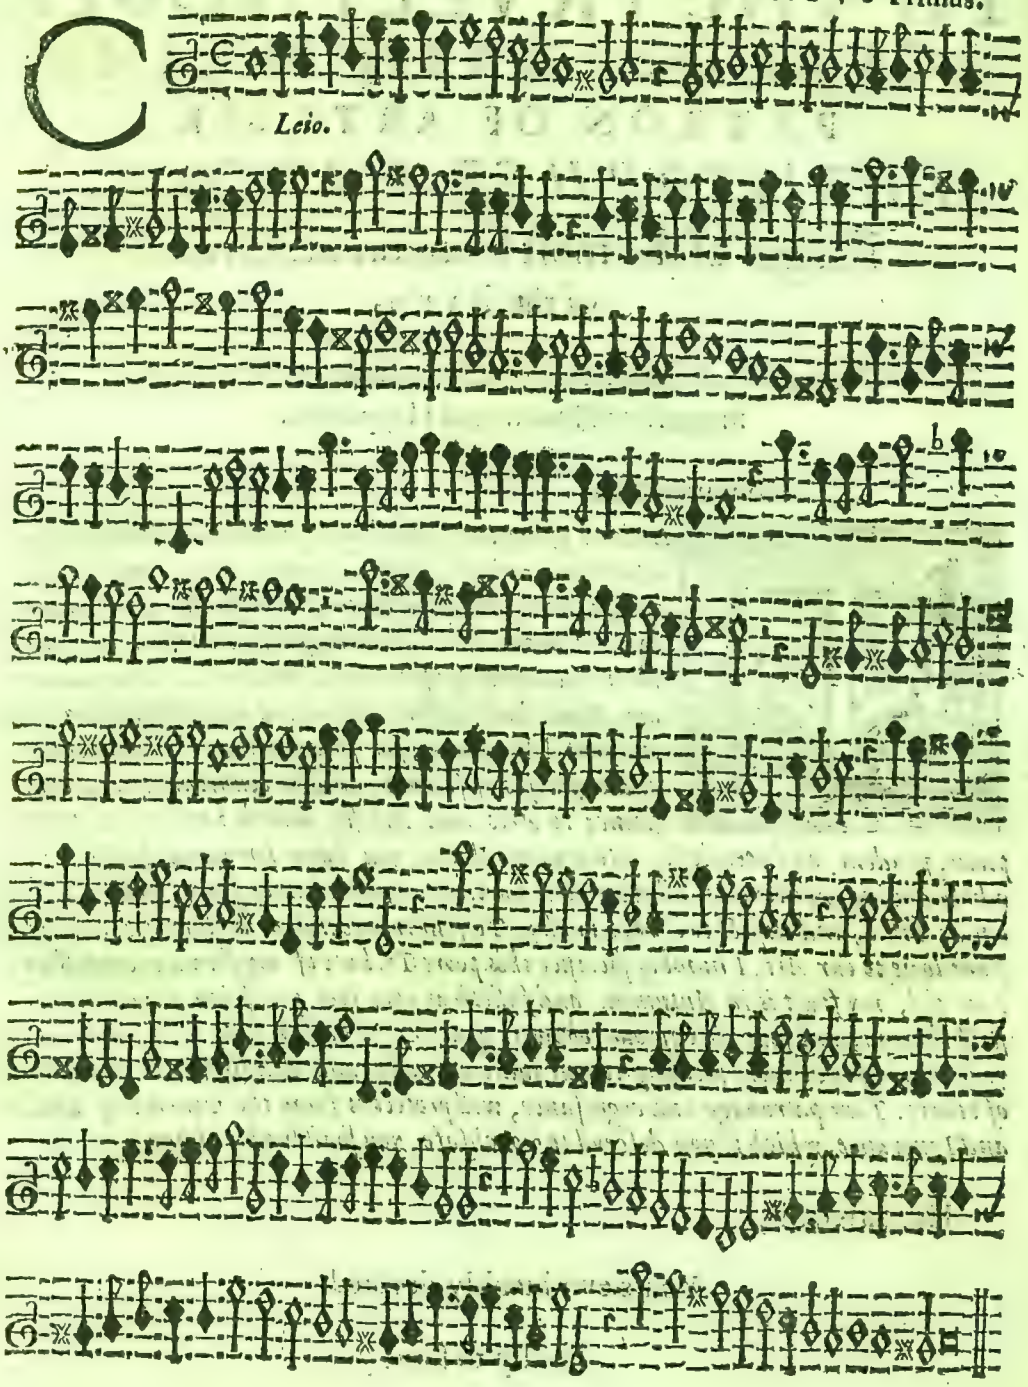
THe love of vertue, in all ages, hath made some persons illustrious, whose sublime spirits, and choyce judgements, have prompted them to cherish the Arts: whereby their names have beene magnified in their life, and their memories perpetuated after death. So in this our age, Fame hath deservedly voted and enstiled you, an eminent Mecænas, for frequenting the Academies, and exercises of science, and for countenance and benificence to Arts and Artists, which renders you truely pious, prudent, and peereless. More particularly, you have honoured Musicke: of whose divine excellencies, all other Arts participate, which may glory, to be as ancient as Time, and expect to live eternally. To your transcendent Nobleness, and constant love to our Art, I humbly sacrifice this poore Tribute of my service, confessing, I am old, my fruit is in Autumne, and falleth at your feet, yet if you favourably reflect thereon, and your obsequious followers grace me to gather it up, and present it to you, it may prove more pleasing to your judicious taste, and delightfull to the palate of others. Your patronage and cognisance, will protect it from the venome of Envie and Ignorance, which if you descend to vouchsafe, you shall highly oblige,

Honoured Sir,

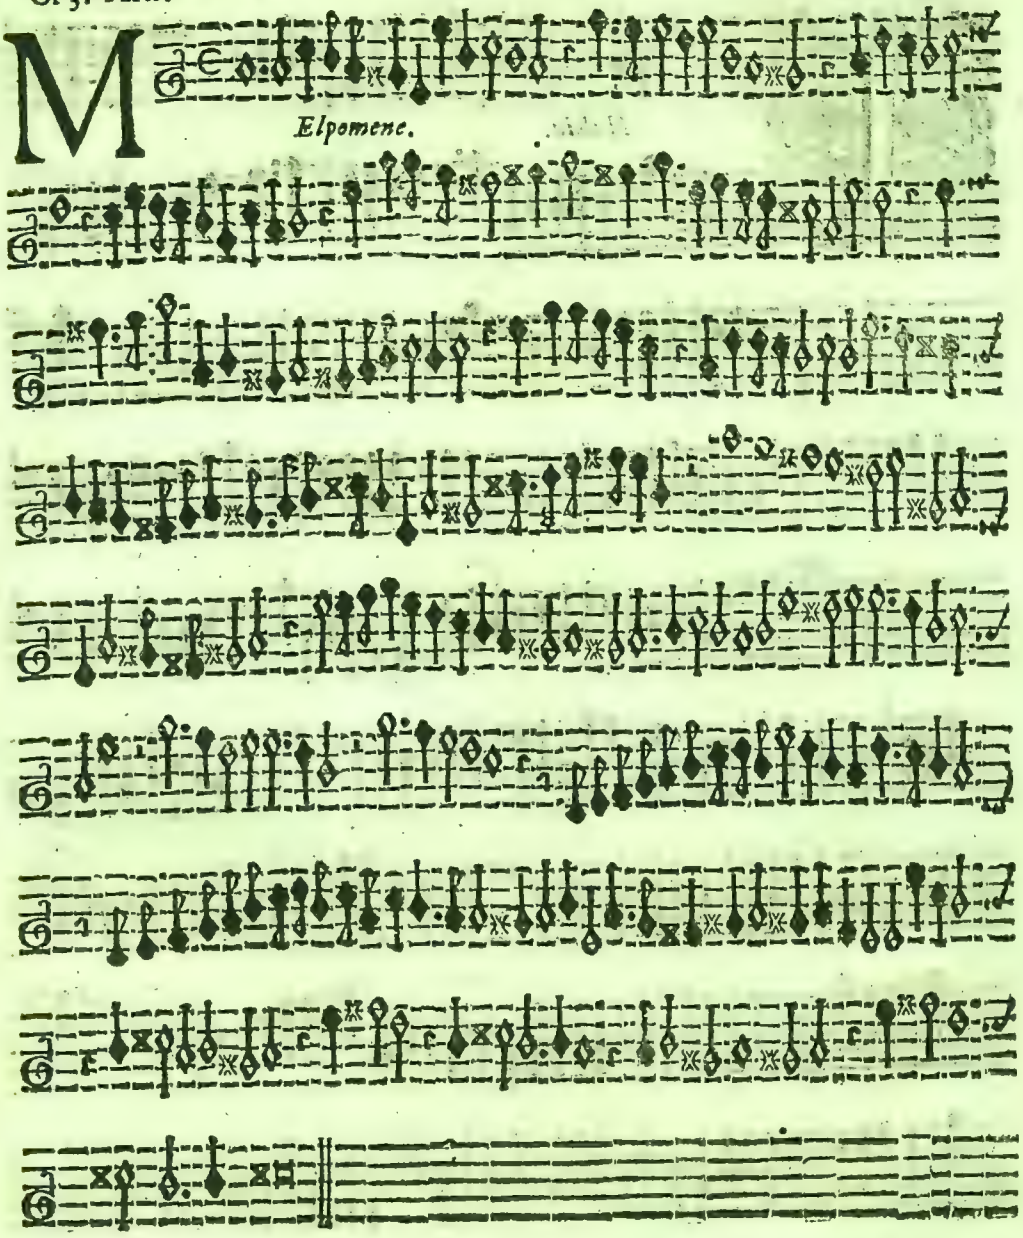
Yours ever humbly devoted

loyally to serve you,

MICHAEL EAST.

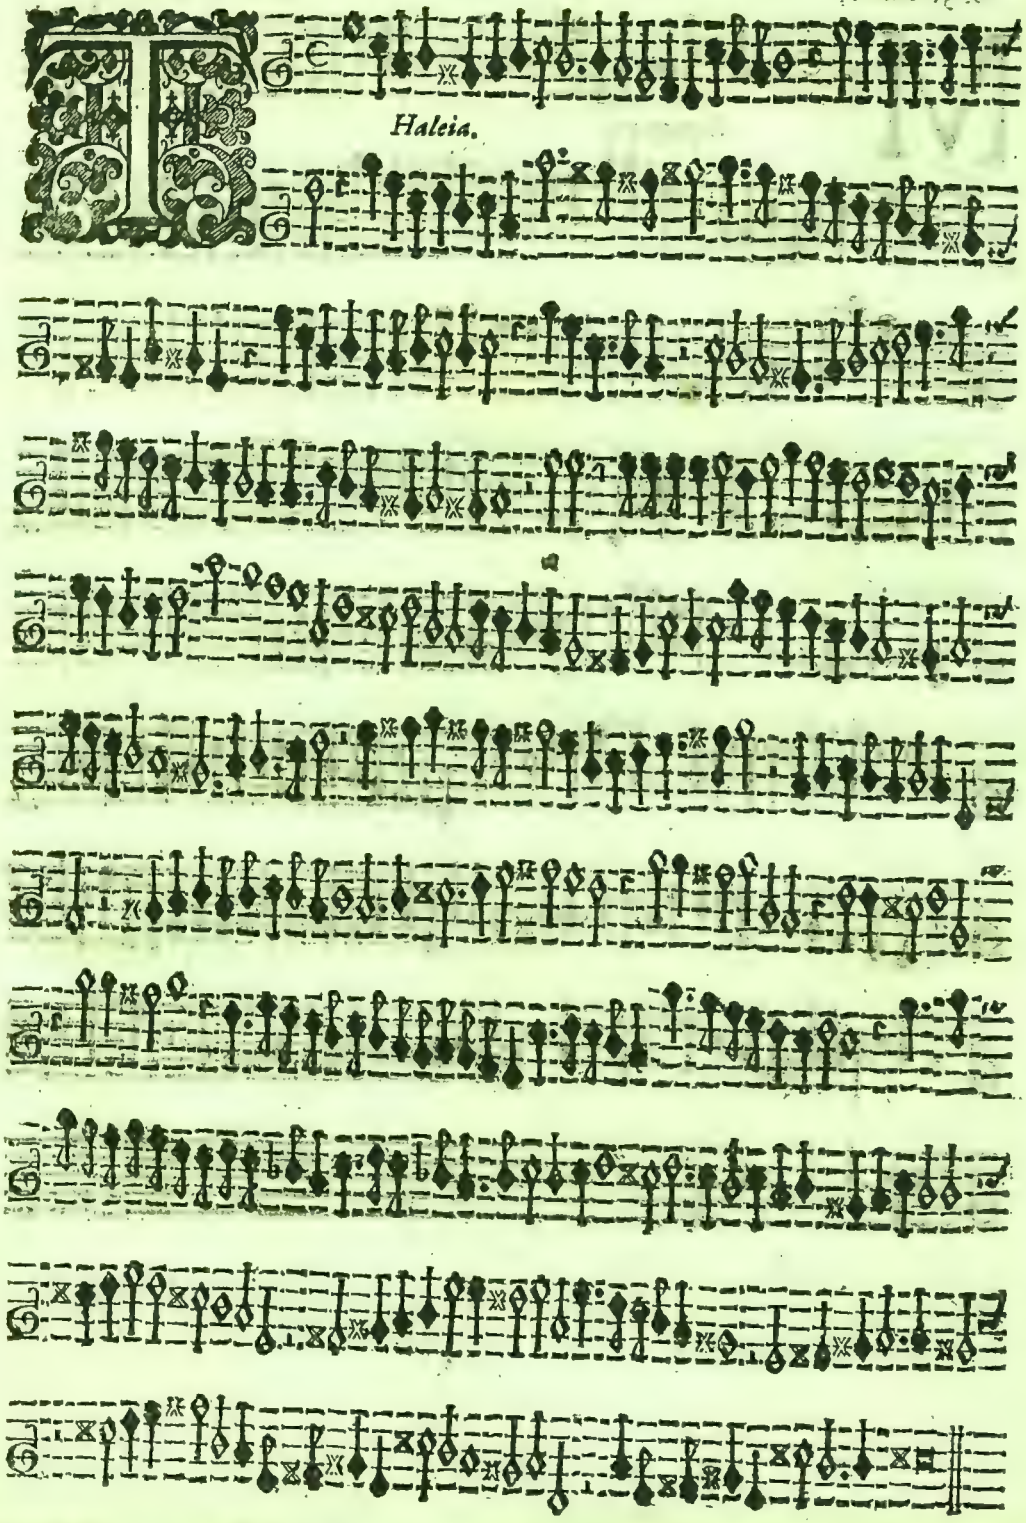


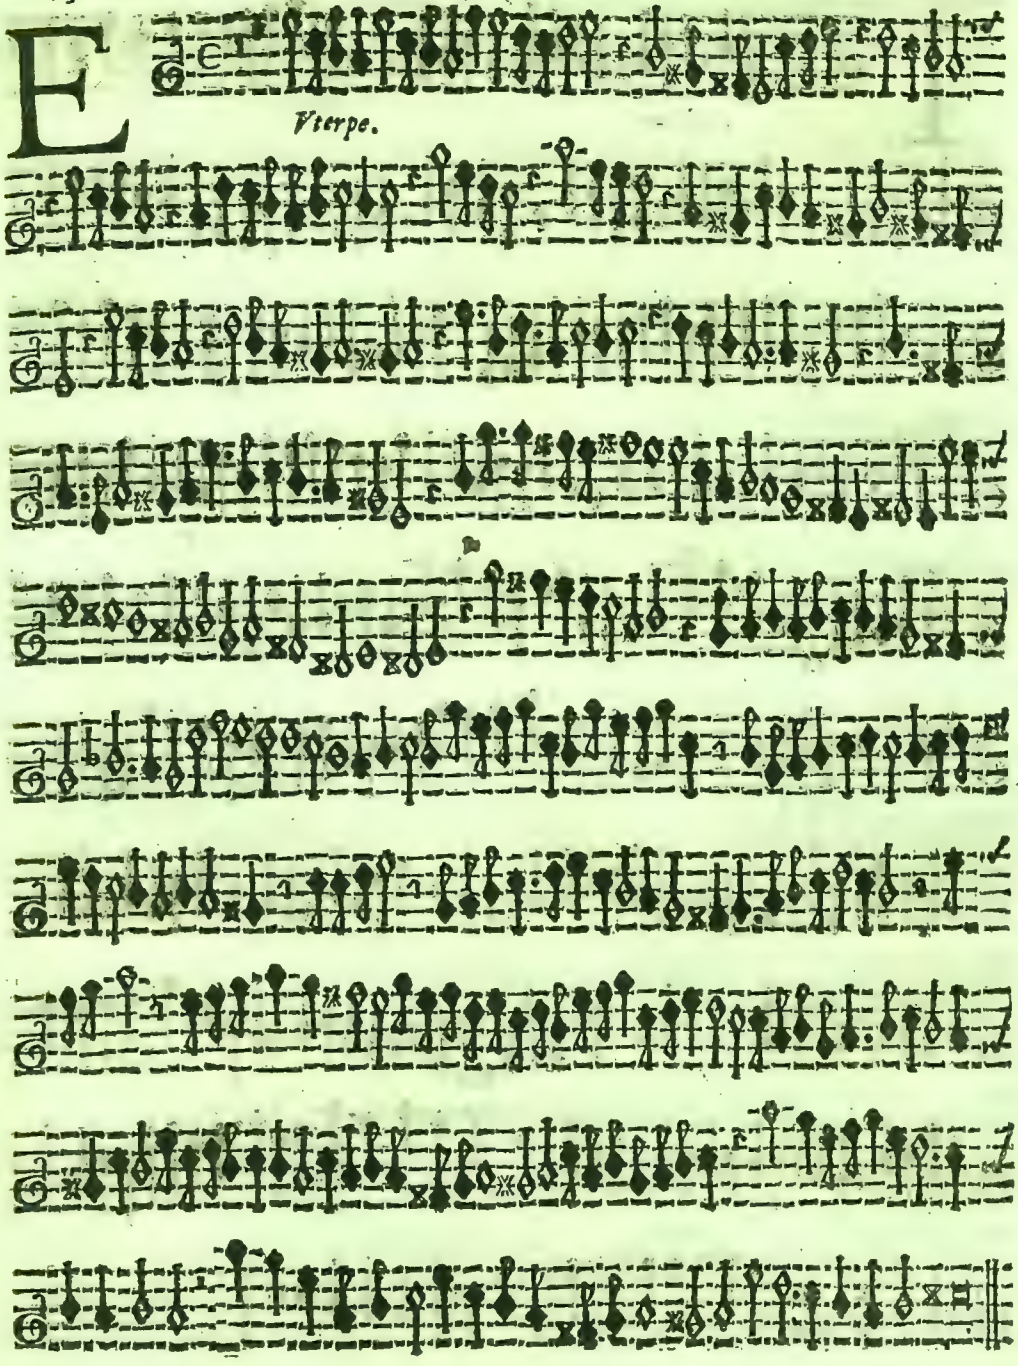
Leio.



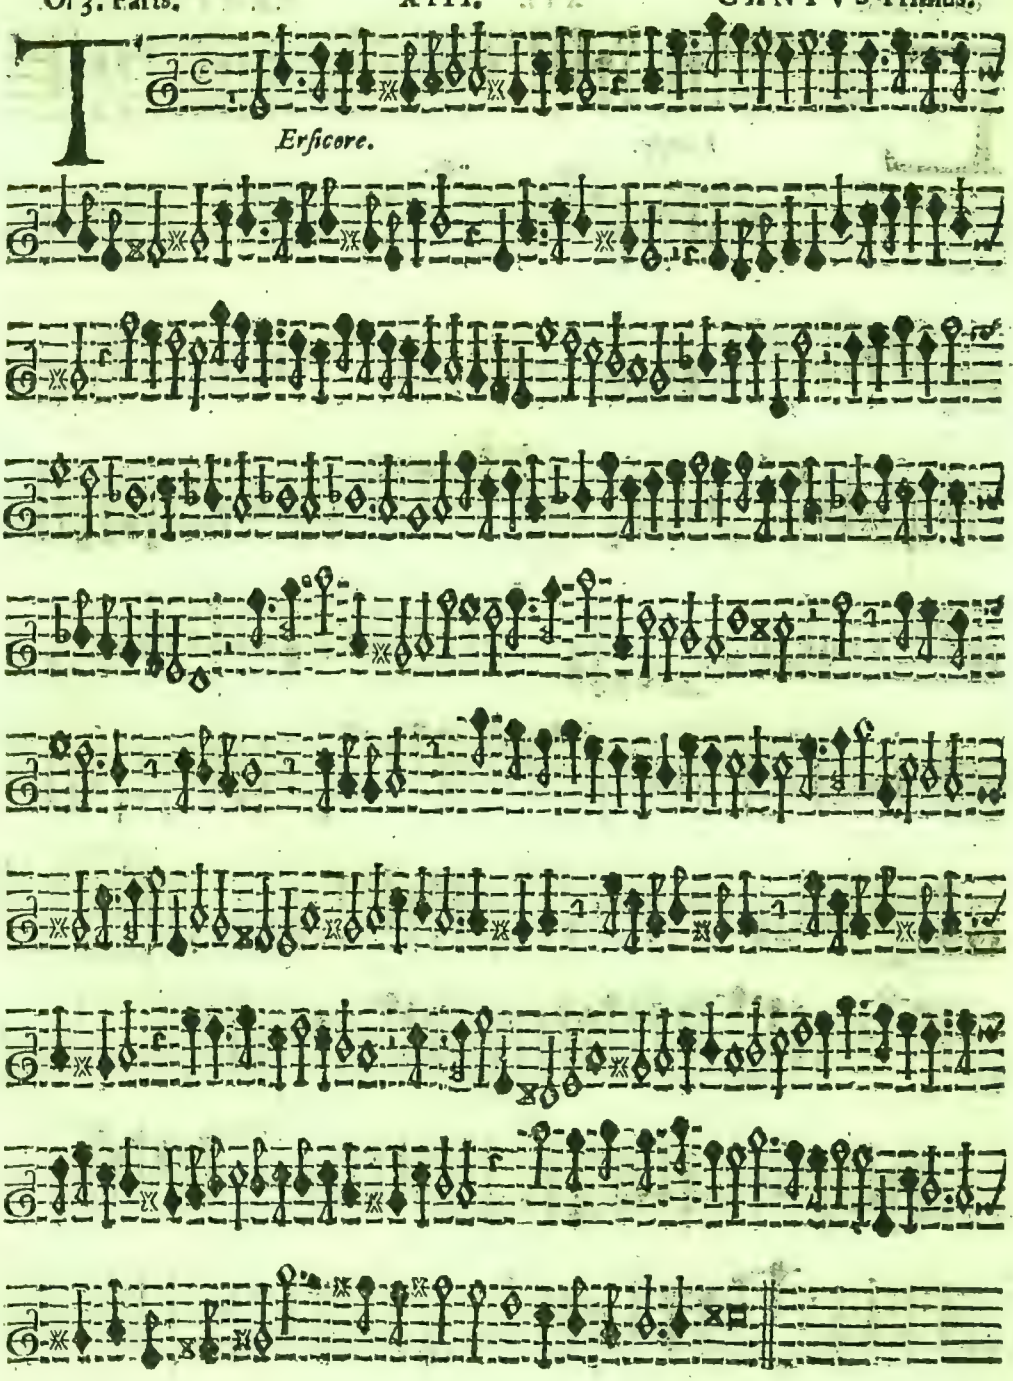
Elpomene.

Haleia.

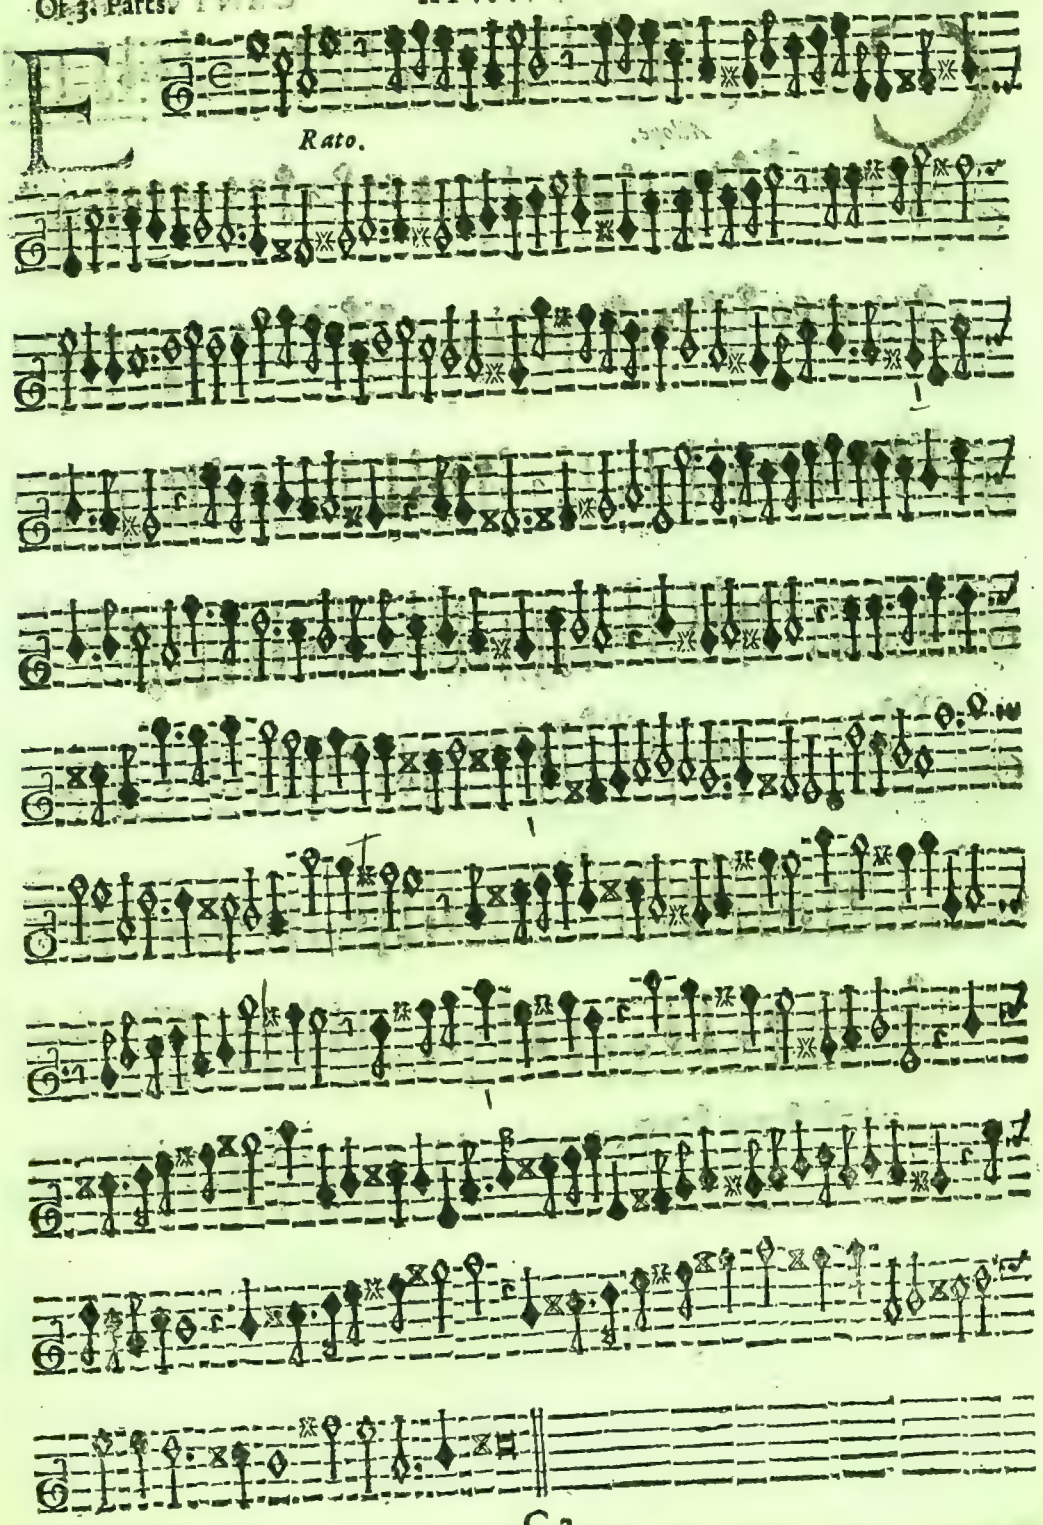




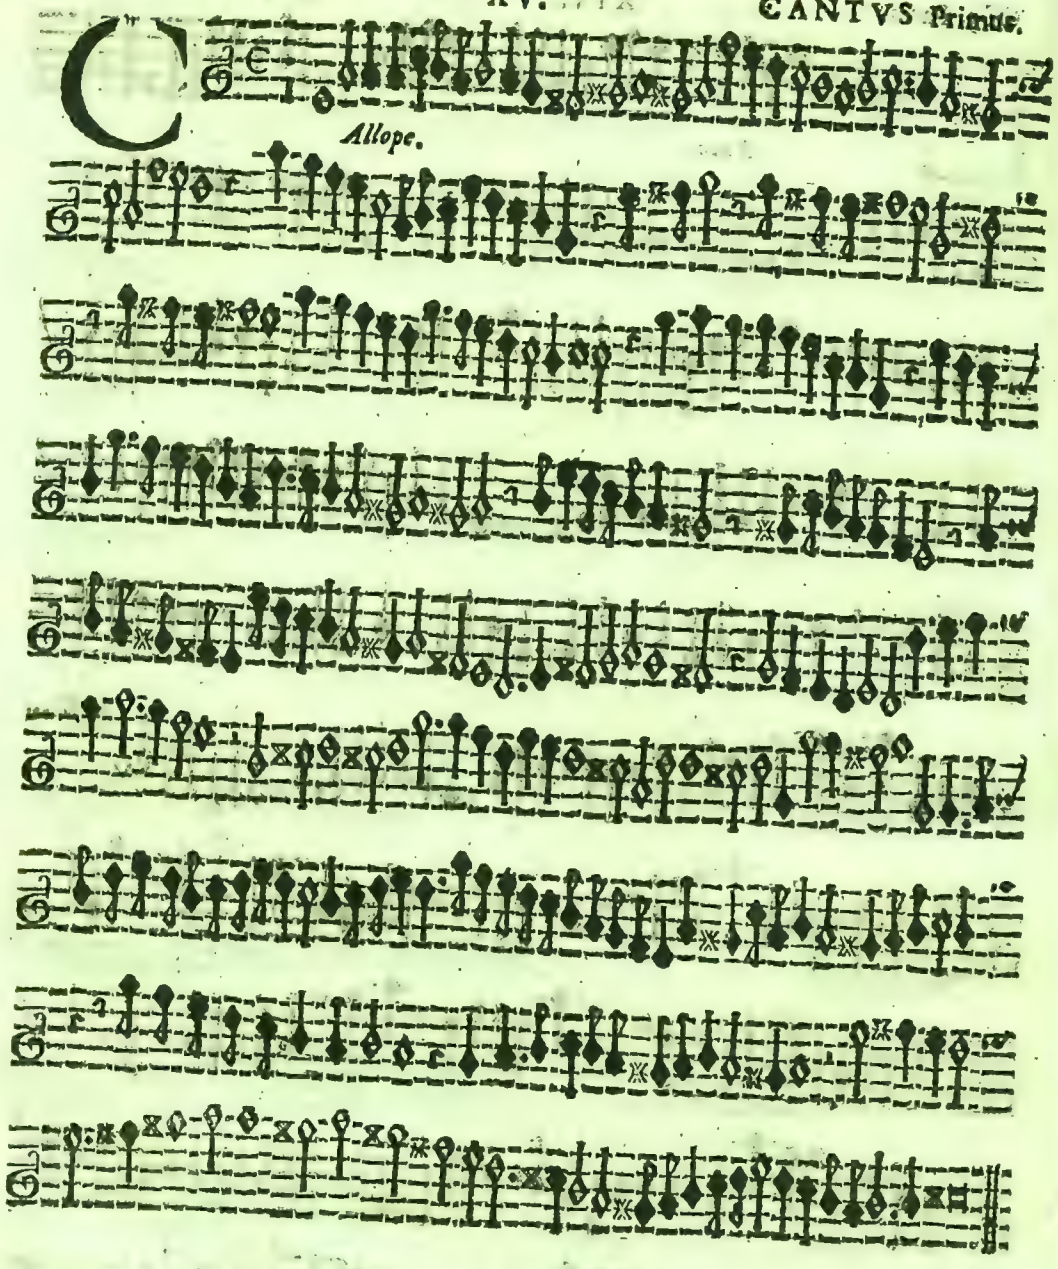
Vterpe.



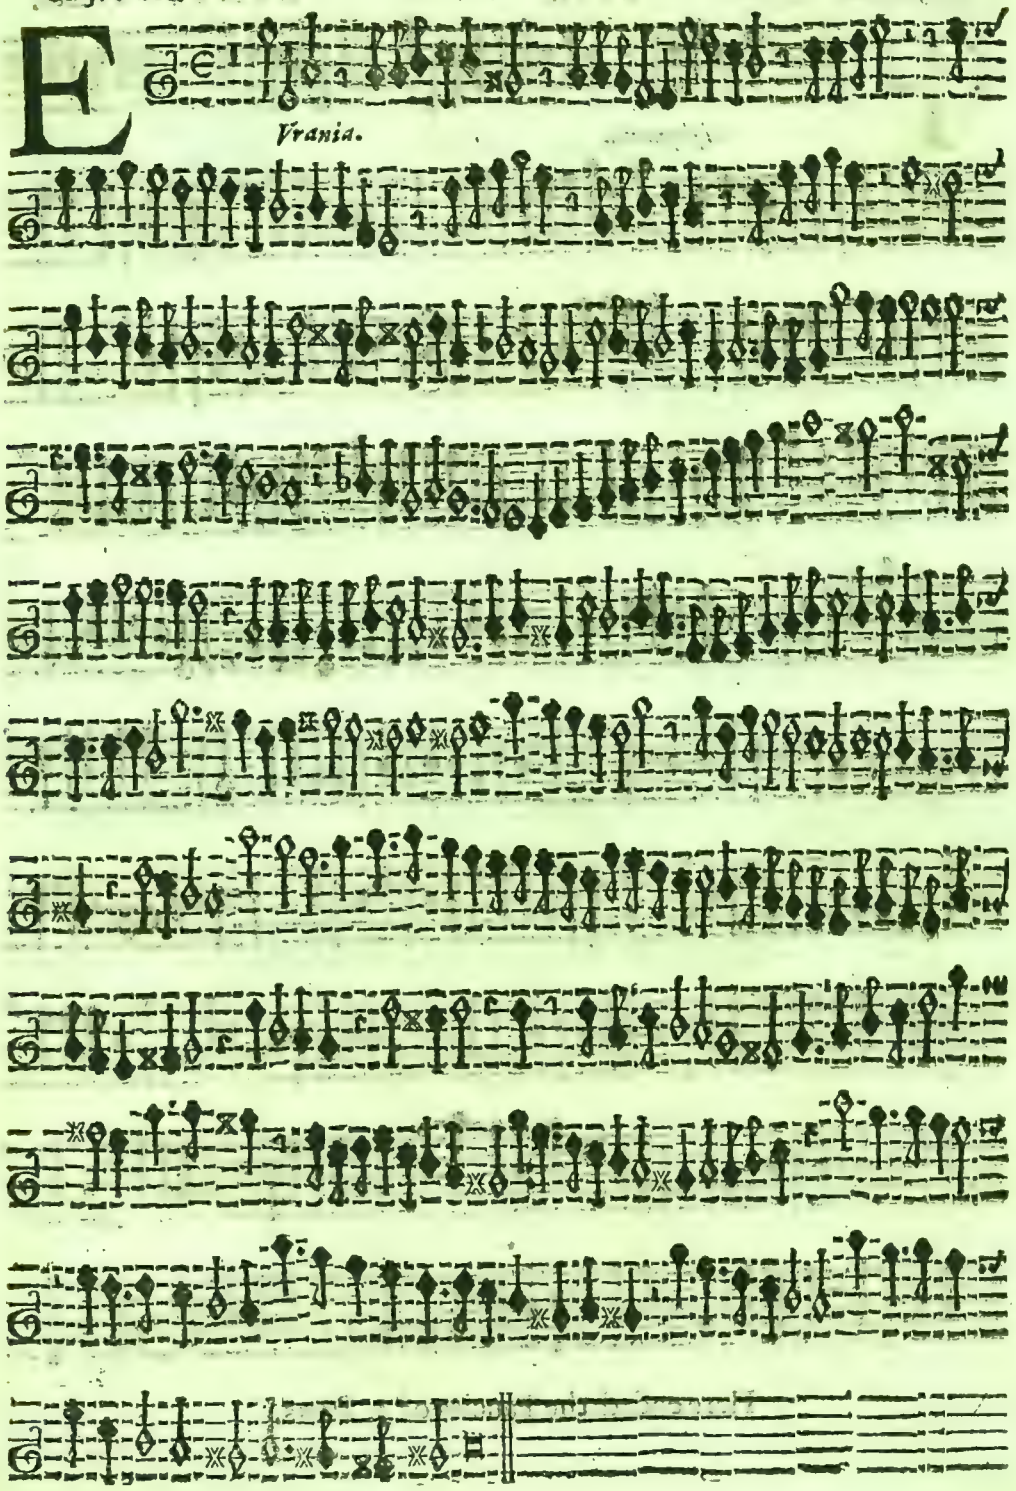
Erſicore.



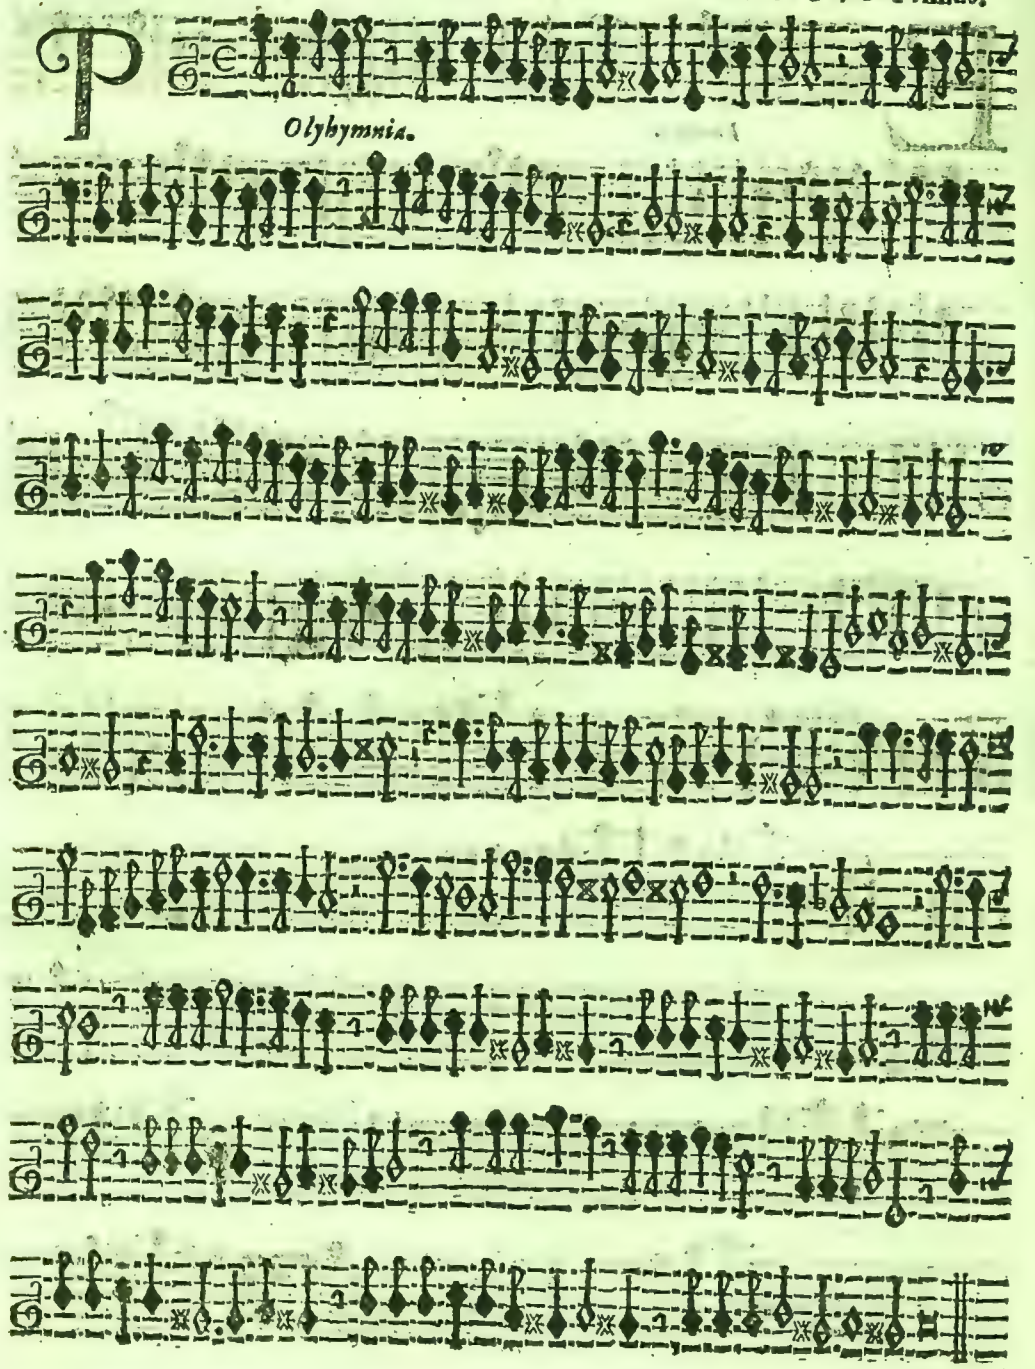
Rato.



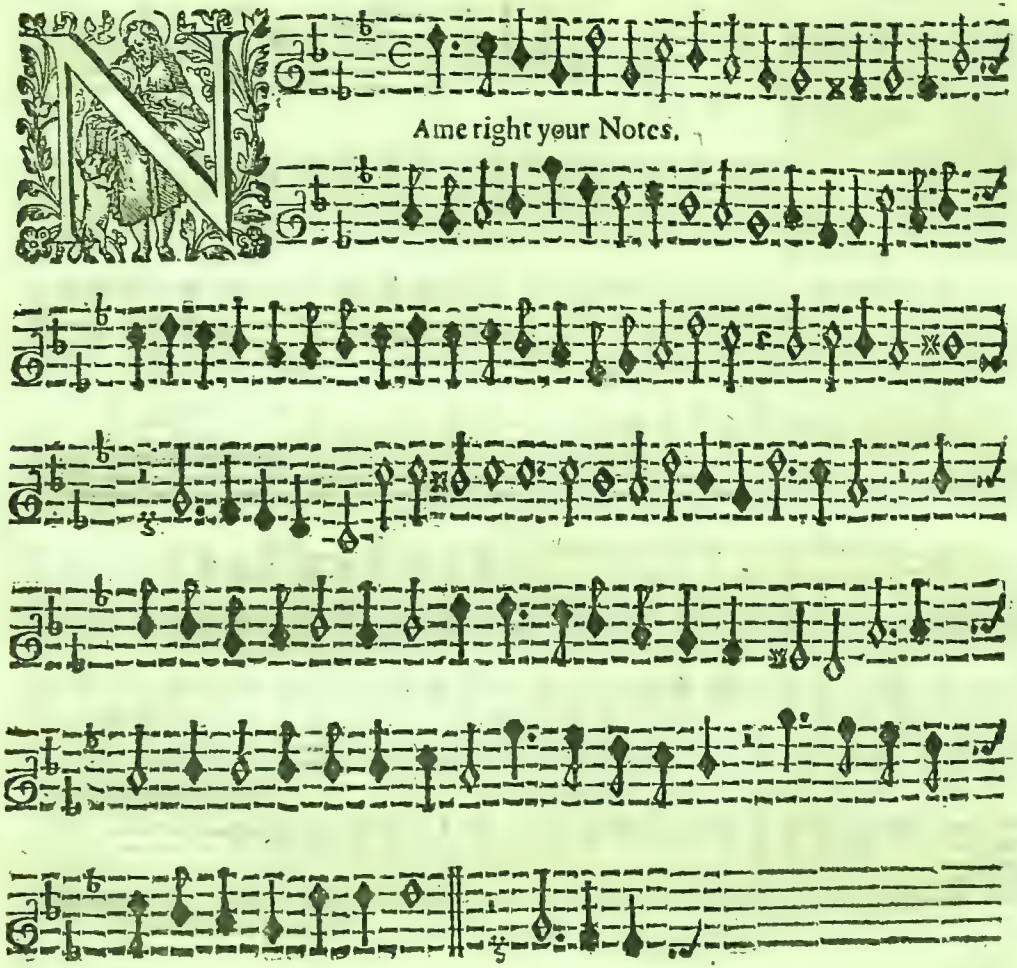
Allope.



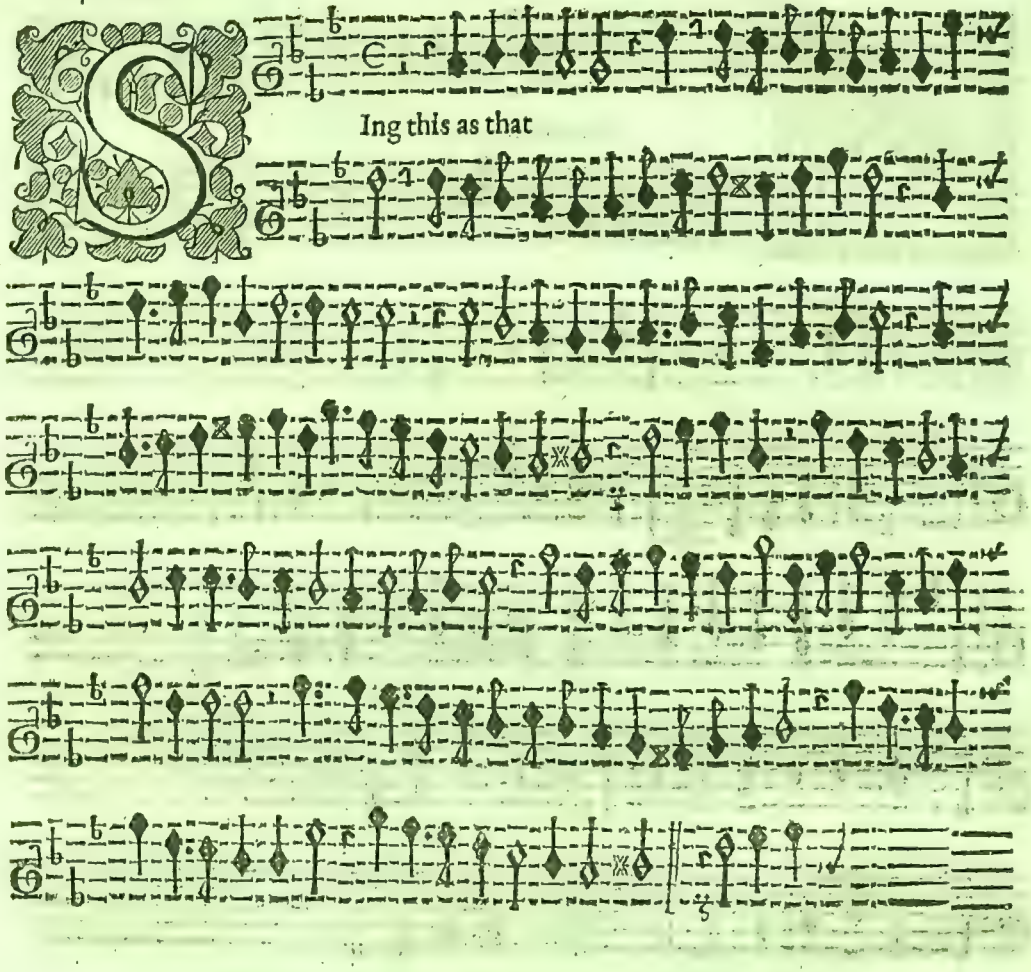
Vrania.



Here endeth the Fancies of 3. Parts.



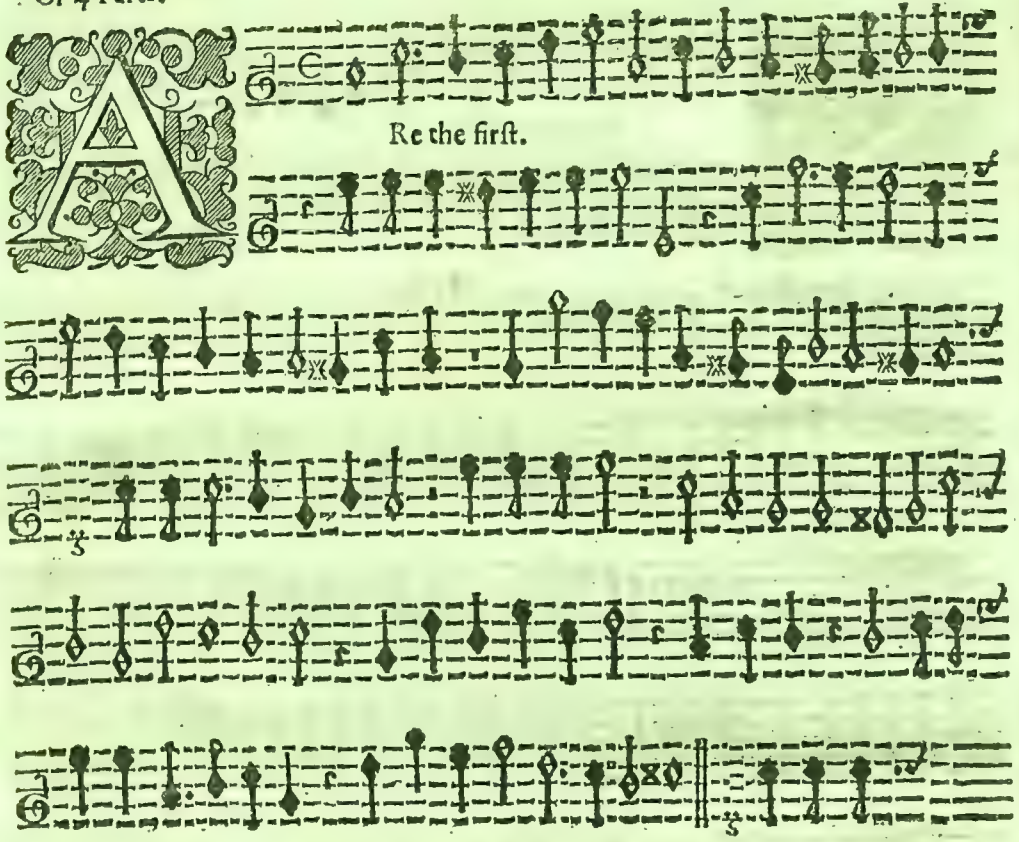
Ame right your Notes.



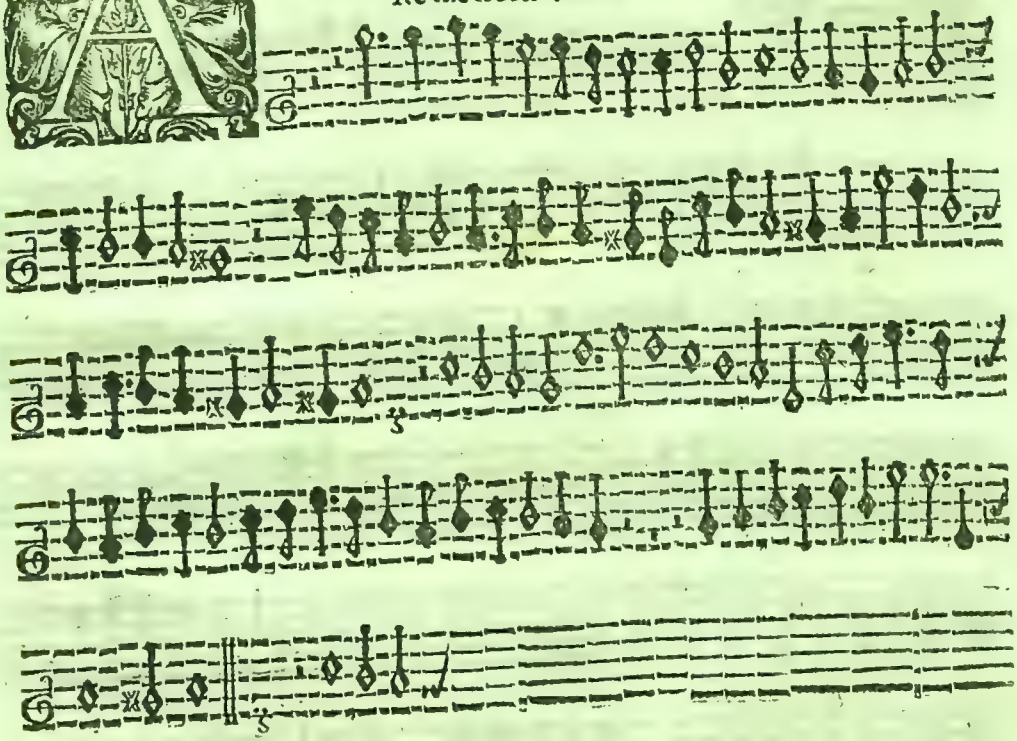
Ing this as that

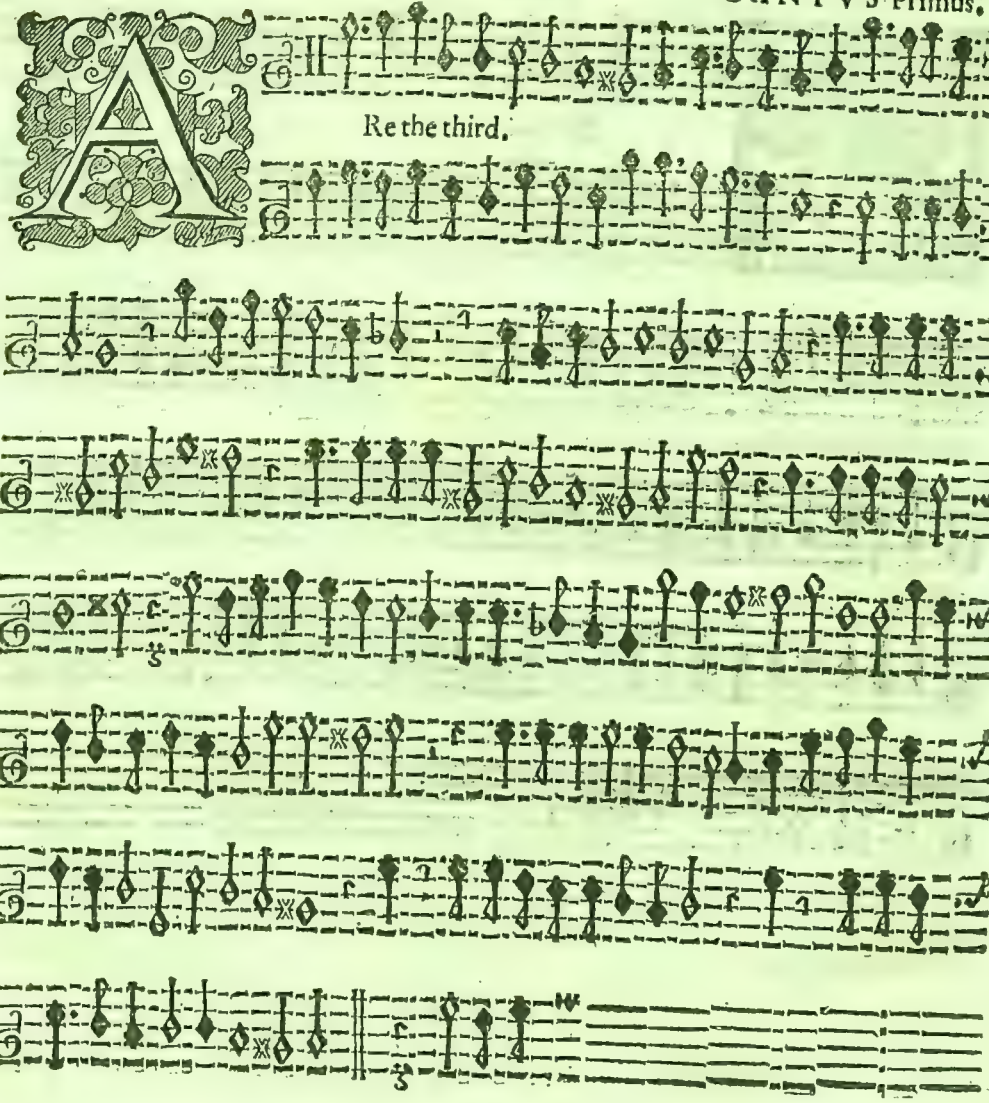
Ome alteration.

Re the first.

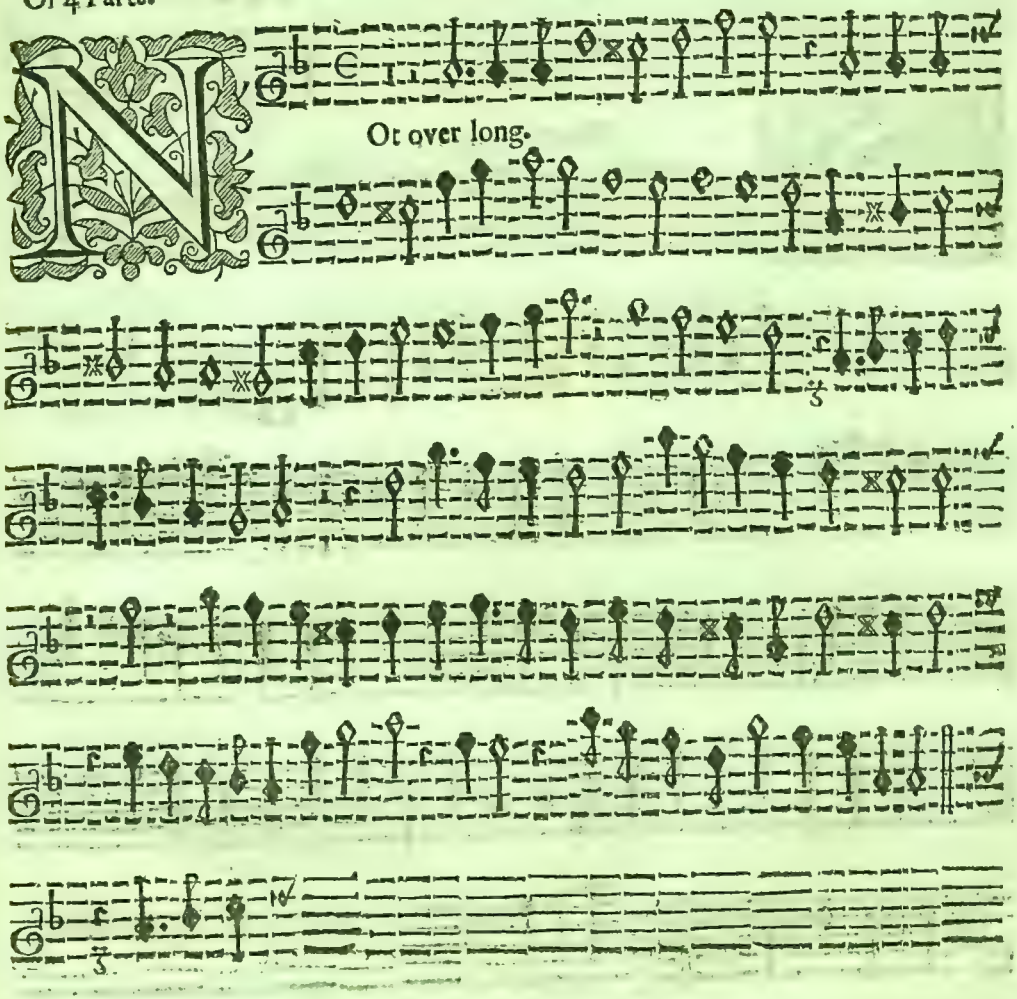


Re the second.



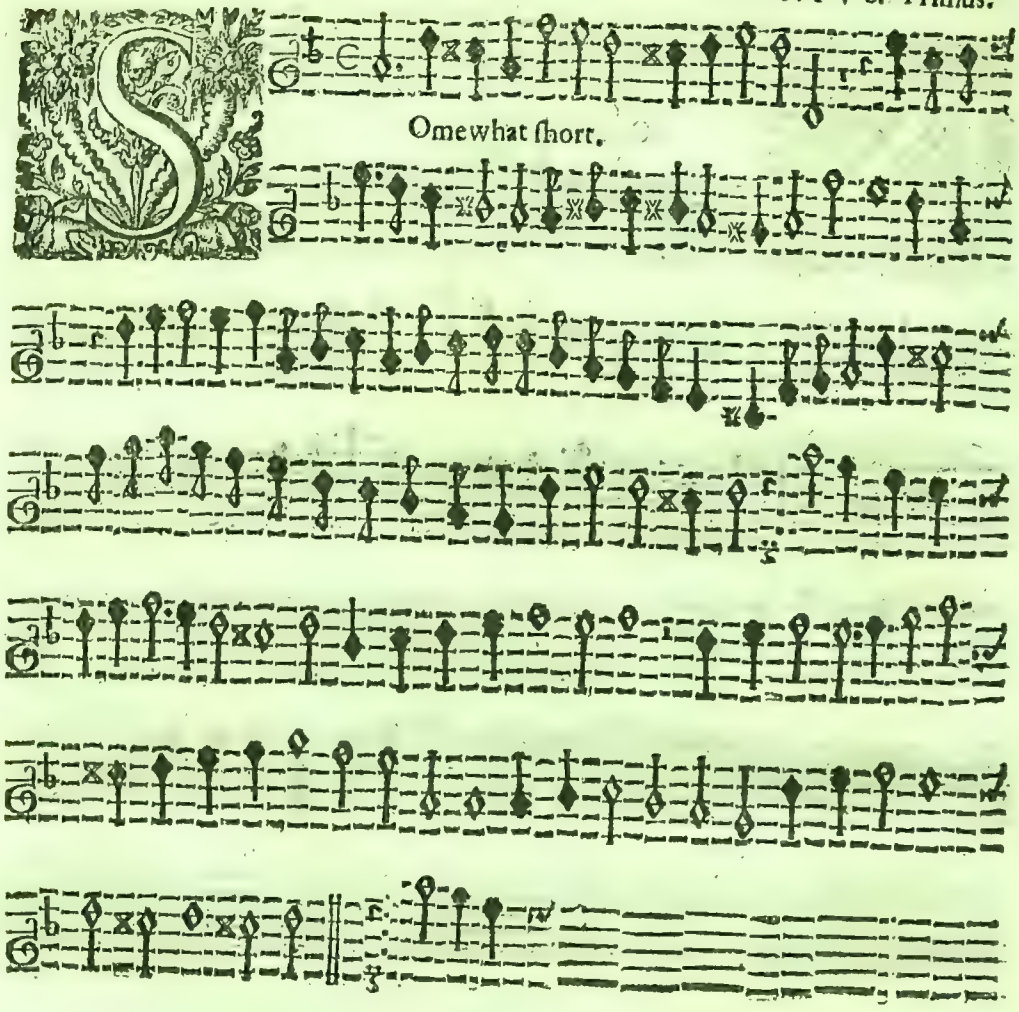


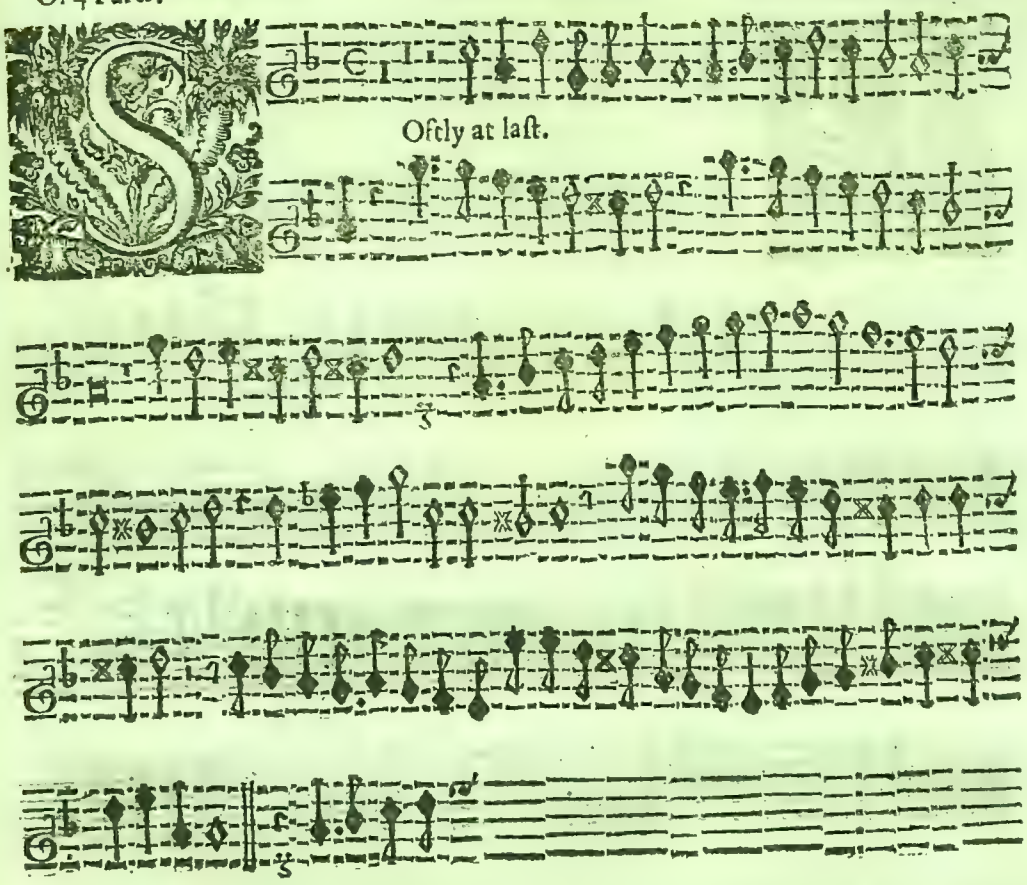
Are the third.



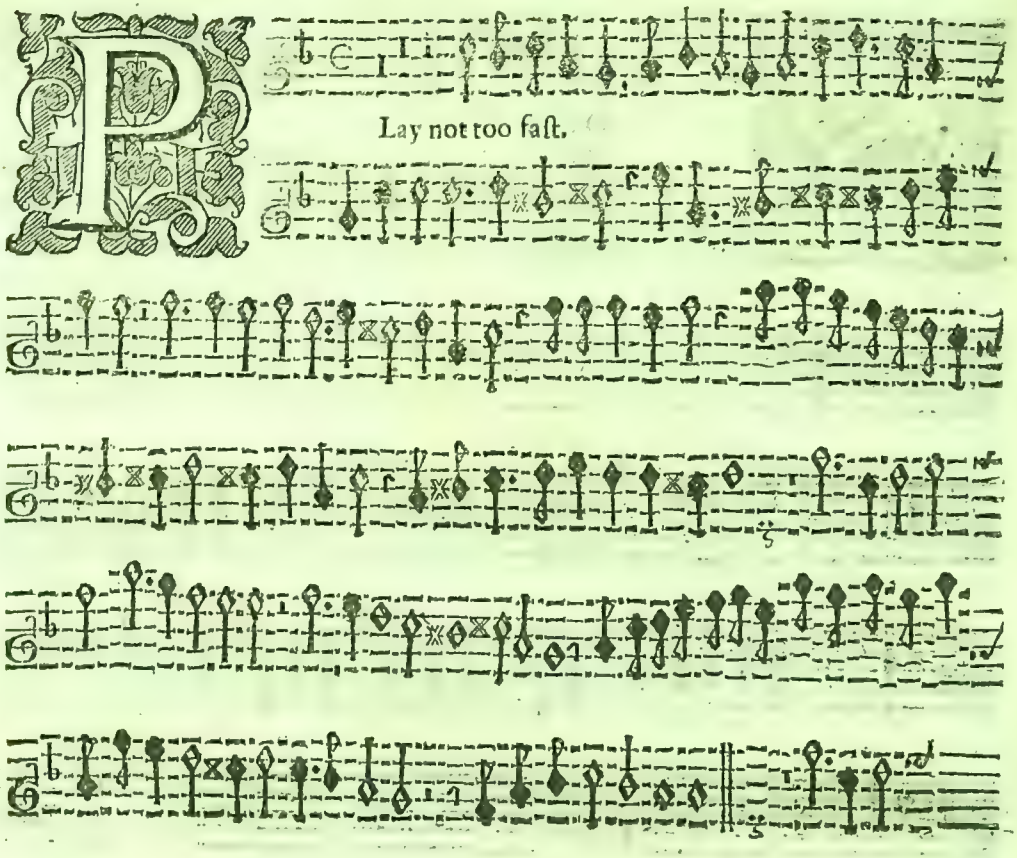
Ot over long.

Omewhat ſhort.

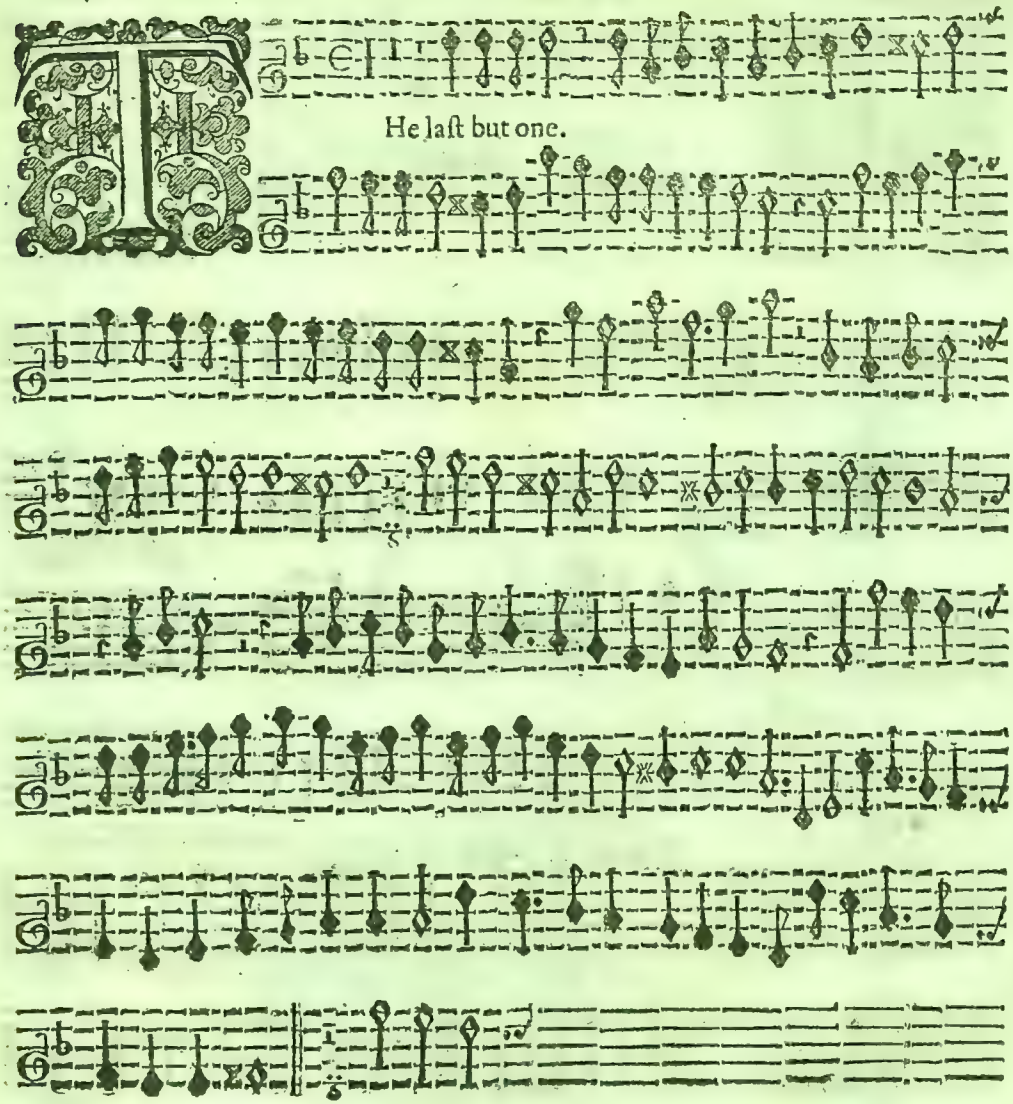




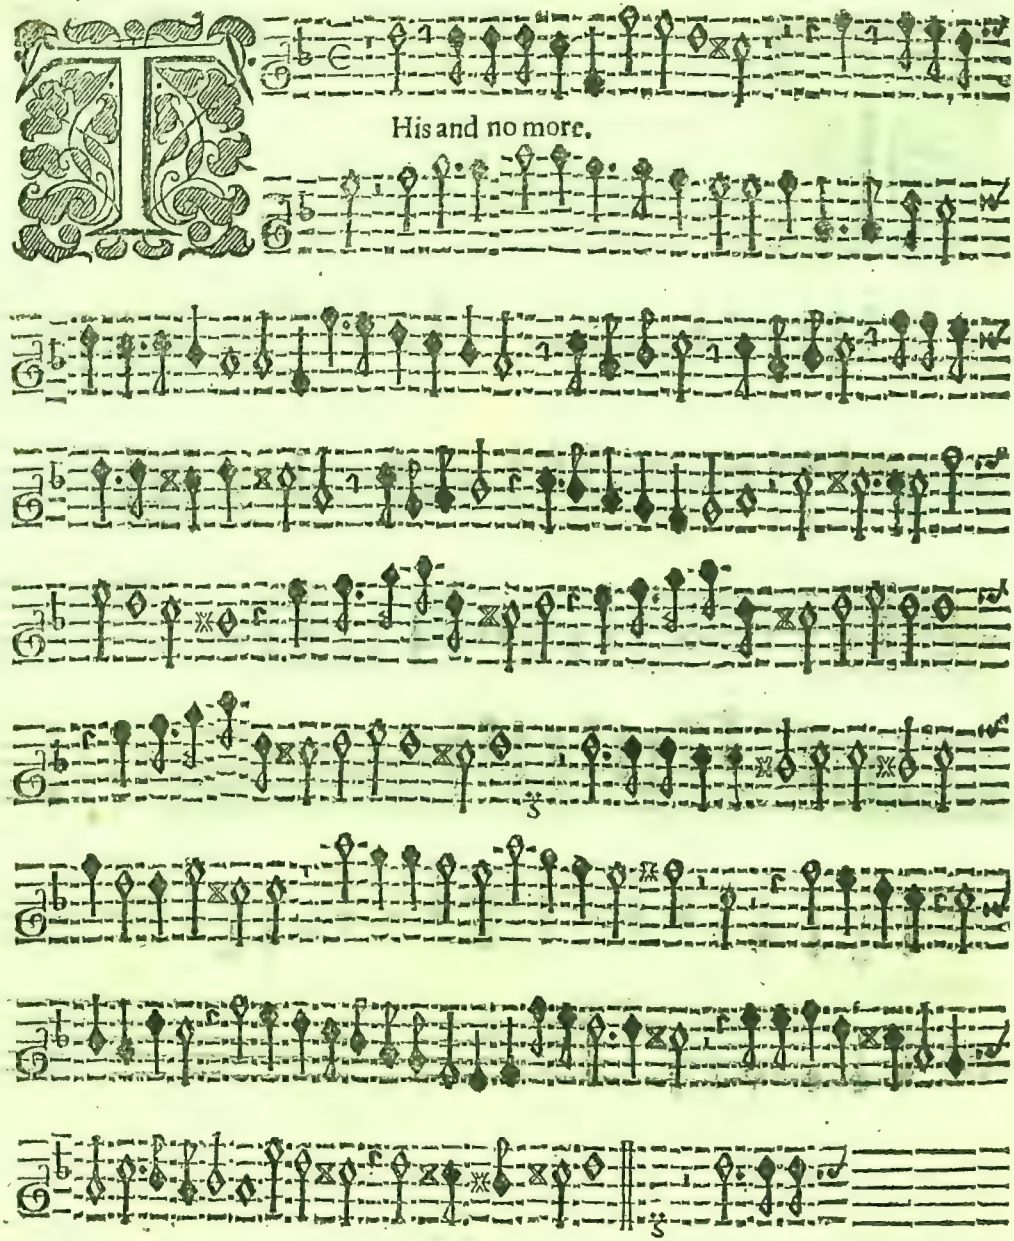
Oftly at laſt.



Lay not too fast.



The last but one.



FINIS.

FANTAZIES

OF

Two, Three, and Four Parts,

FOR

VIOLS.

Composed by Michael East, Batchelor of Musick.

LONDON,
Printed, and are sold by John Playford, at his shop in the TEMPLE.

TO THE TRVELY NOBLE LOVER OF LEARNING, AND PATRON OF ARTS, SIR CHRISTOPHER HATTON, Knight of the most Honourable Order of the BATH,

Michael East Batchellour of Musicke, wisheth all increase of Honour and Happinesse.

Honoured Sir:

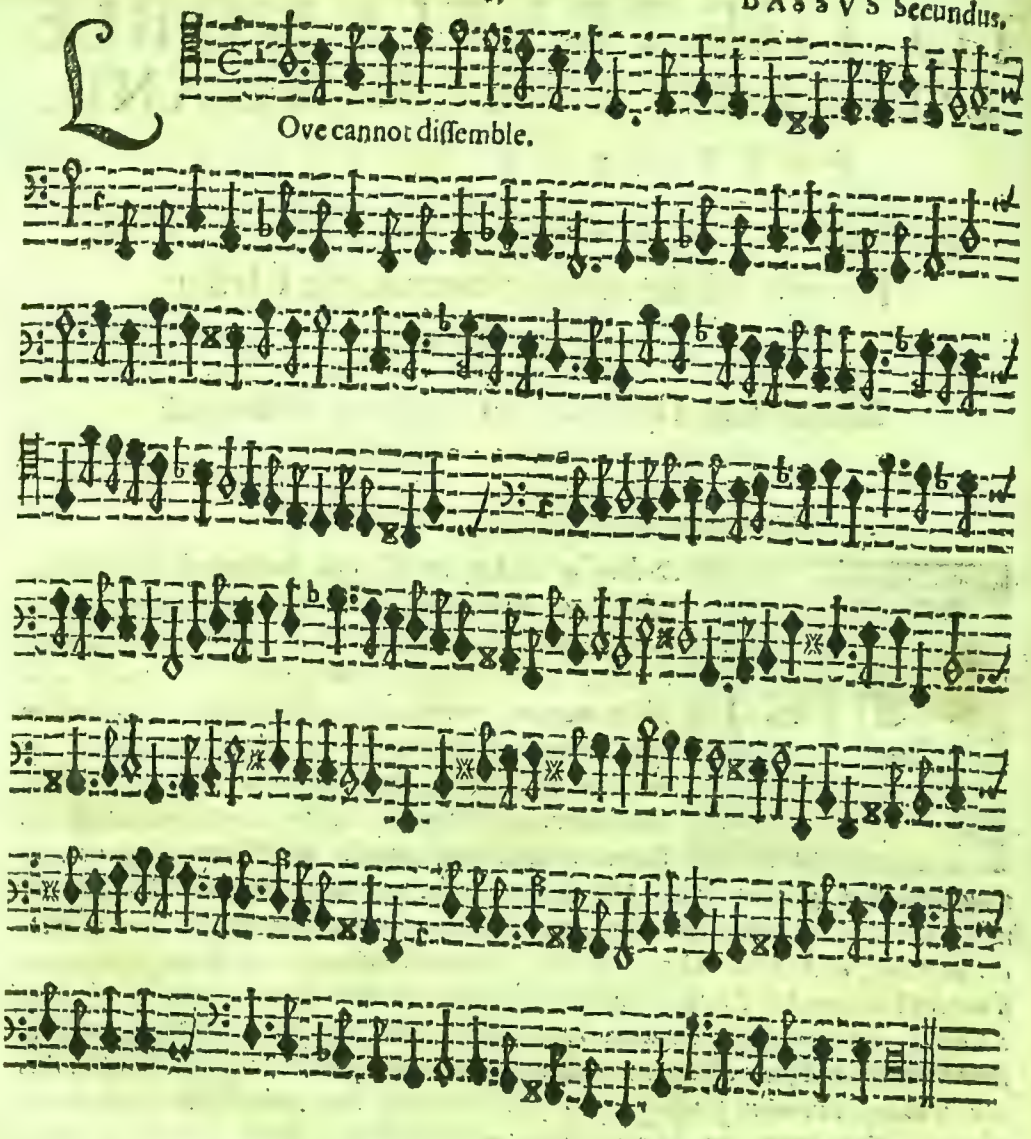
THe love of vertue, in all ages, hath made some persons illustrious, whose sublime spirits, and choyce judgements, have prompted them to cherish the Arts: whereby their names have beene magnified in their life, and their memories perpetuated after death. So in this our age, Fame hath deservedly voted and enstiled you, an eminent Mecænas, for frequenting the Academies, and exercises of science, and for countenance and benificence to Arts and Artists, which renders you truely pious, prudent, and peereless. More particularly, you have honoured Musicke: of whose divine excellencies, all other Arts participate, which may glory, to be as ancient as Time, and expect to live eternally. To your transcendent Nobleness, and constant love to our Art, I humbly sacrifice this poore Tribute of my service, confessing, I am old, my fruit is in Autumne, and falleth at your feet, yet if you favourably reflect thereon, and your obsequious followers grace me to gather it up, and present it to you, it may prove more pleasing to your judicious taste, and delightfull to the palate of others. Your patronage and cognisance, will protect it from the venome of Envie and Ignorance, which if you descend to vouchsafe, you shall highly oblige,

Honoured Sir,

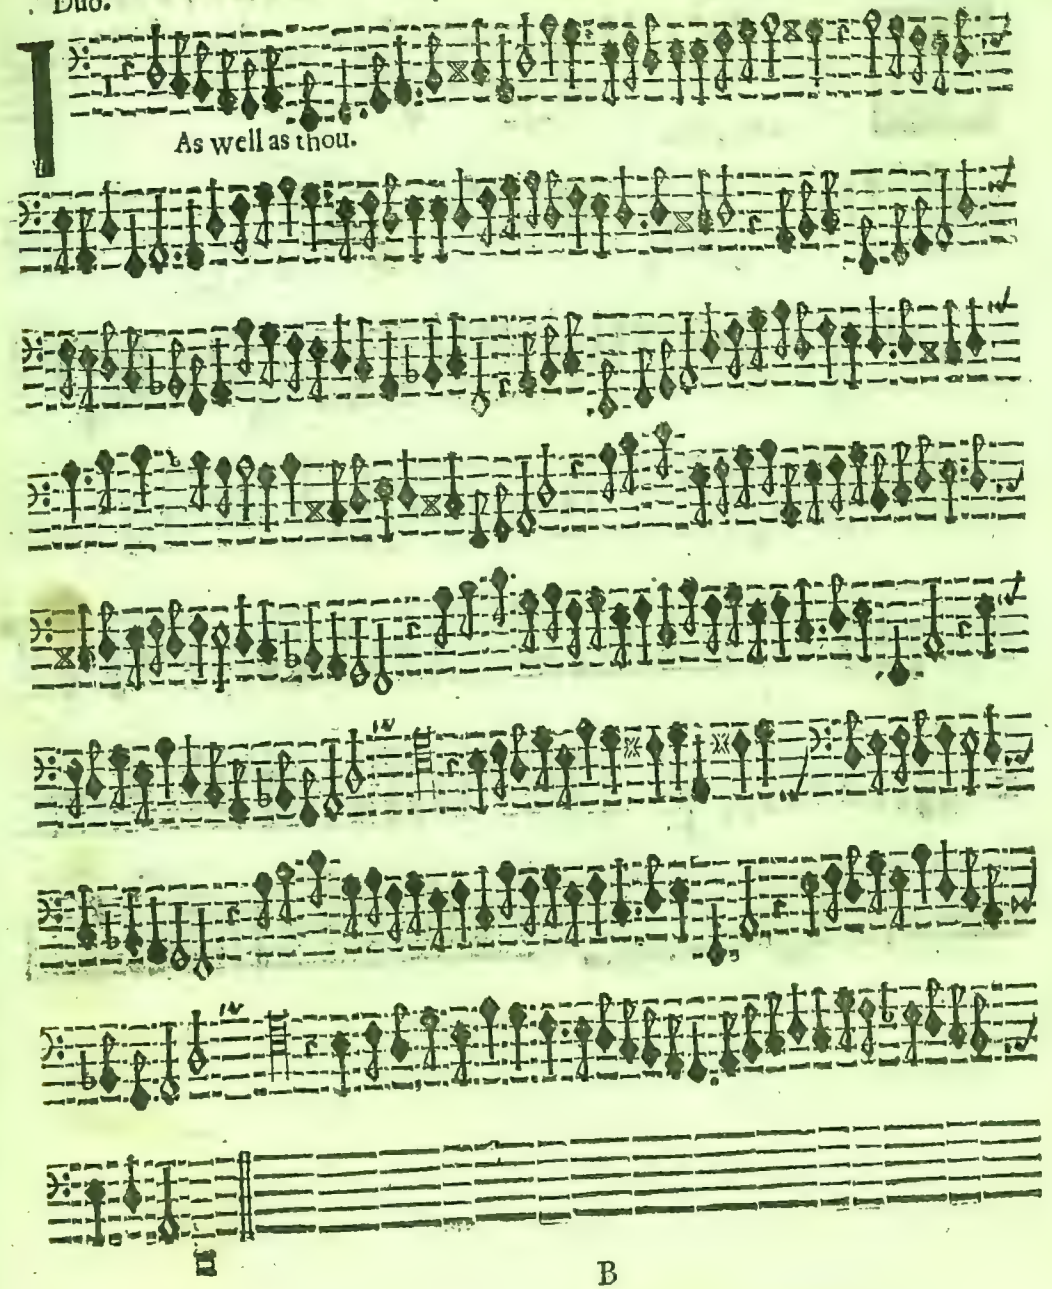
Yours ever humbly devoted

loyally to serve you,

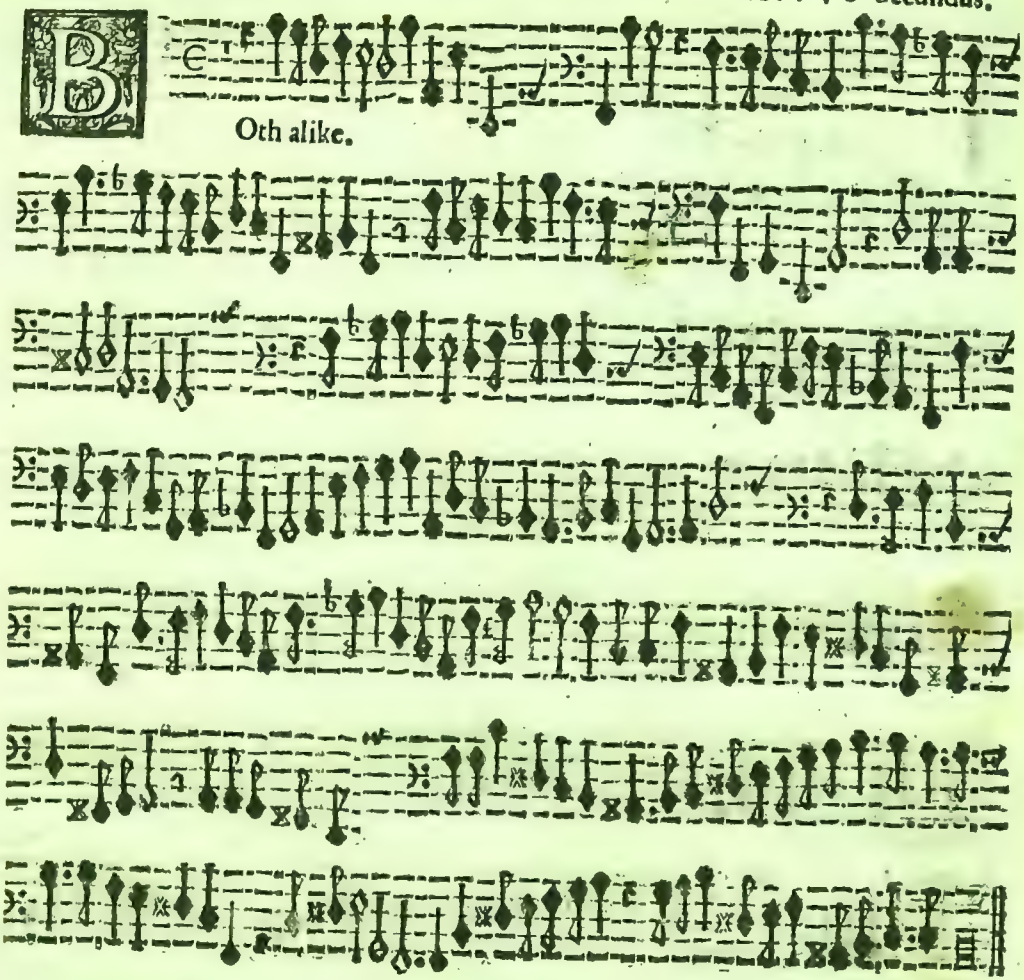
MICHAEL EAST.



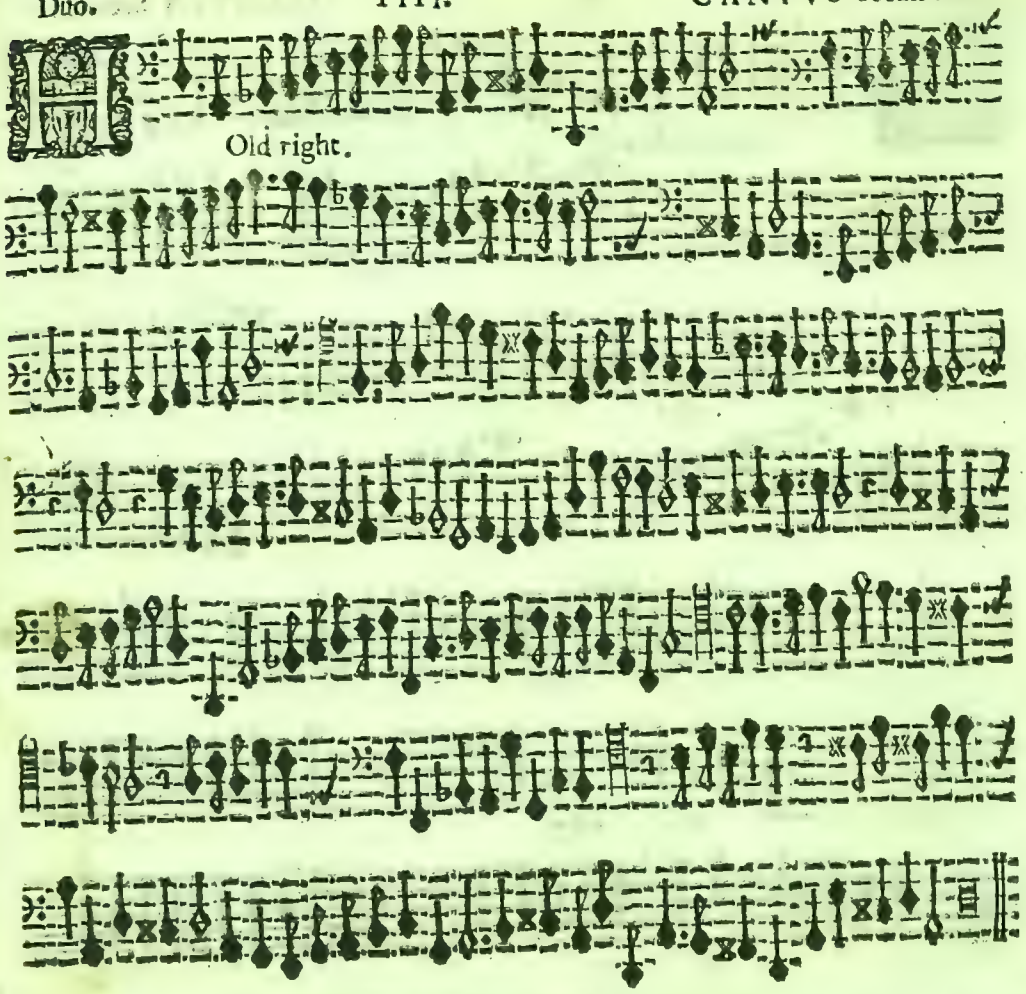
Ove cannot dissemble.



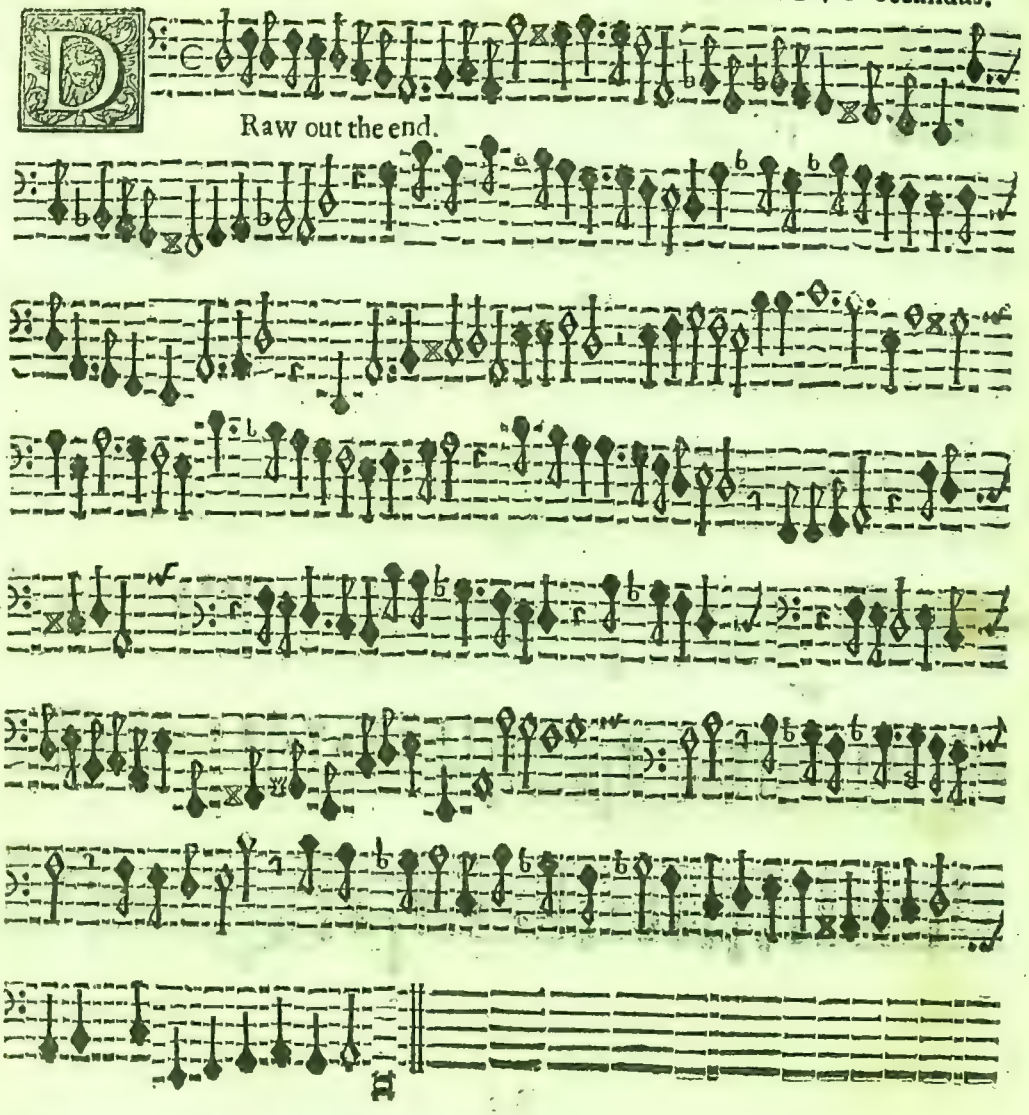
As well as thou.



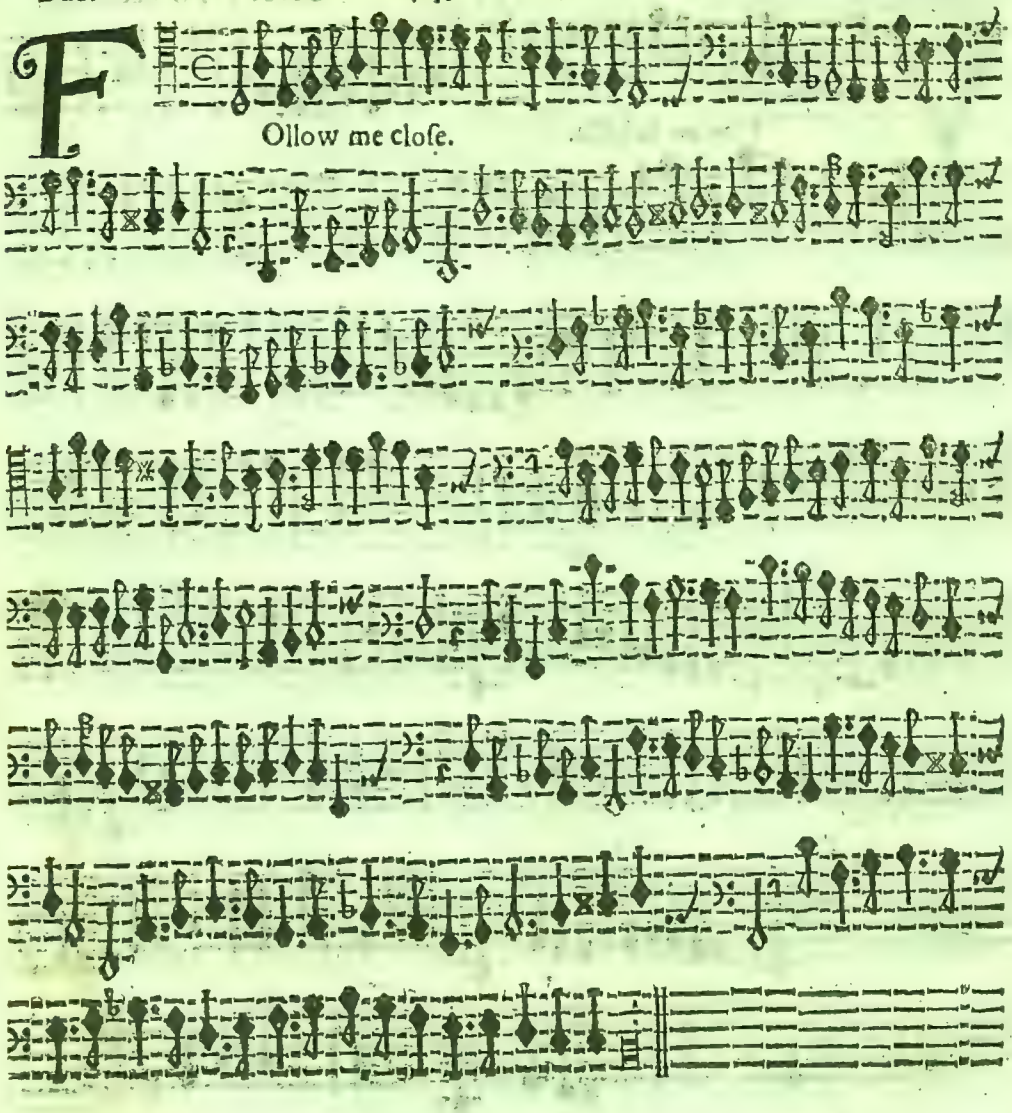
Both alike.



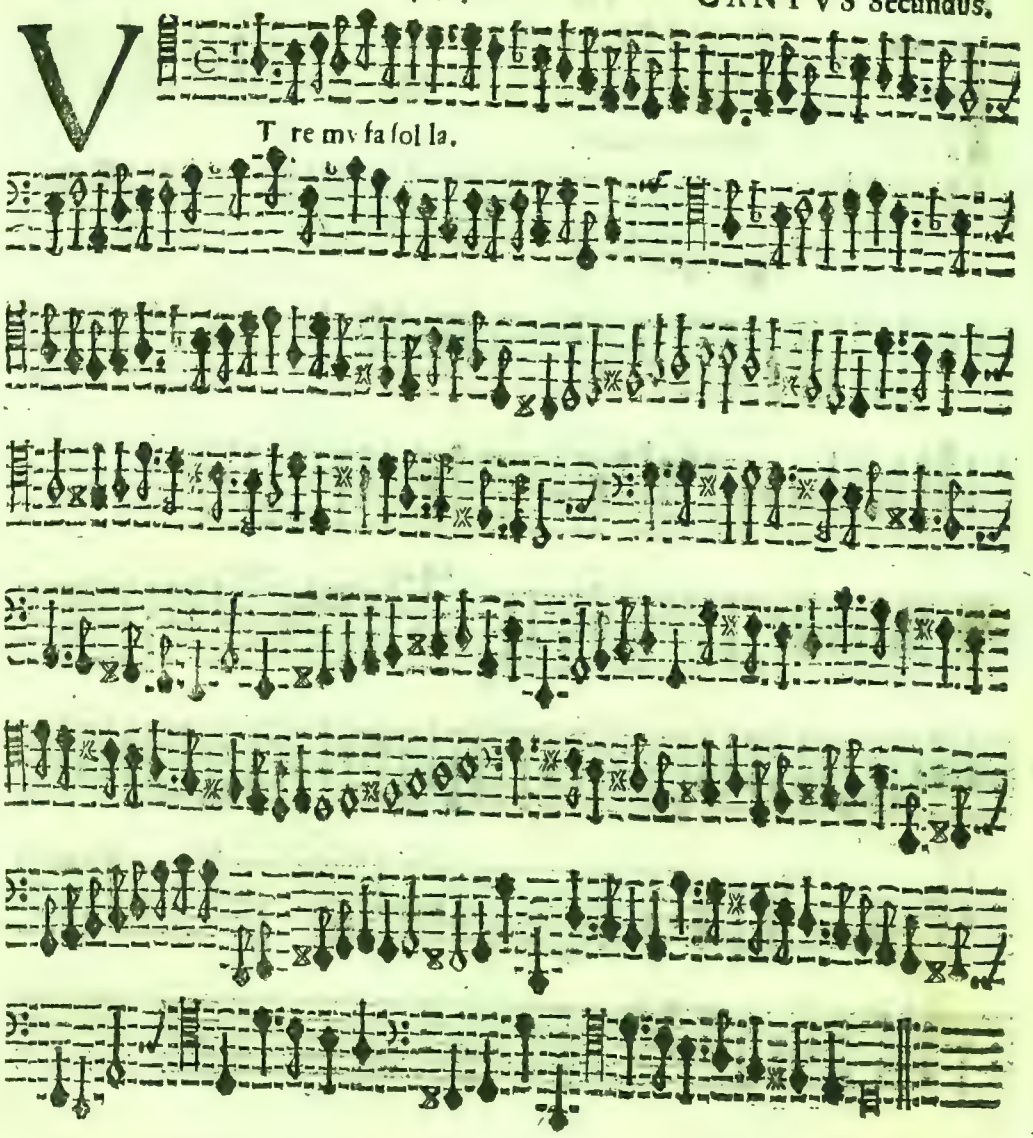
Old right.



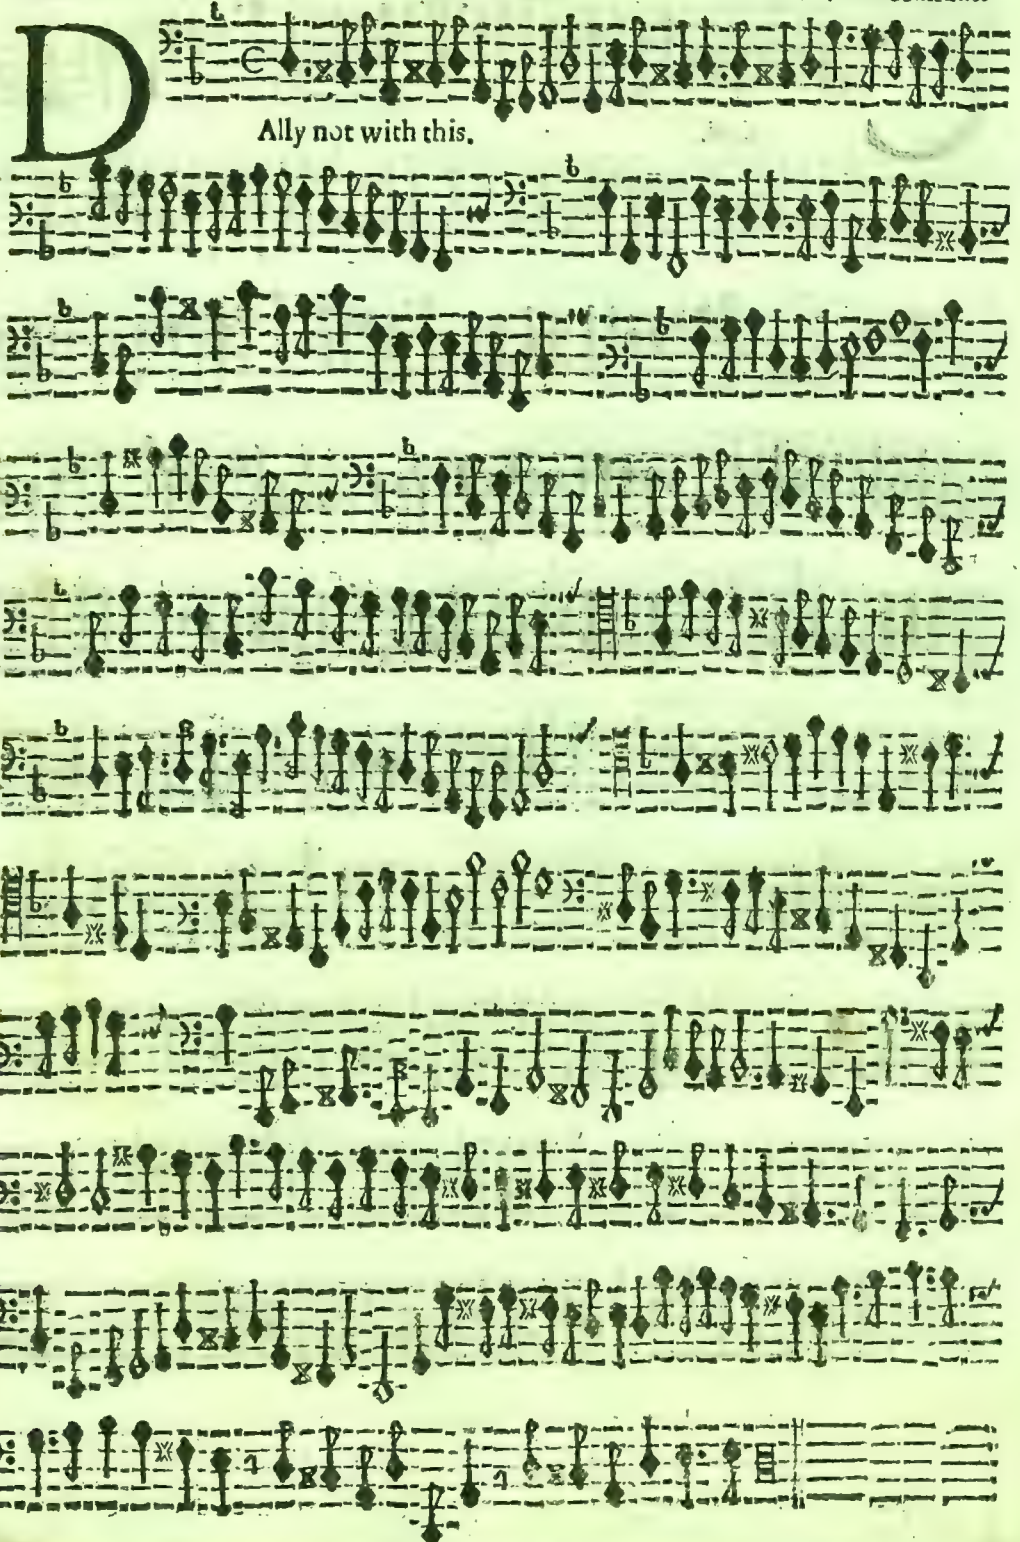
Raw out the end.



Follow me close.

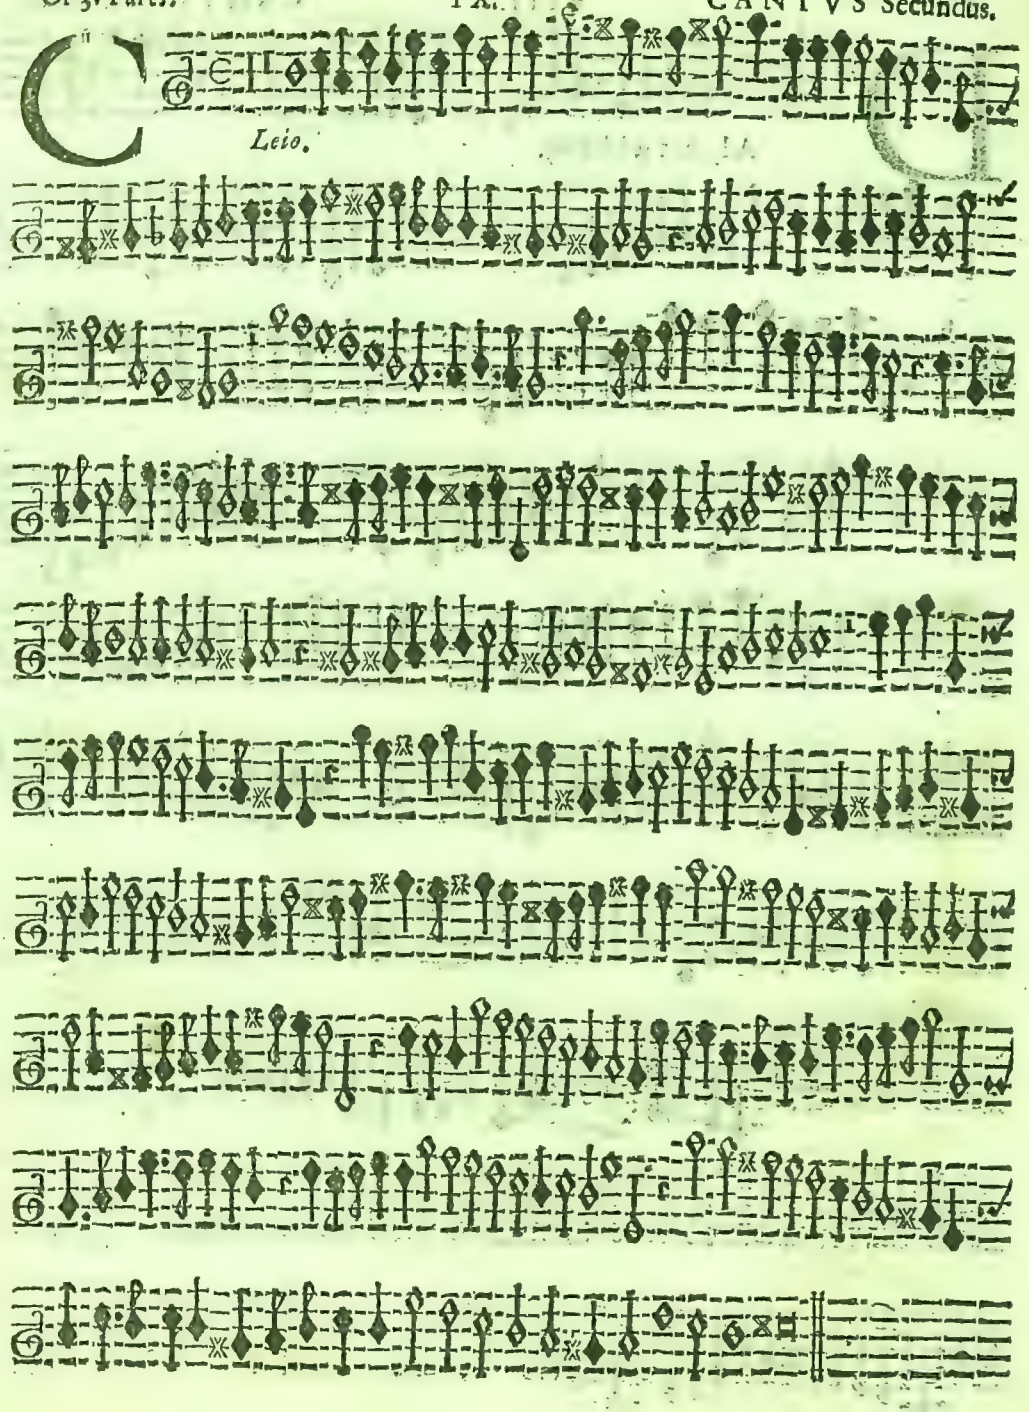


T re mv fa fol la.

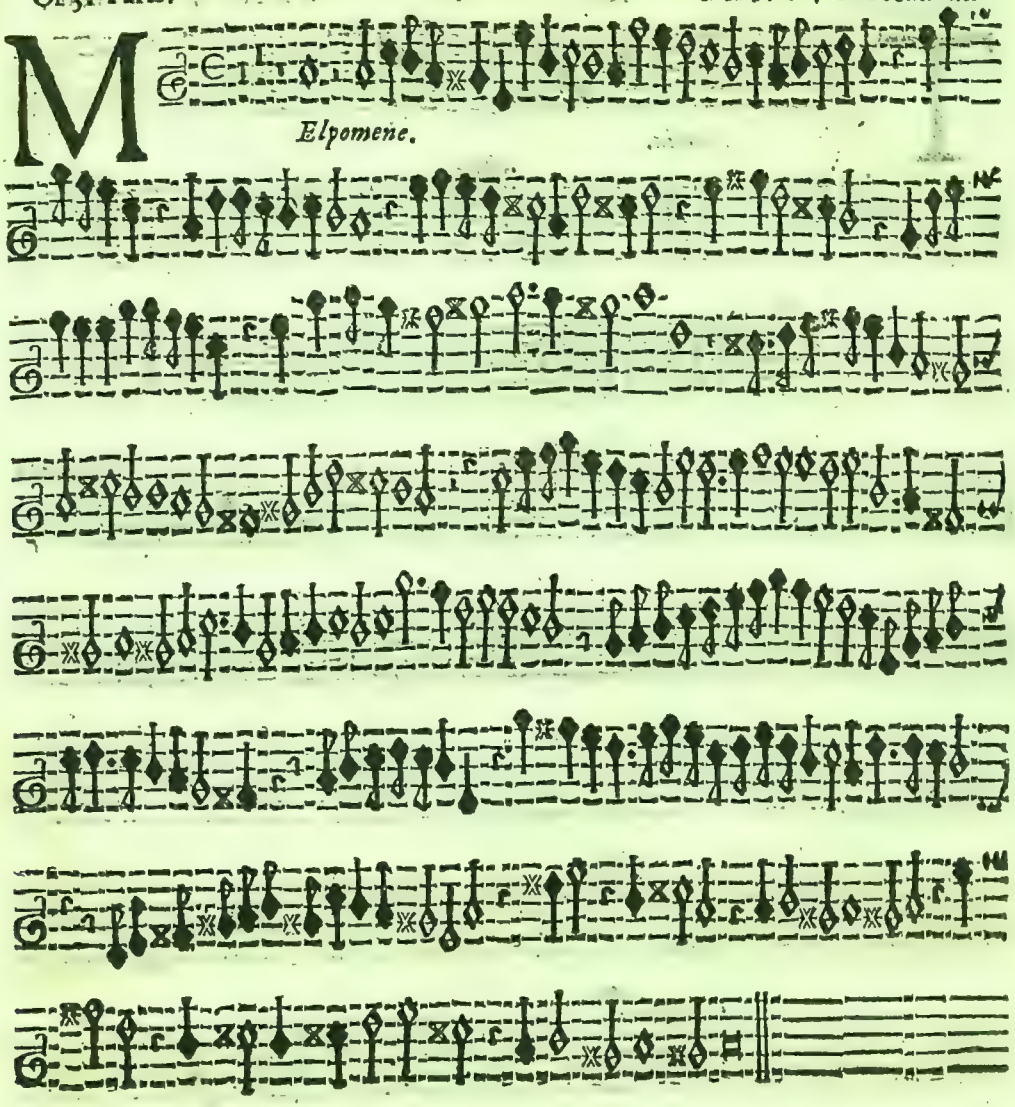


Ally not with this.

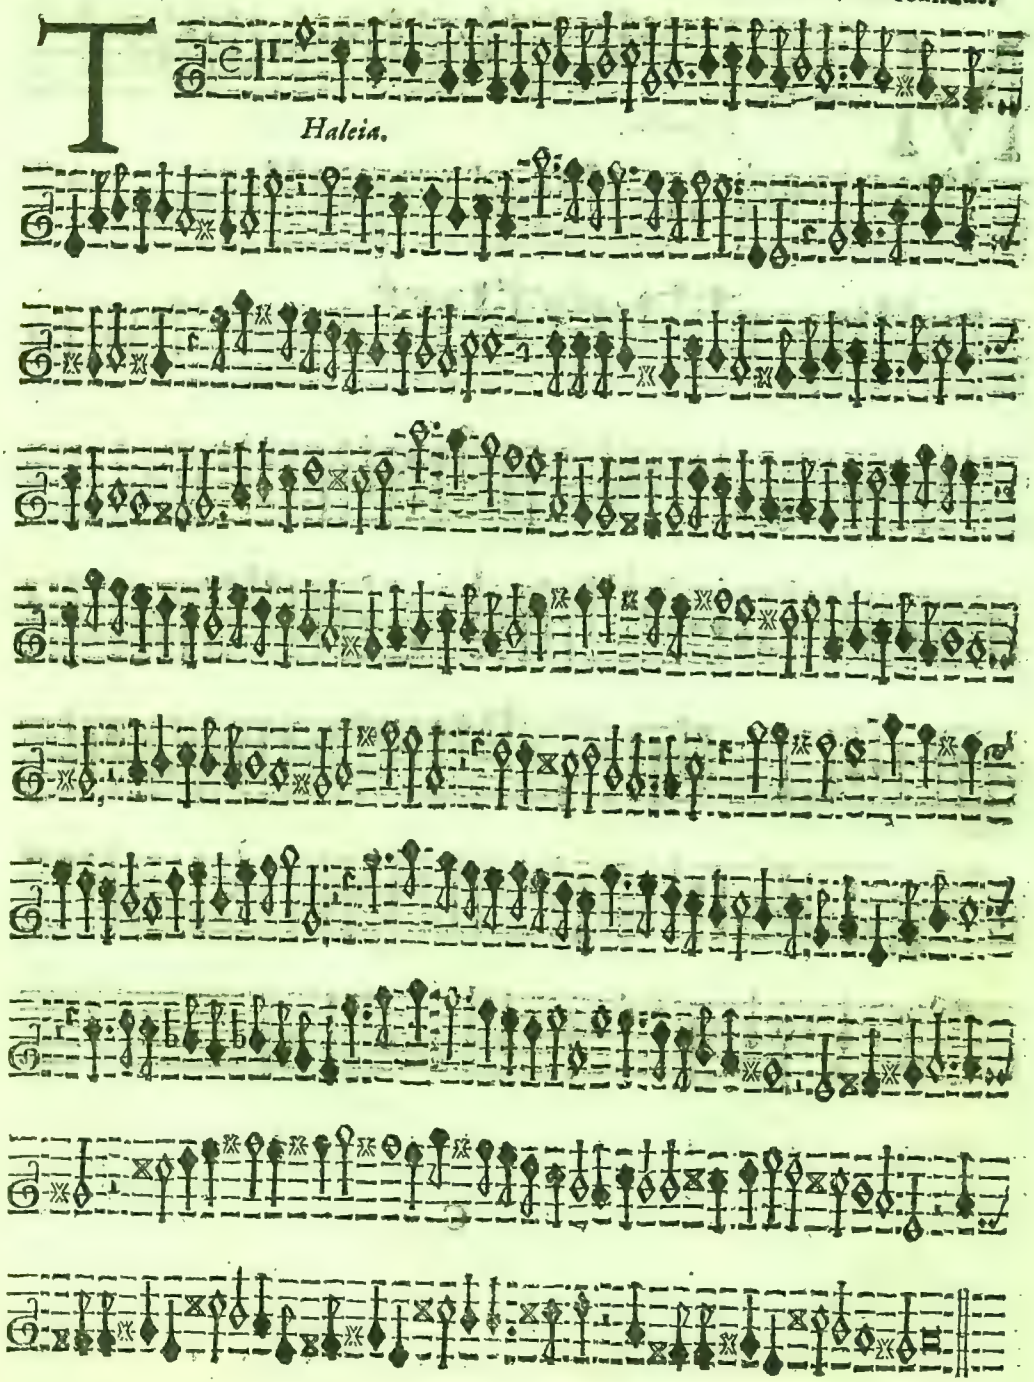
Here endeth the Duoes.



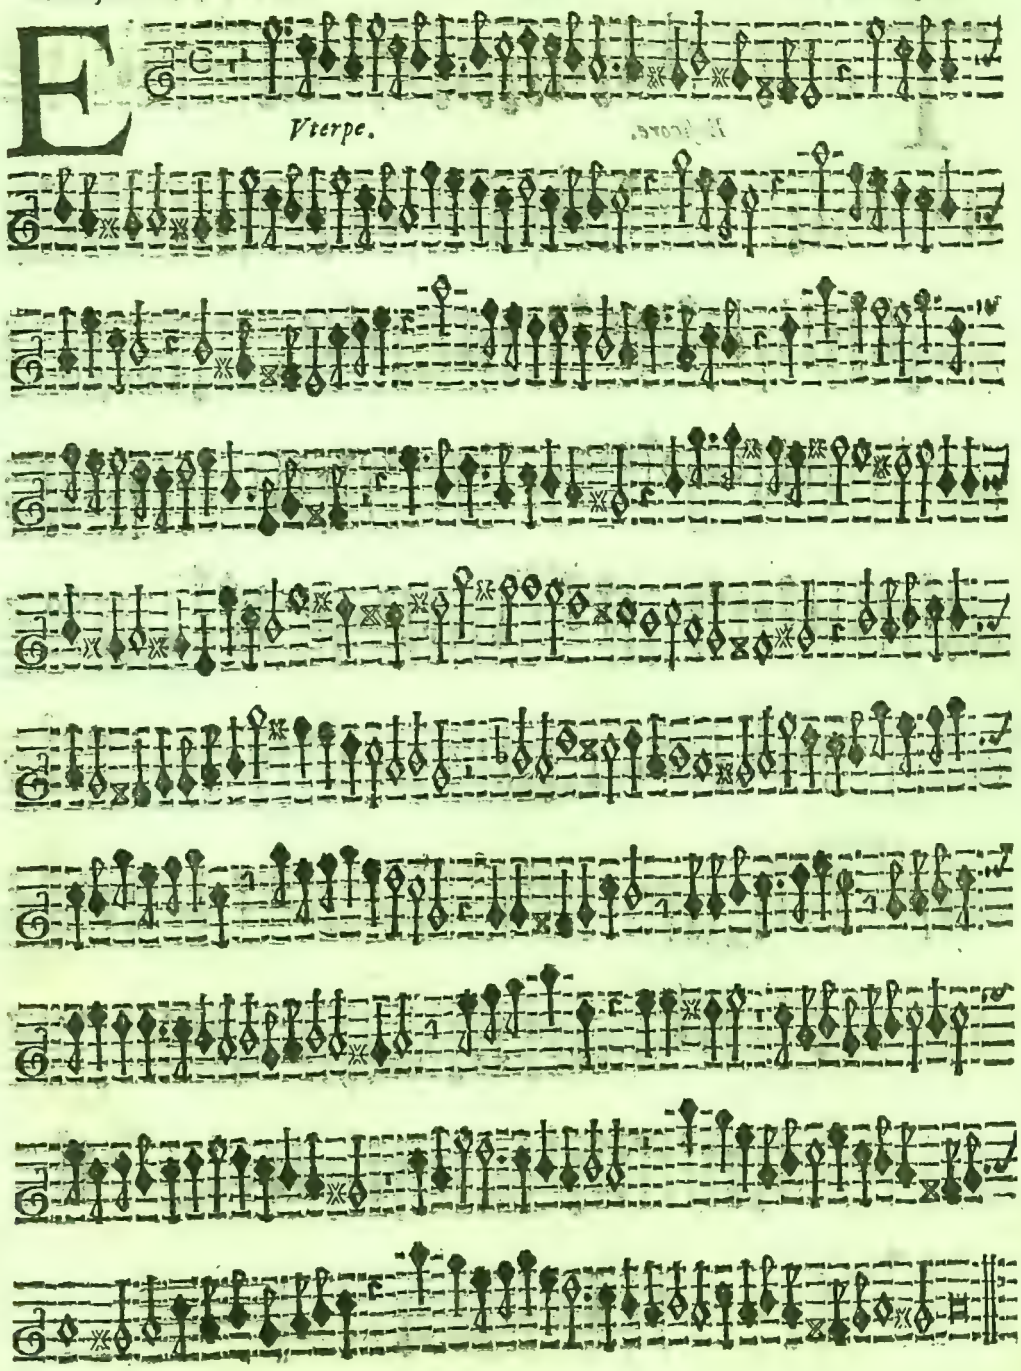
Leio.



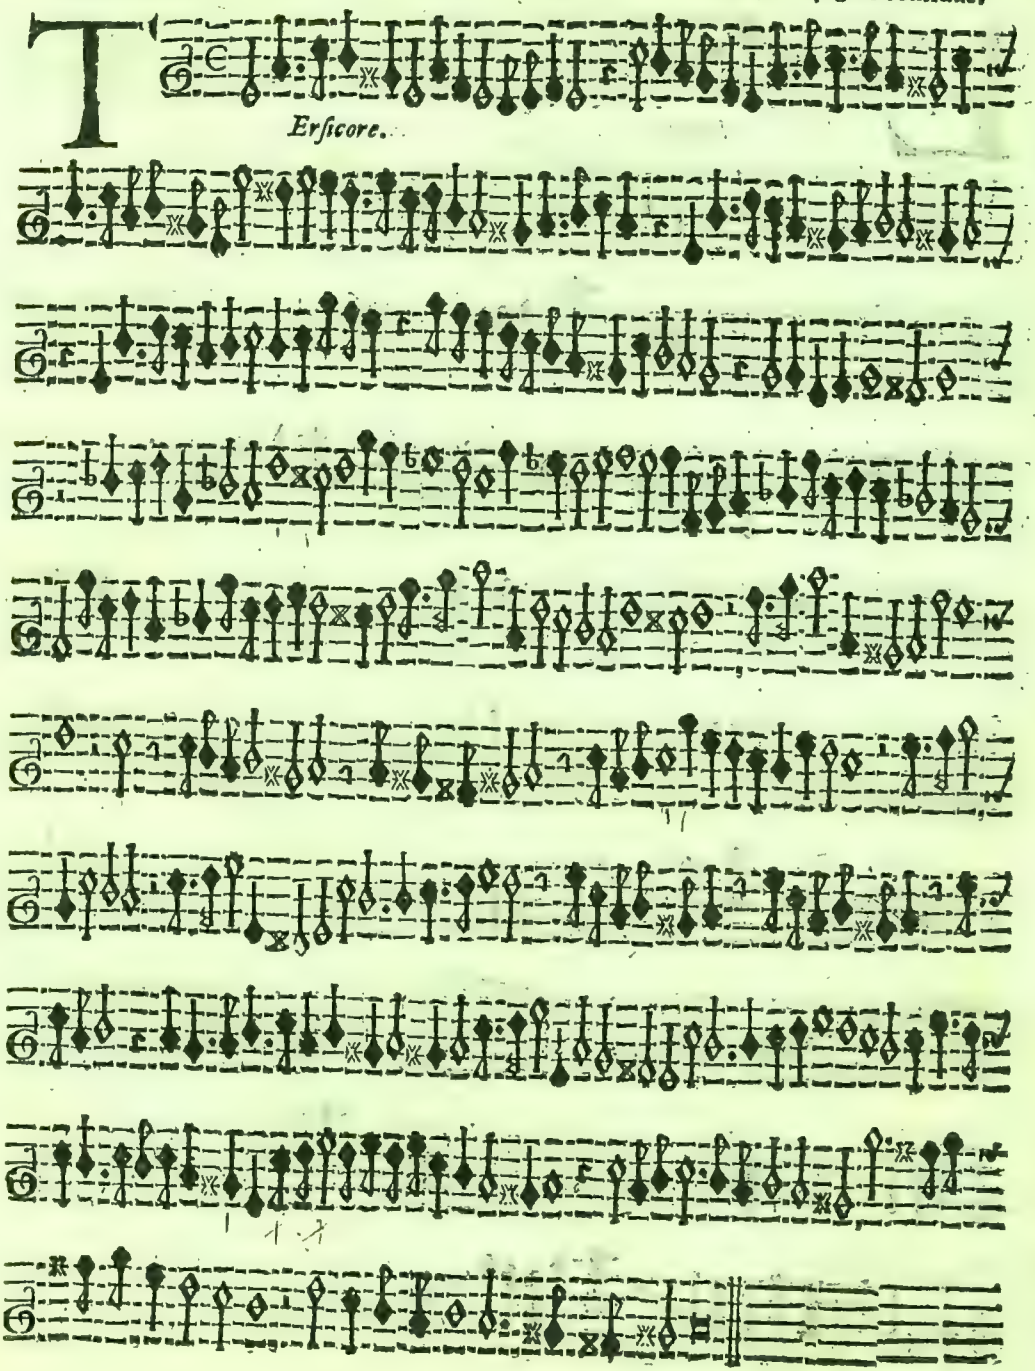
Elpomene.



Haleia.



Vterpe.



Erſicore.

E Rato.

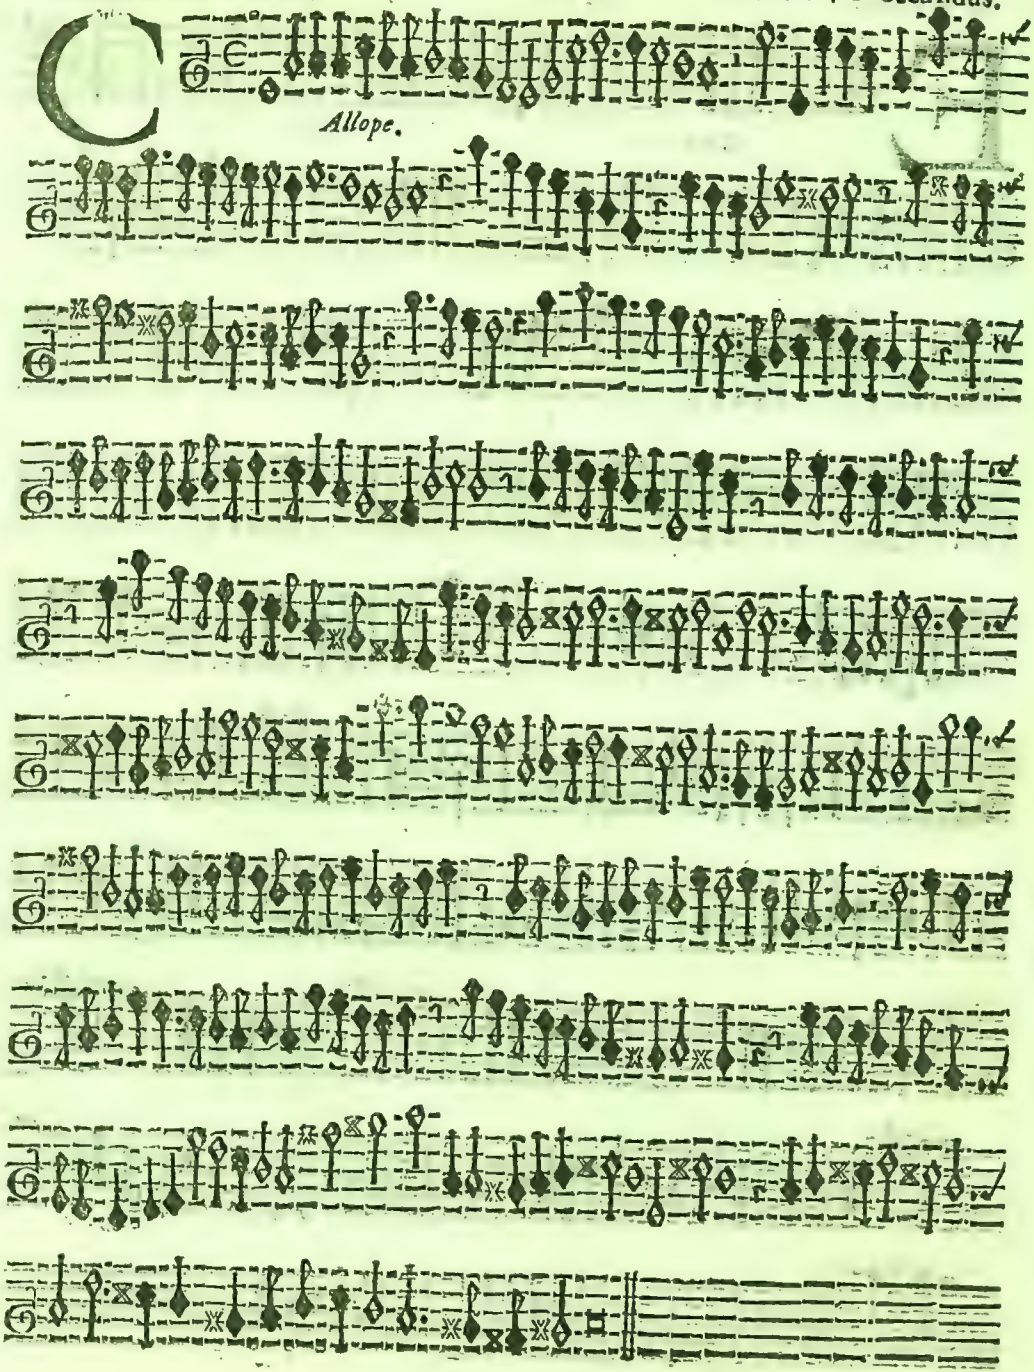
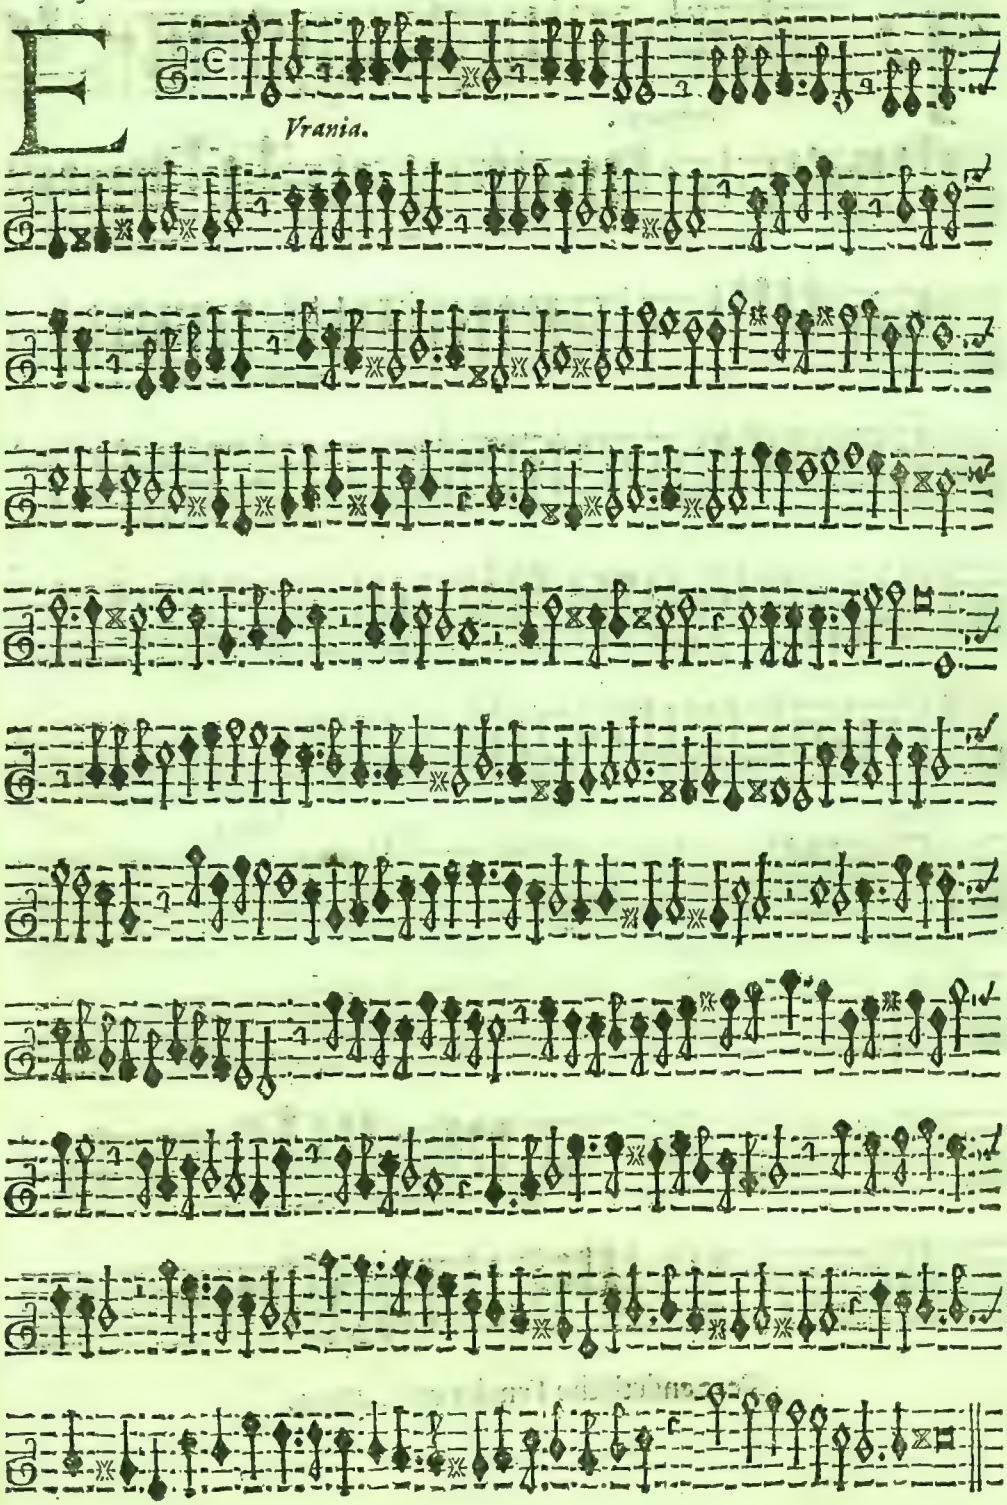
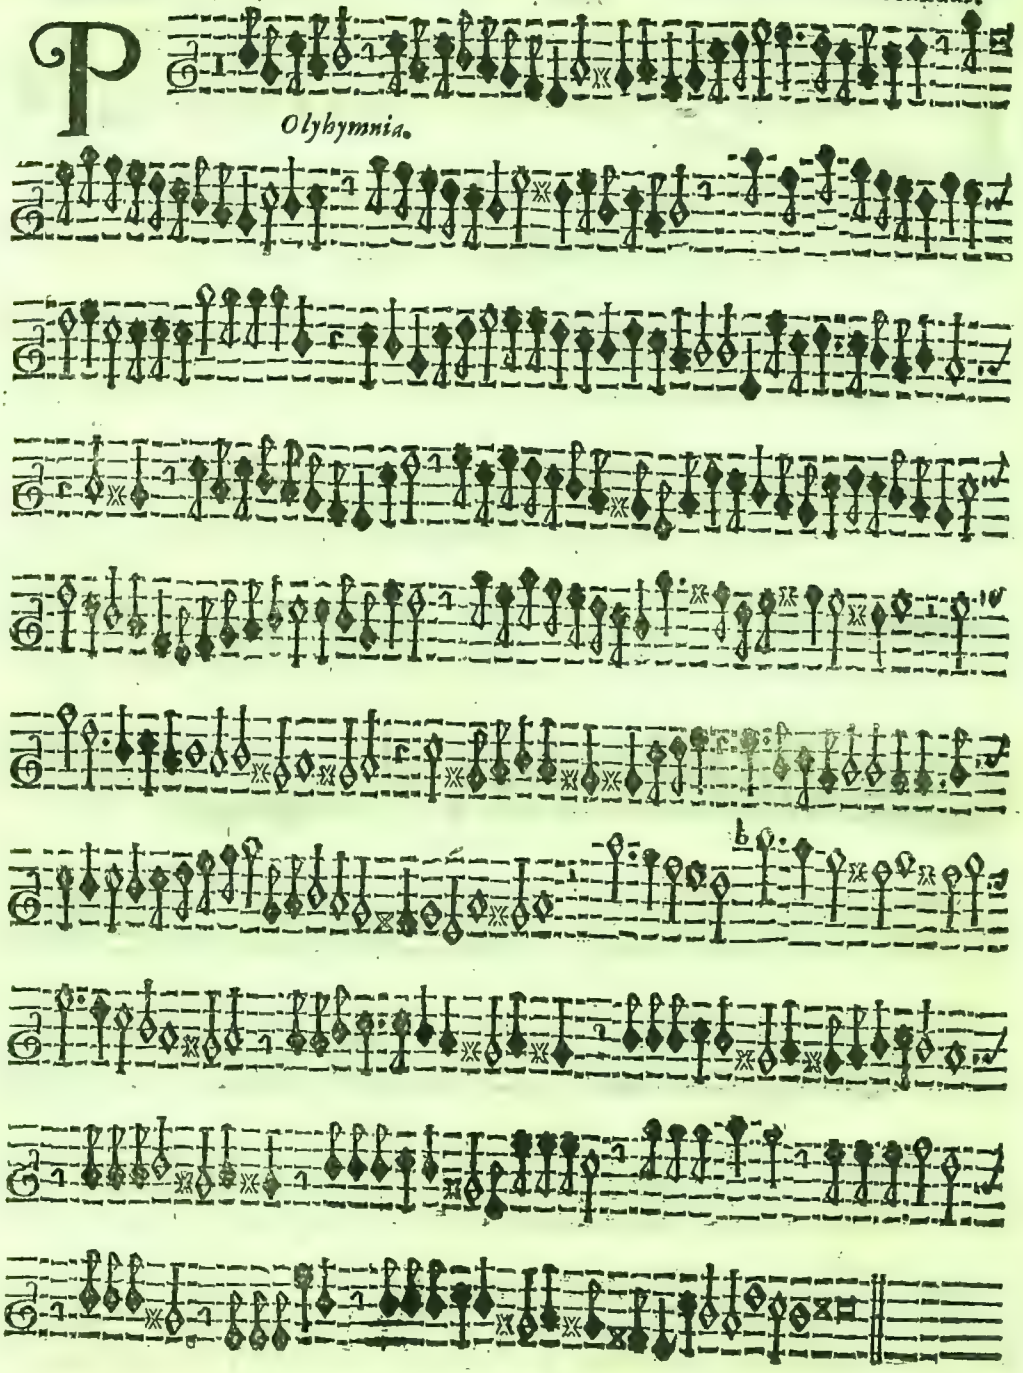
Allope.

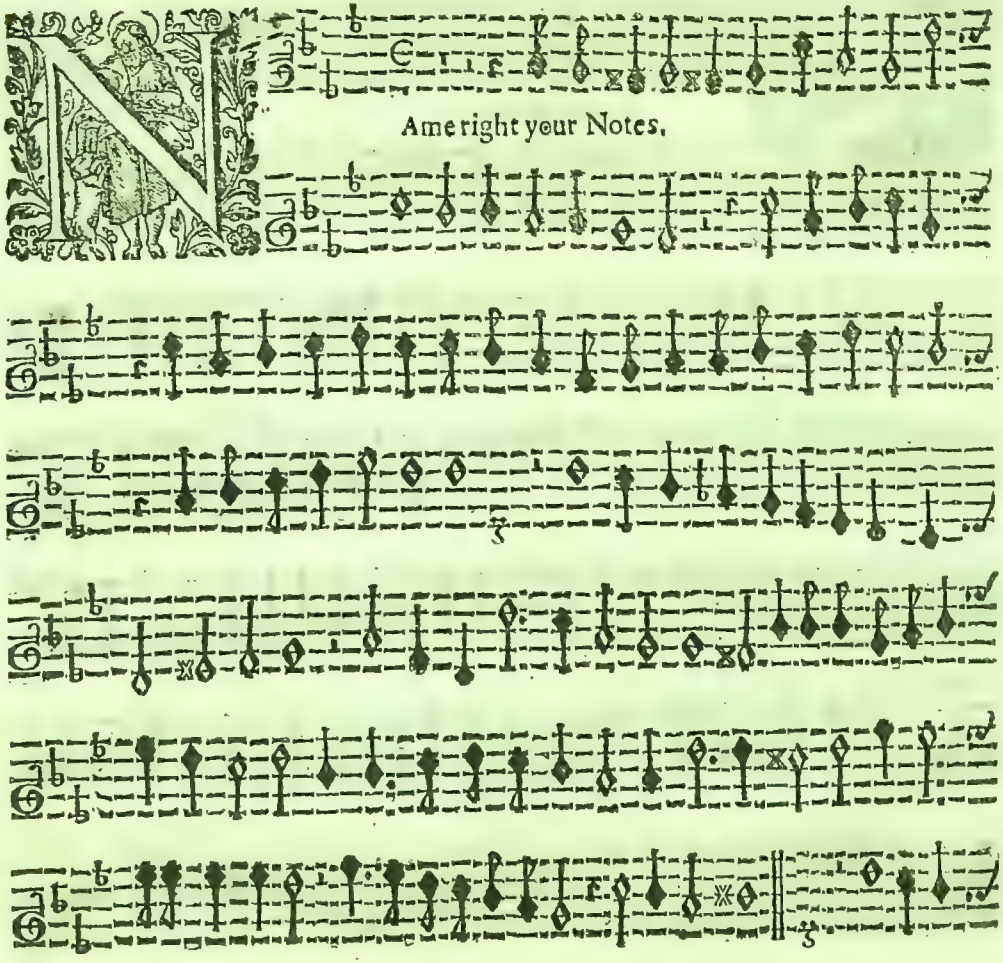




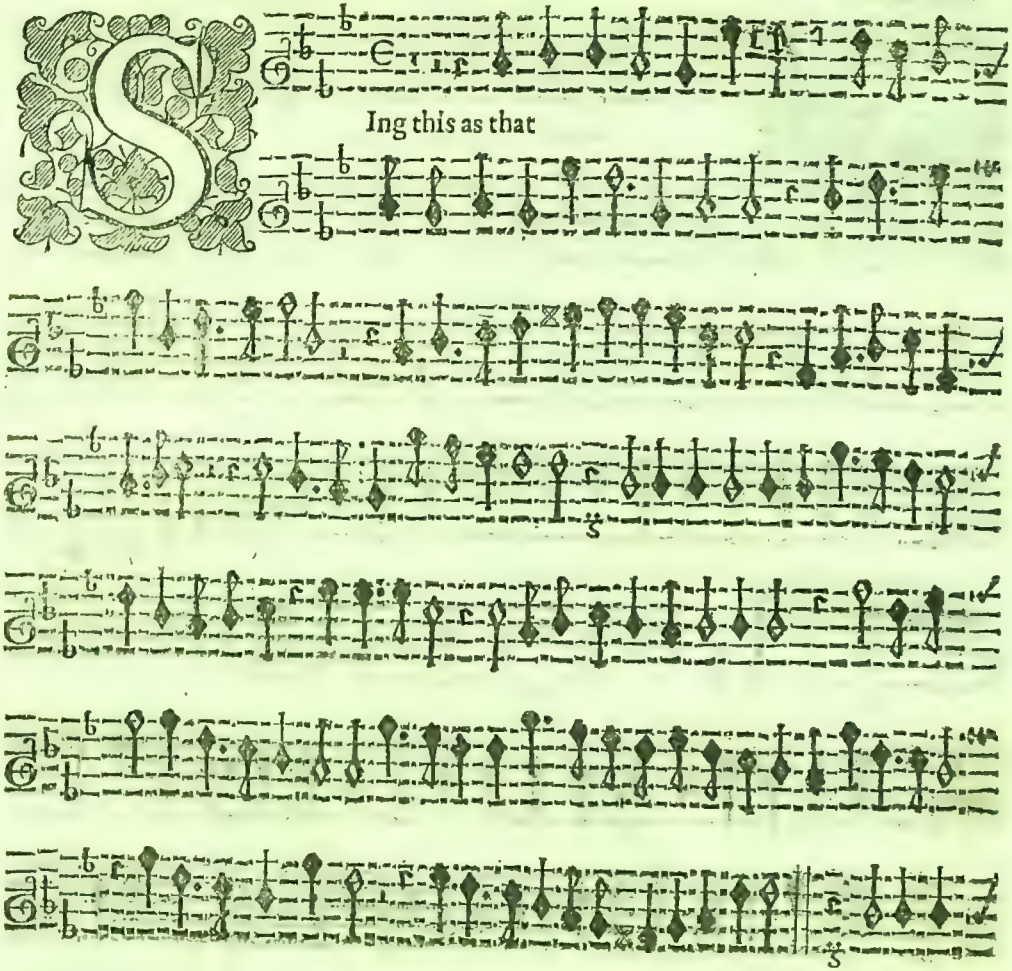
Vrania.



Here endeth the Fancies of 3. Parts.

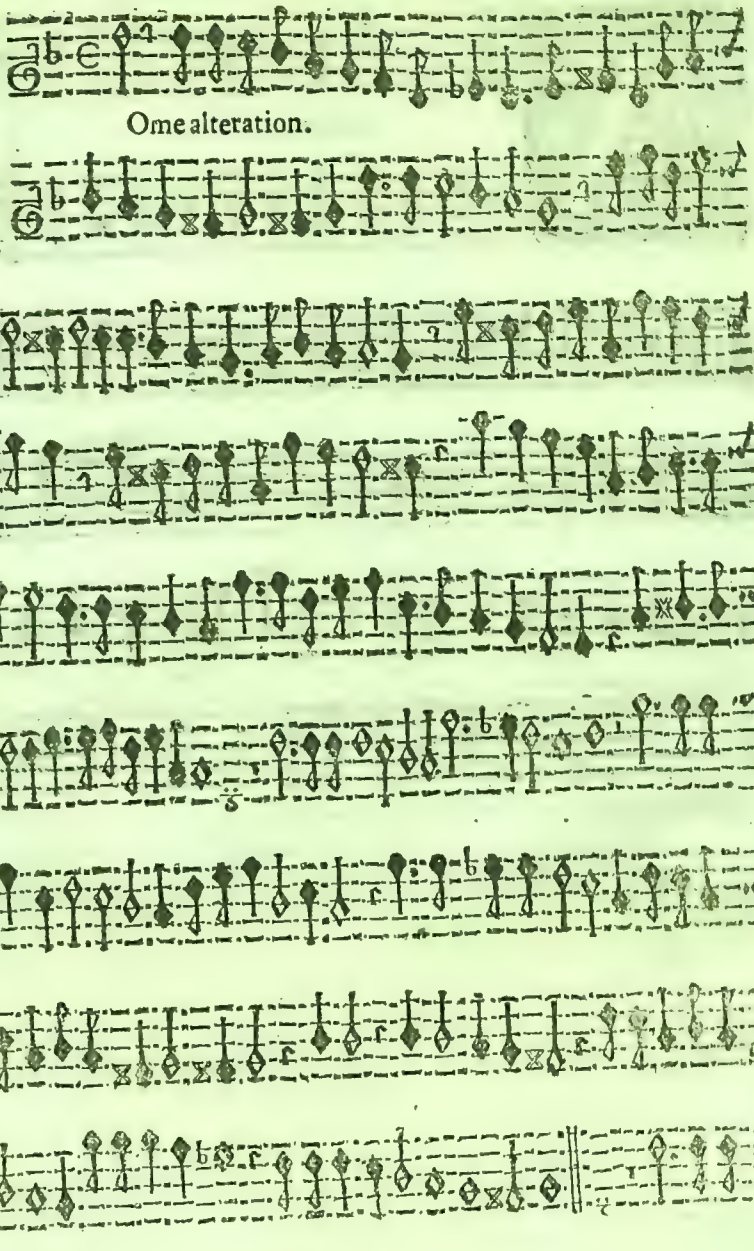


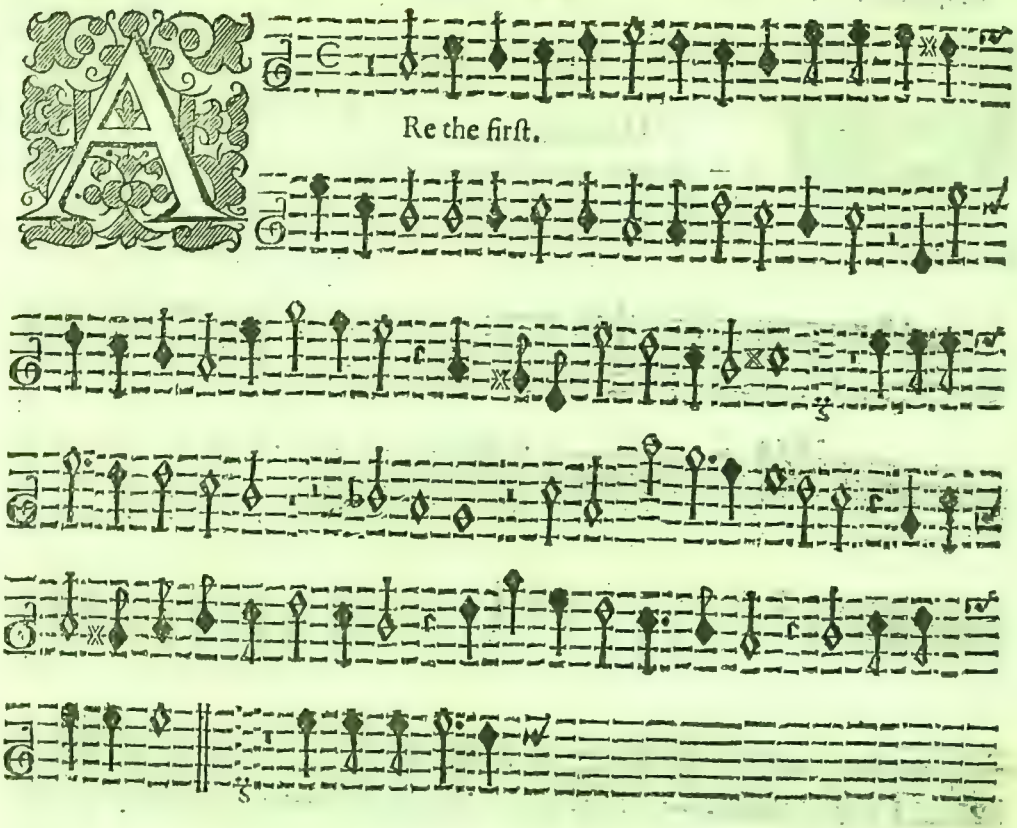
Ame right your Notes.



Ing this as that

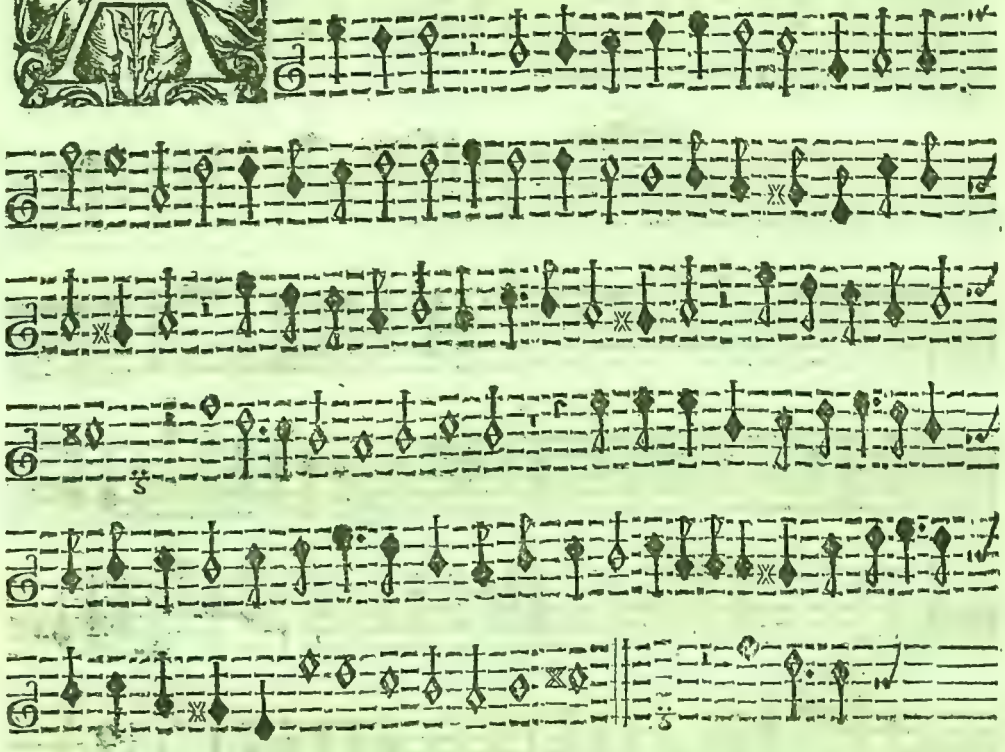
Ome alteration.

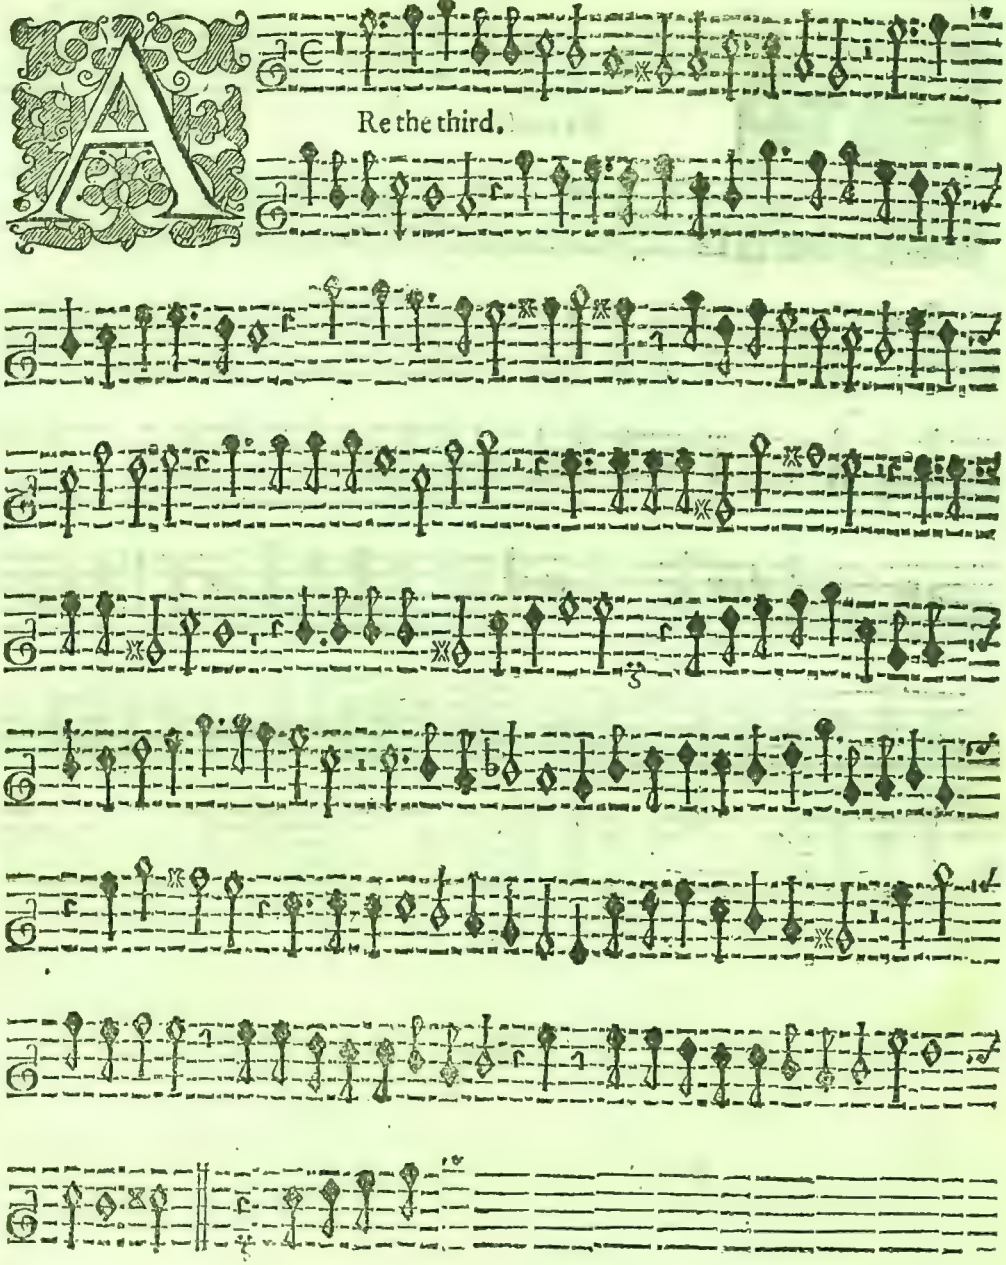




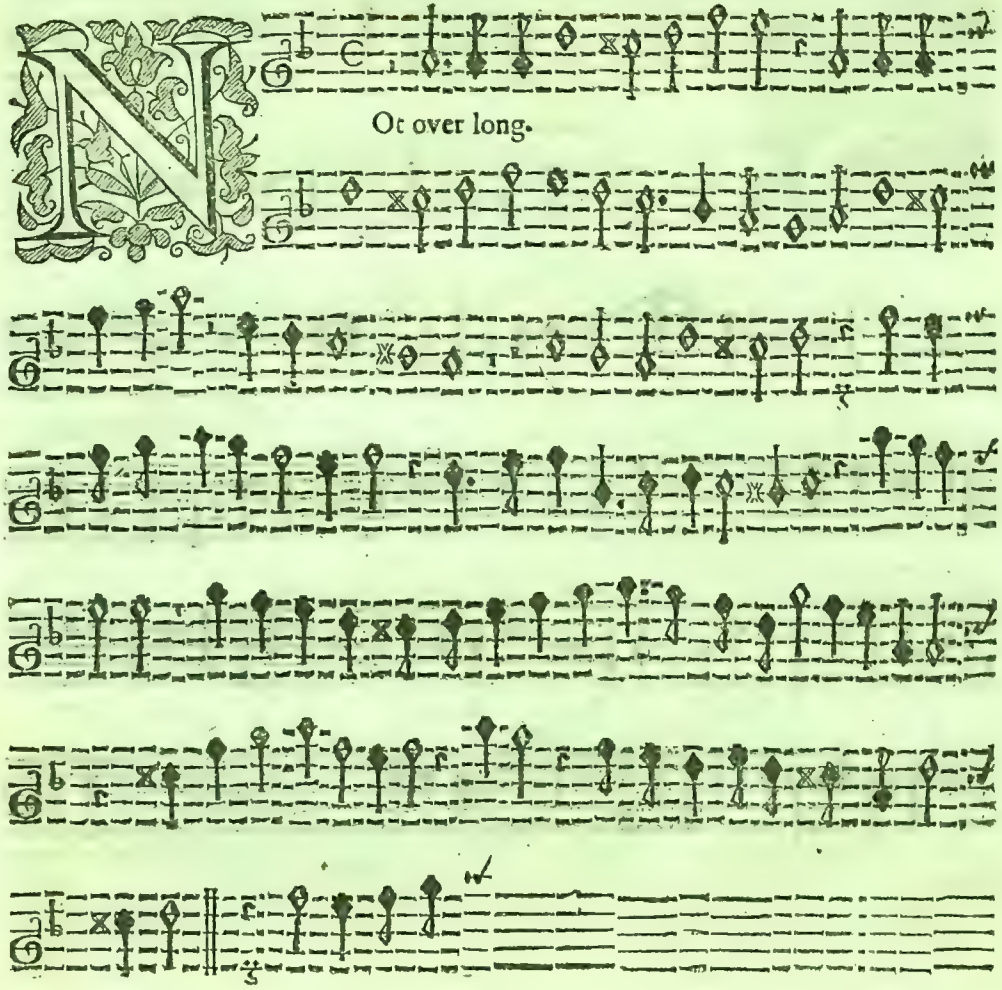
Re the first.

Re the ſecond.

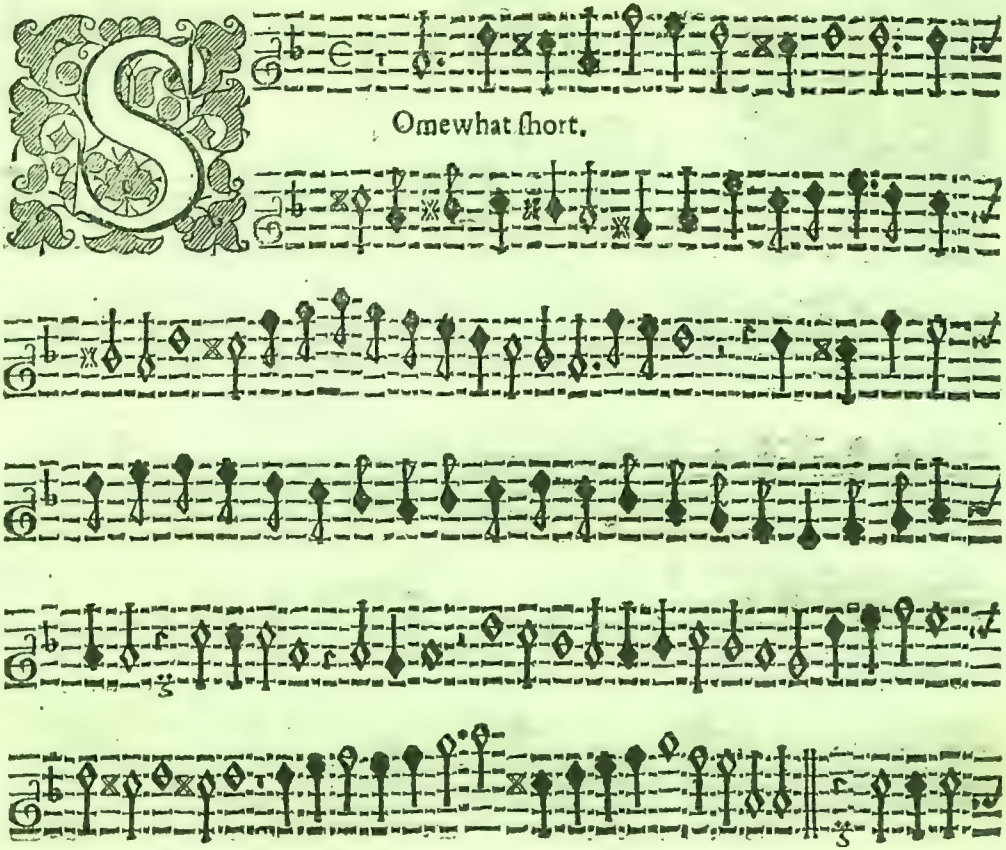




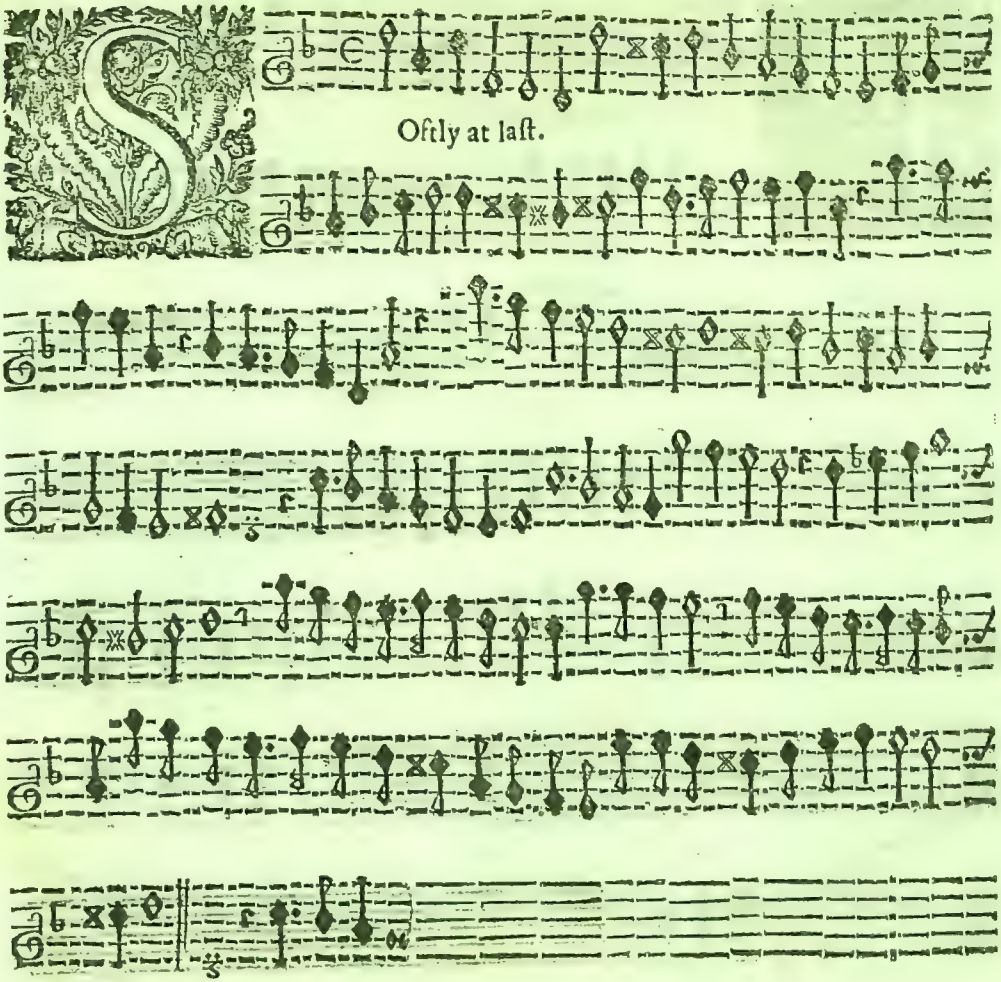
Re the third.



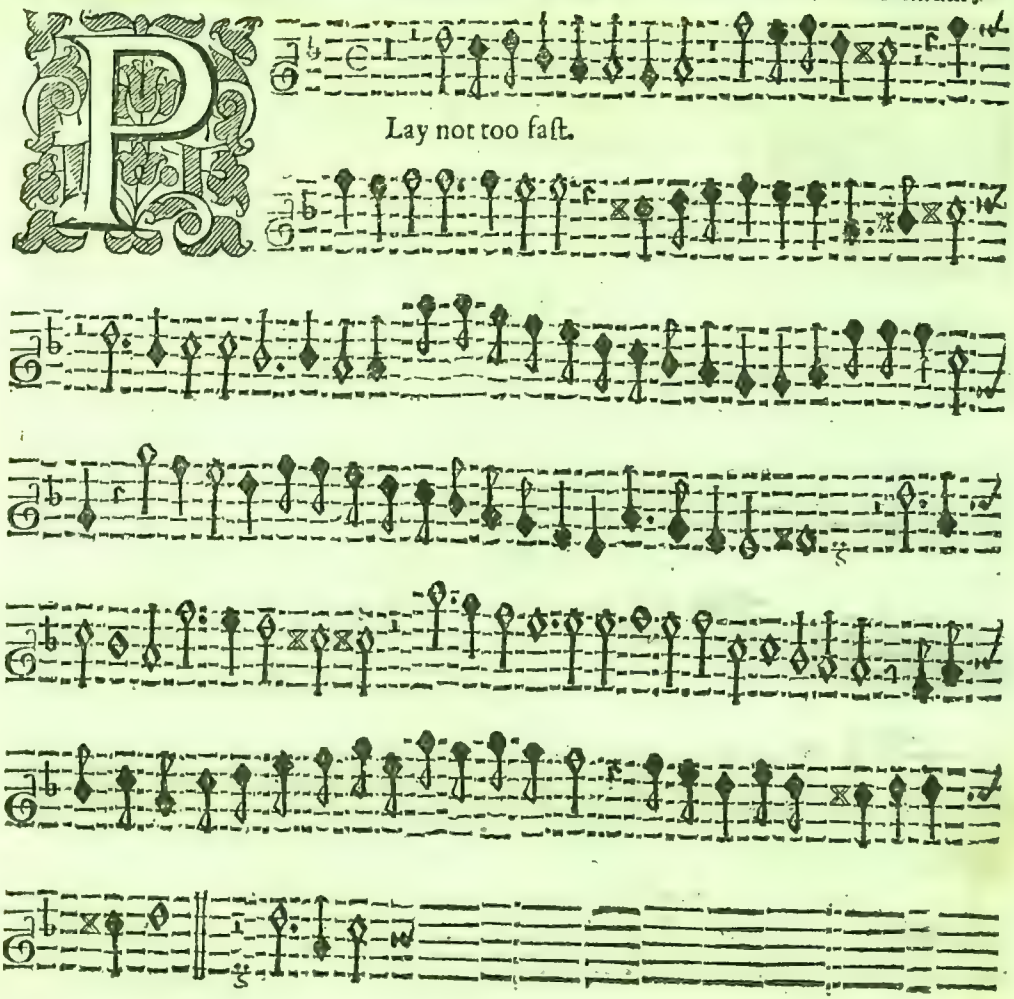
Ot over long.



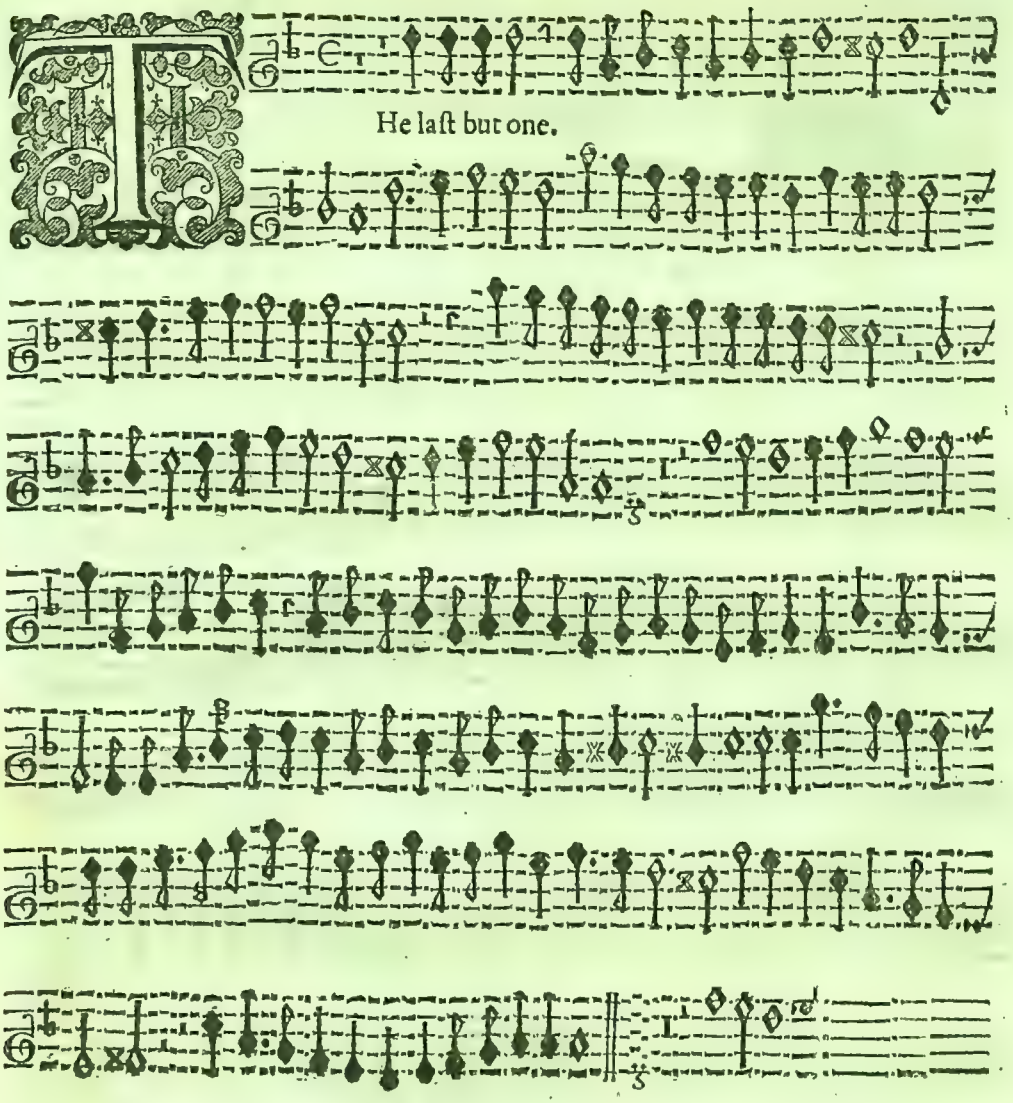
Omewhat ſhort.



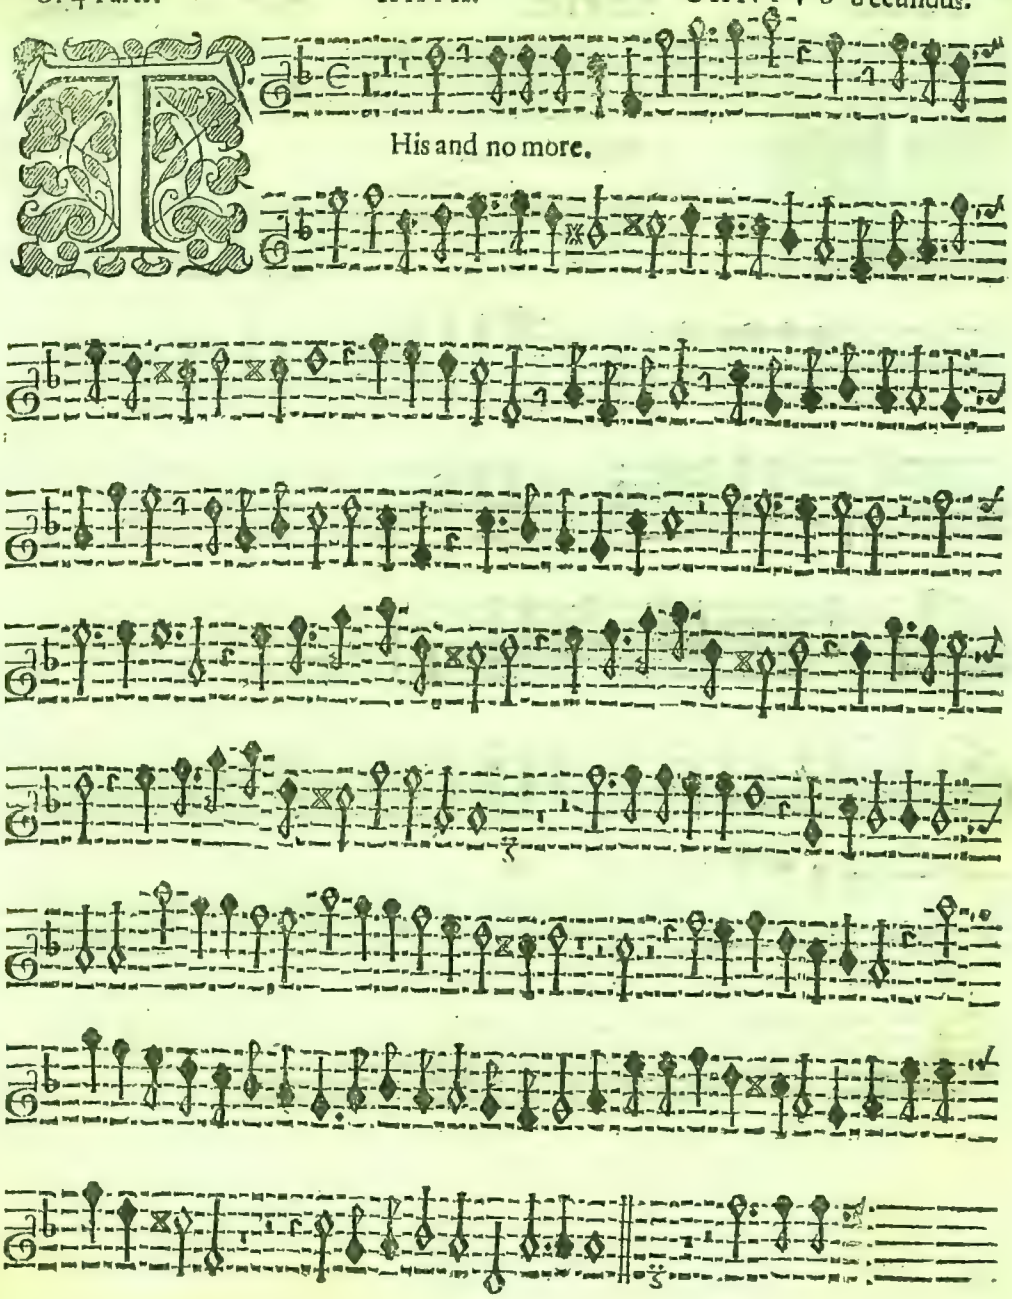
Oftly at laſt.



Lay not too fast.



The laſt but one.



FINIS.

FANTAZIES

OF

Two, Three, and Four Parts,

FOR

VIOLS.

Composed by Michael East, Batchelor of Musick.

LONDON,
Printed, and are sold by John Playford, at his shop in the TEMPLE.

1935090550[illegible]
[illegible] 909
B752H

FANTAZIUS

OF

VIOLS.

TO THE TRVELY NOBLE LOVER OF LEARNING, AND PATRON OF ARTS, SIR CHRISTOPHER HATTON, Knight of the most Honourable Order of the BATH,

Michael East Batchellour of Musicke, wisheth all increase of Honour and Happinesse.

Honoured Sir:

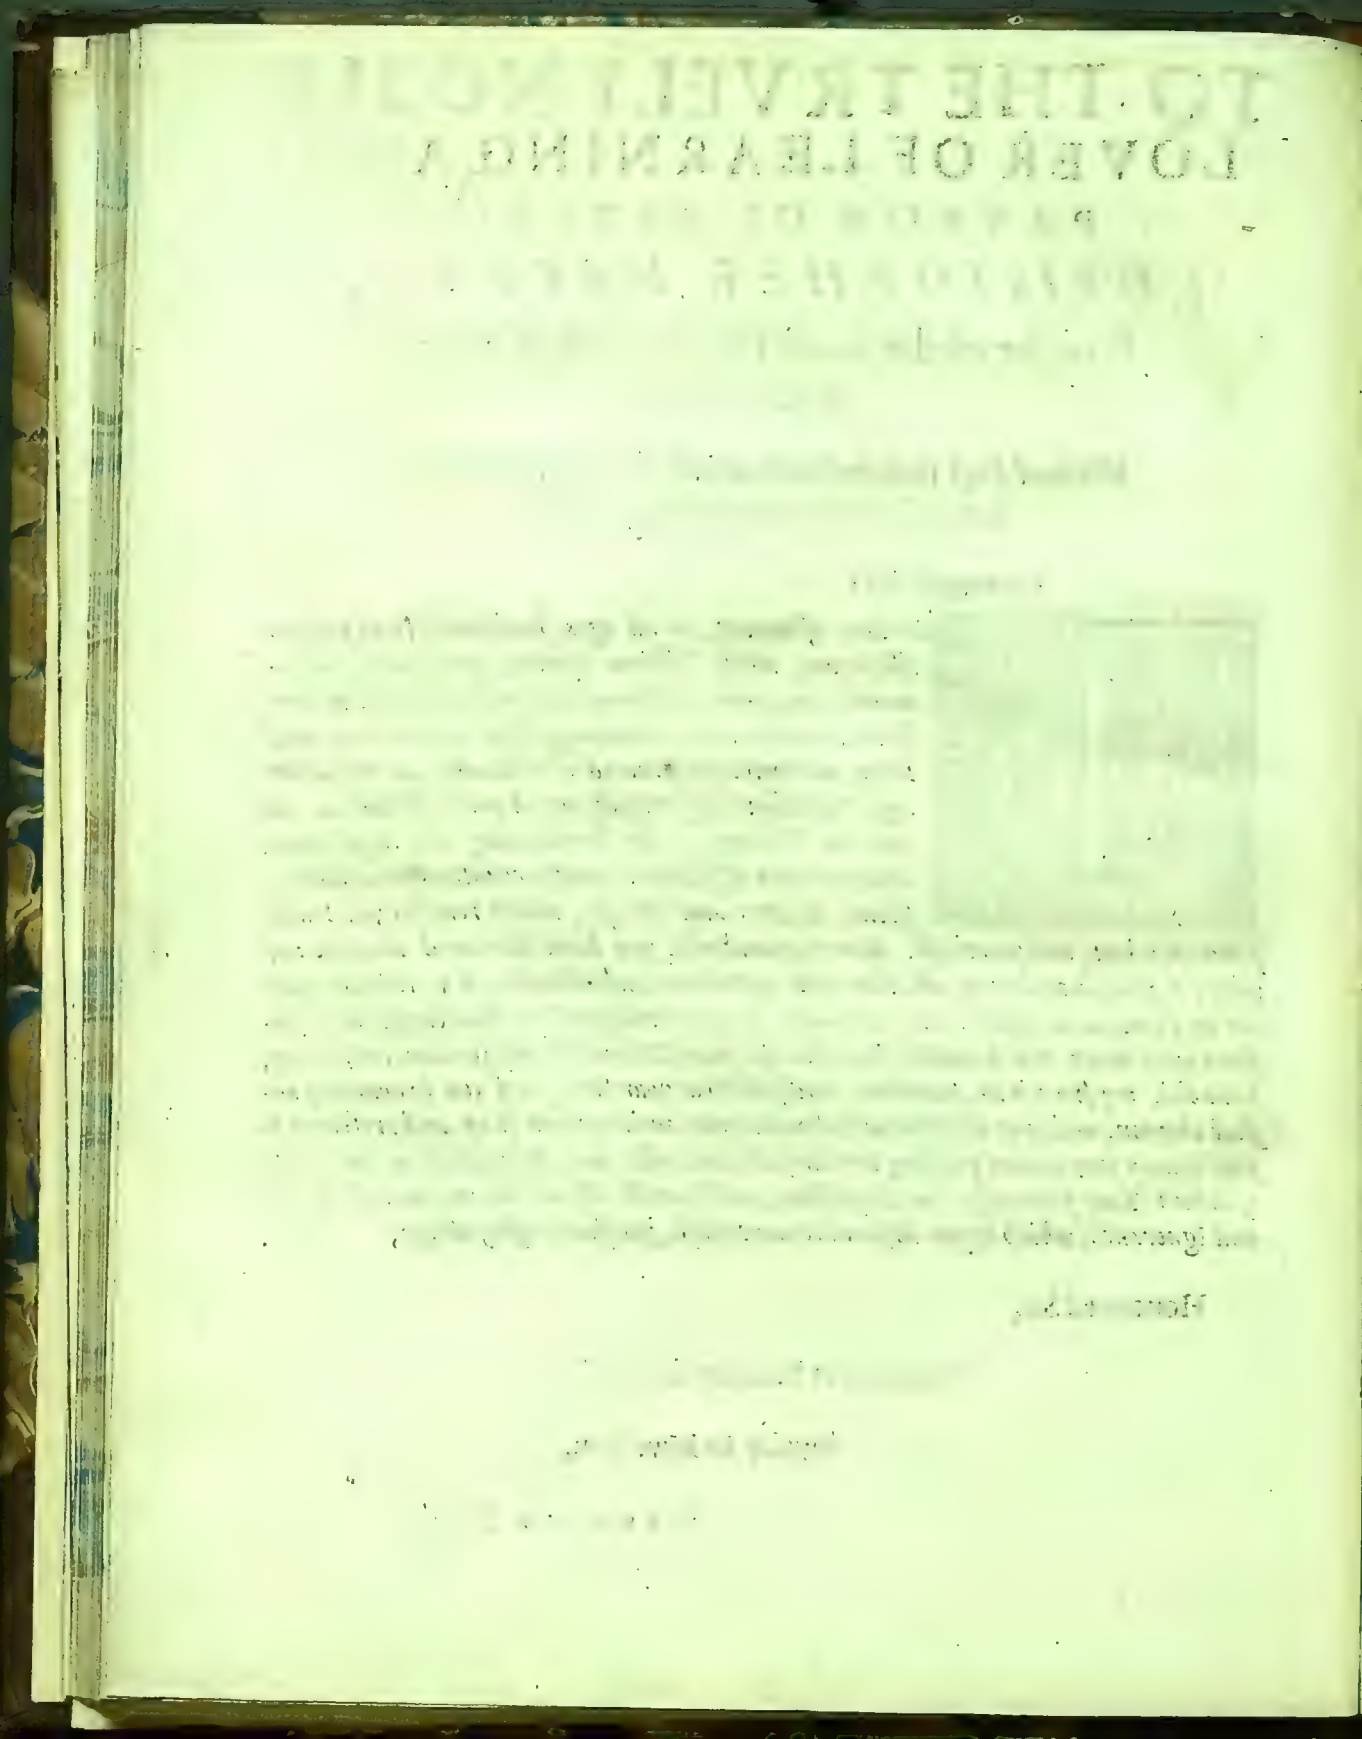
THe love of vertue, in all ages, hath made some persons illustrious, whose sublime spirits, and choyce judgements, have prompted them to cherish the Arts: whereby their names have beene magnified in their life, and their memories perpetuated after death. So in this our age, Fame hath deservedly voted and enstiled you, an eminent Mecænas, for frequenting the Academies, and exercises of science, and for countenance and benificence to Arts and Artists, which renders you truely pious, prudent, and peereleſſe. More particularly, you have honoured Musicke: of whose divine excellencies, all other Arts participate, which may glory, to be as ancient as Time, and expect to live eternally. To your transcendent Nobleneſſe, and constant love to our Art, I humbly sacrifice this poore Tribute of my service, confessing, I am old, my fruit is in Autumne, and falleth at your feet, yet if you favourably reflect thereon, and your obsequious followers grace me to gather it up, and present it to you, it may prove more pleasing to your judicious taste, and delightfull to the palate of others. Your patronage and cognisance, will protect it from the venome of Envie and Ignorance, which if you descend to vouchsafe, you shall highly oblige,

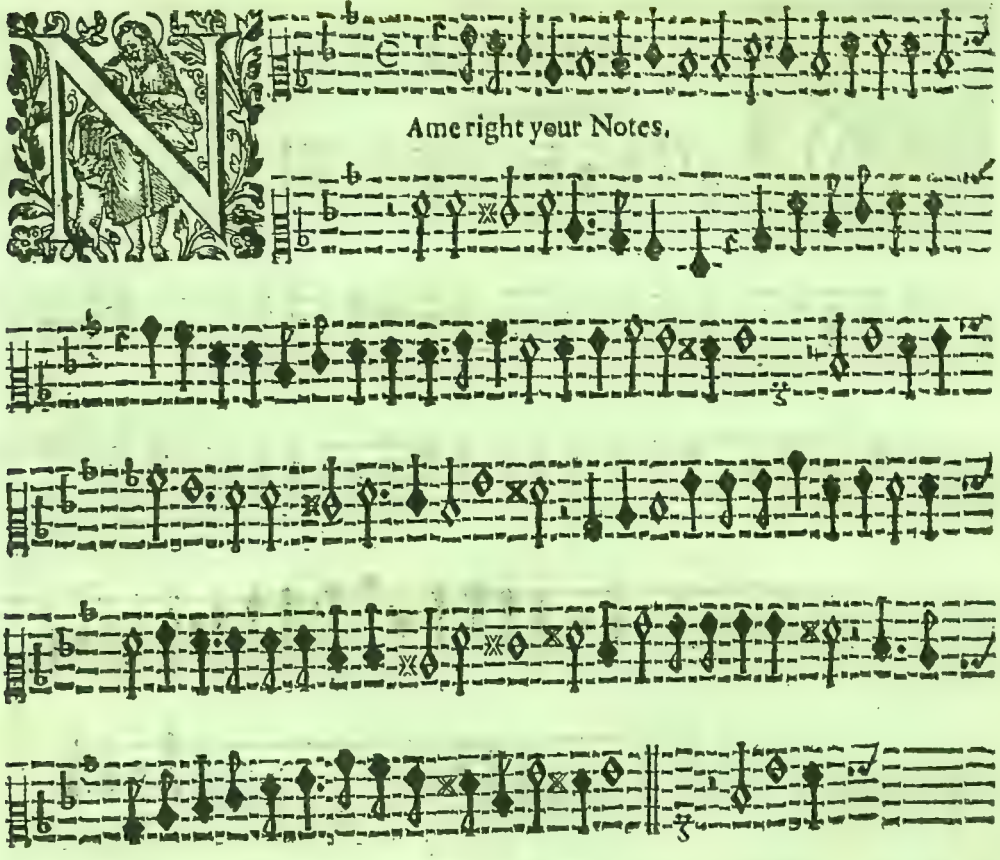
Honoured Sir,

Yours ever humbly devoted

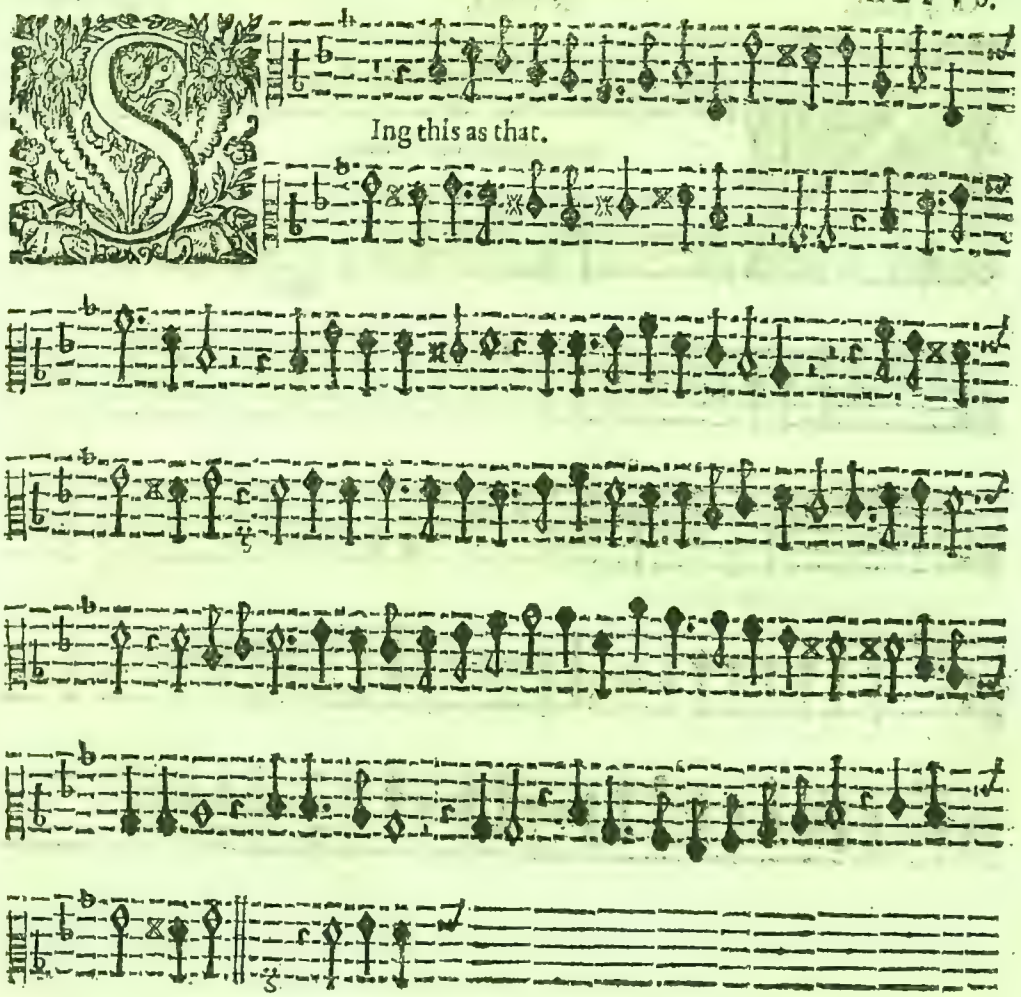
loyally to serve you,

MICHAEL EAST.

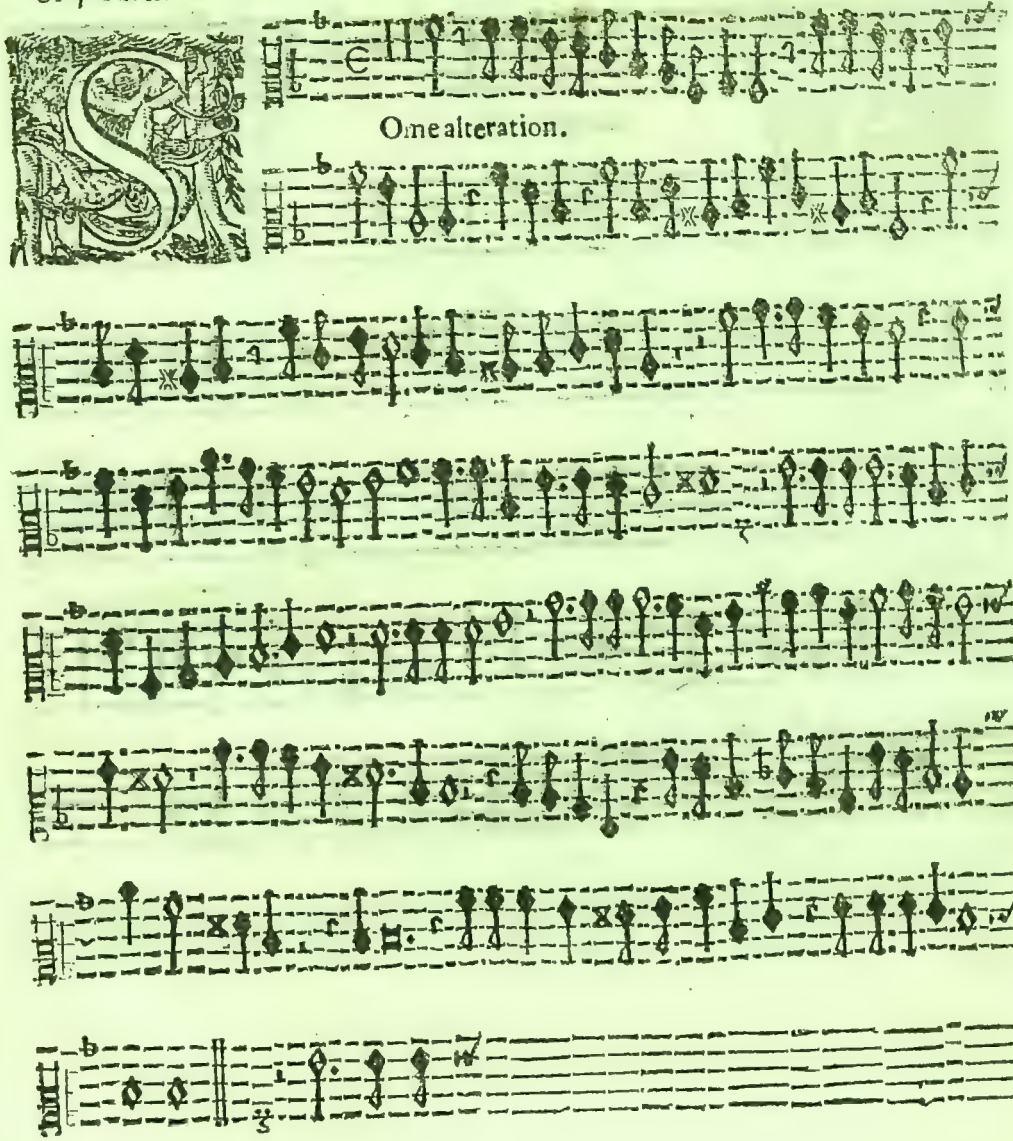




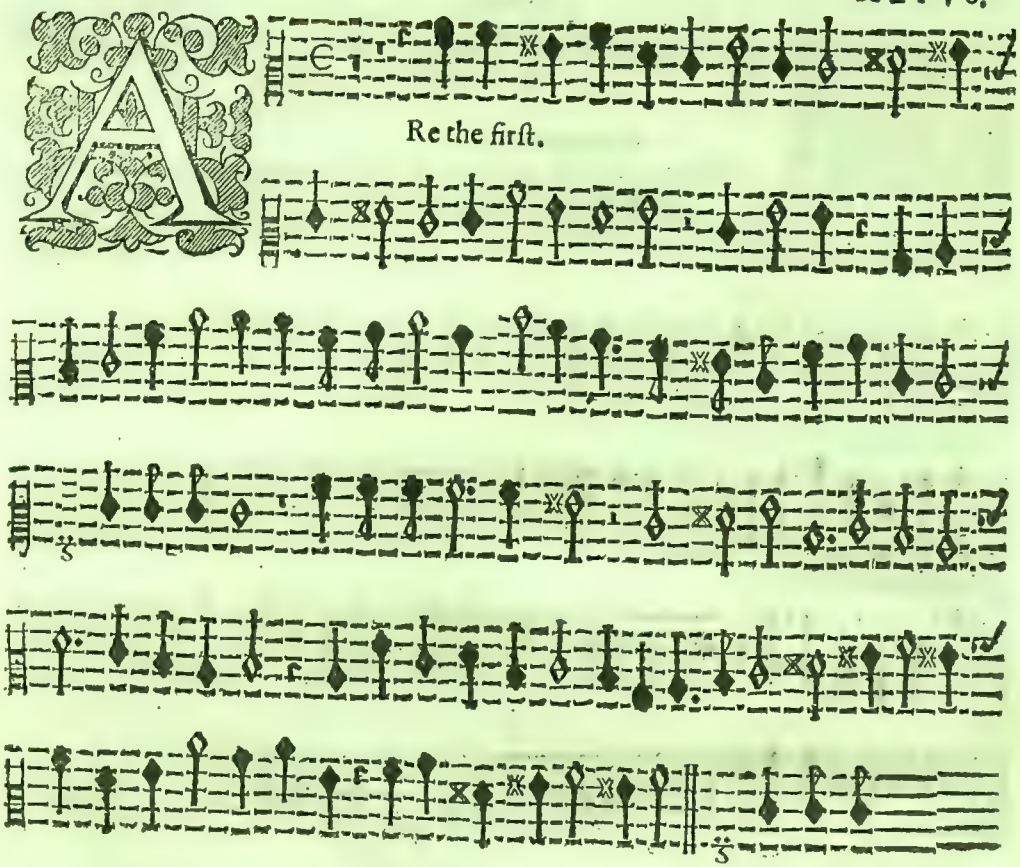
Ame right your Notes.



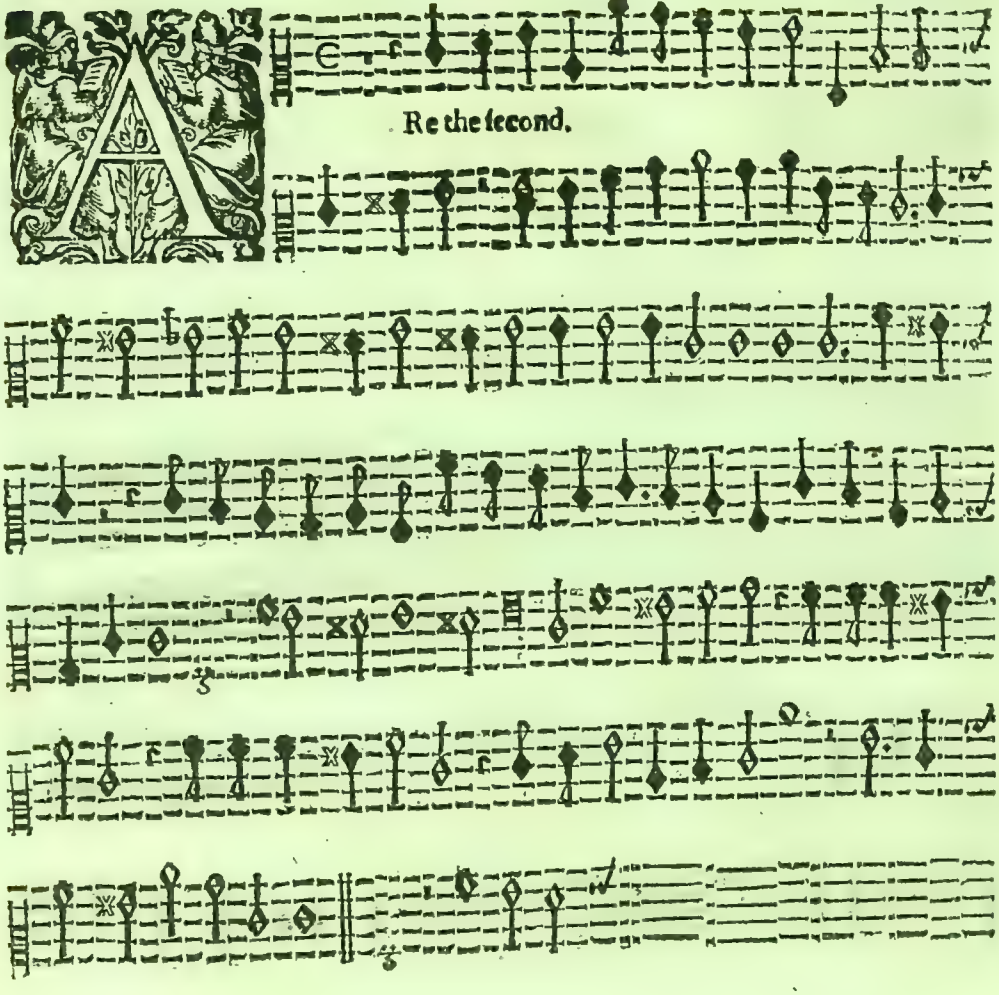
Ing this as that.



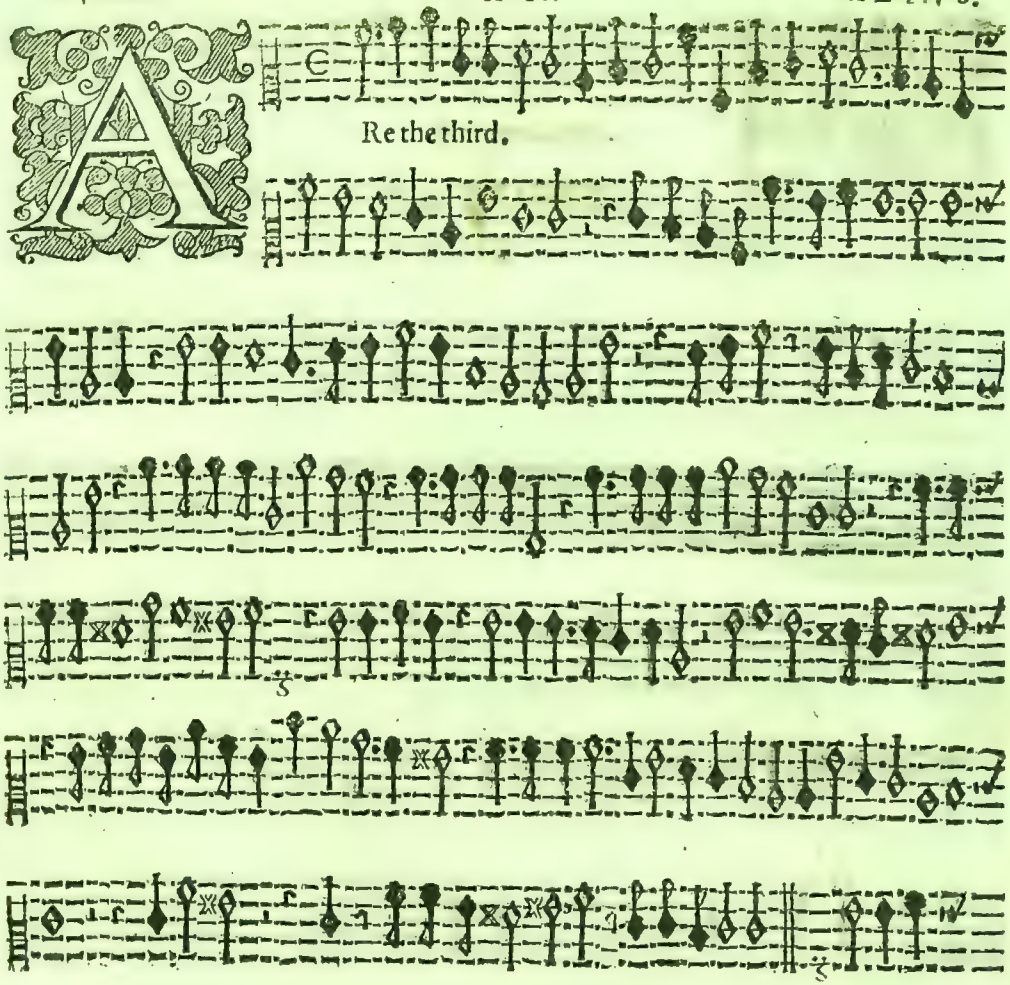
One alteration.



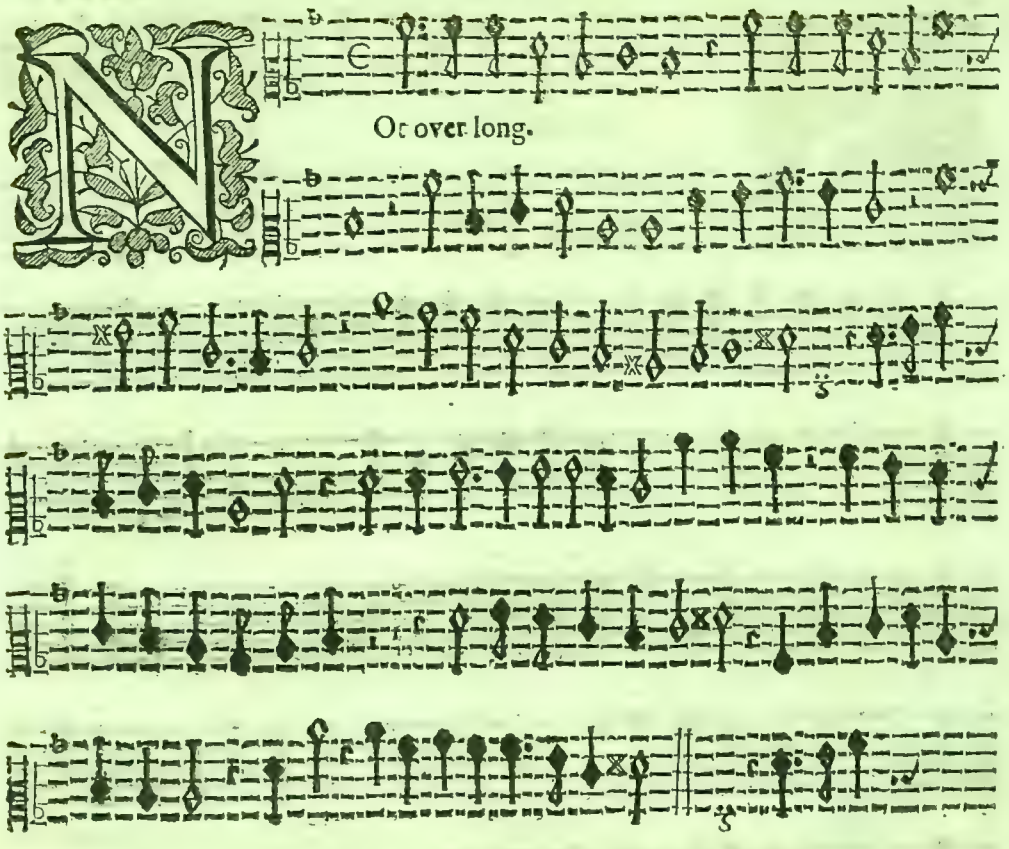
Re the first.



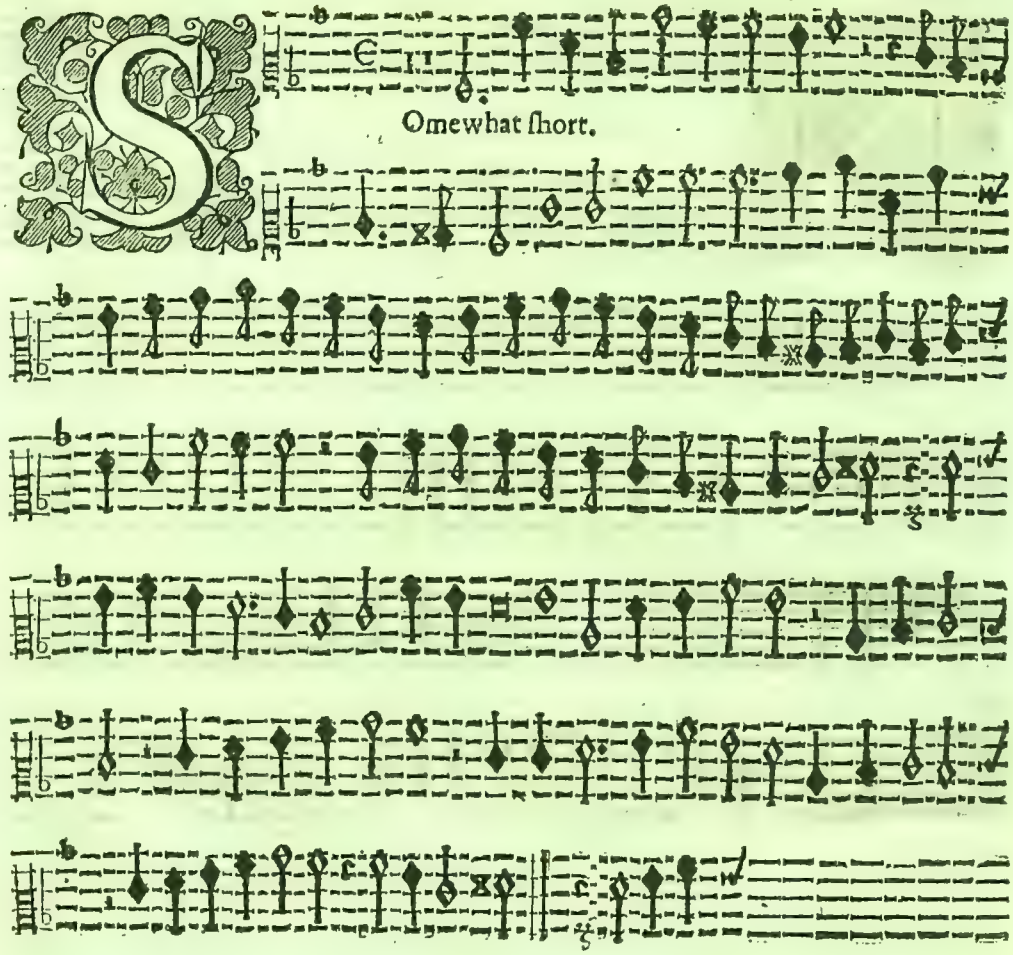
Re the fecond.



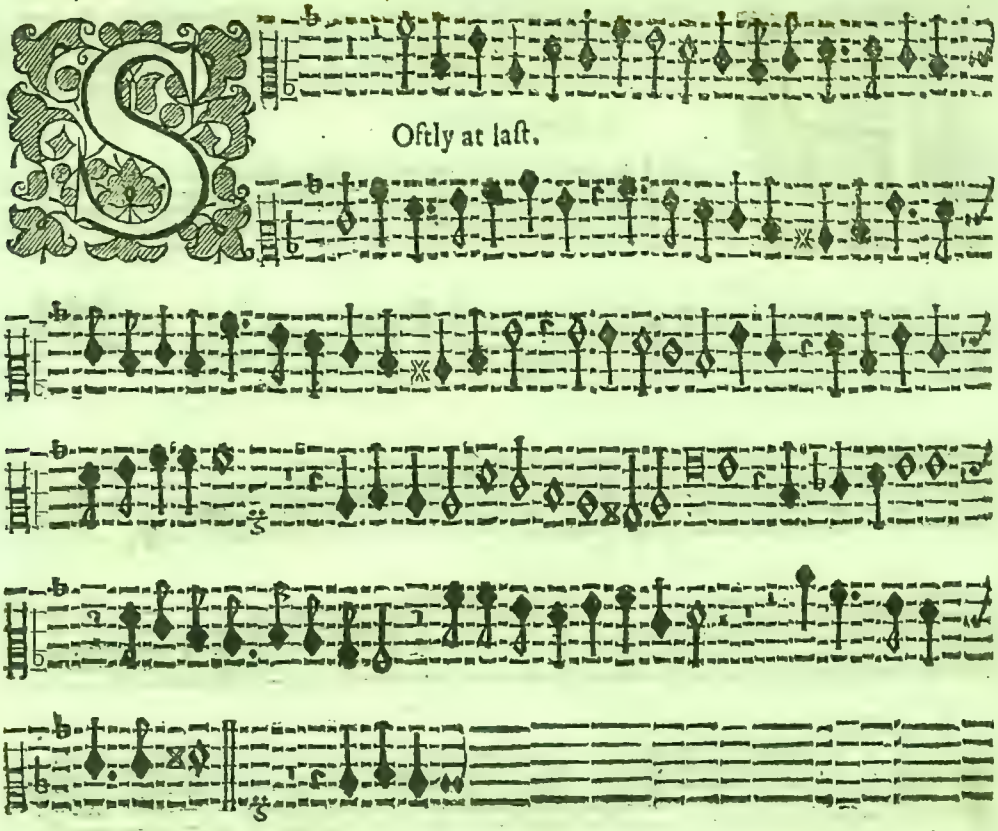
Re the third.



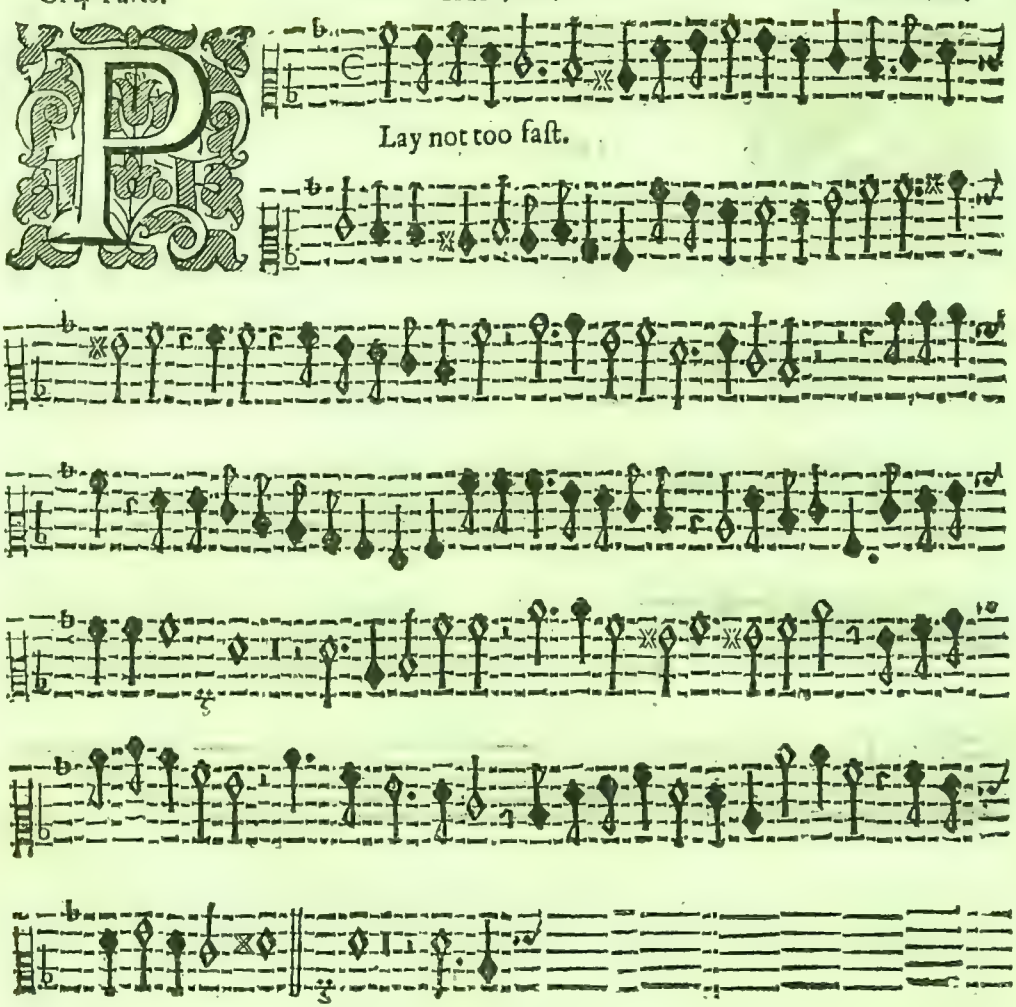
Or over long.



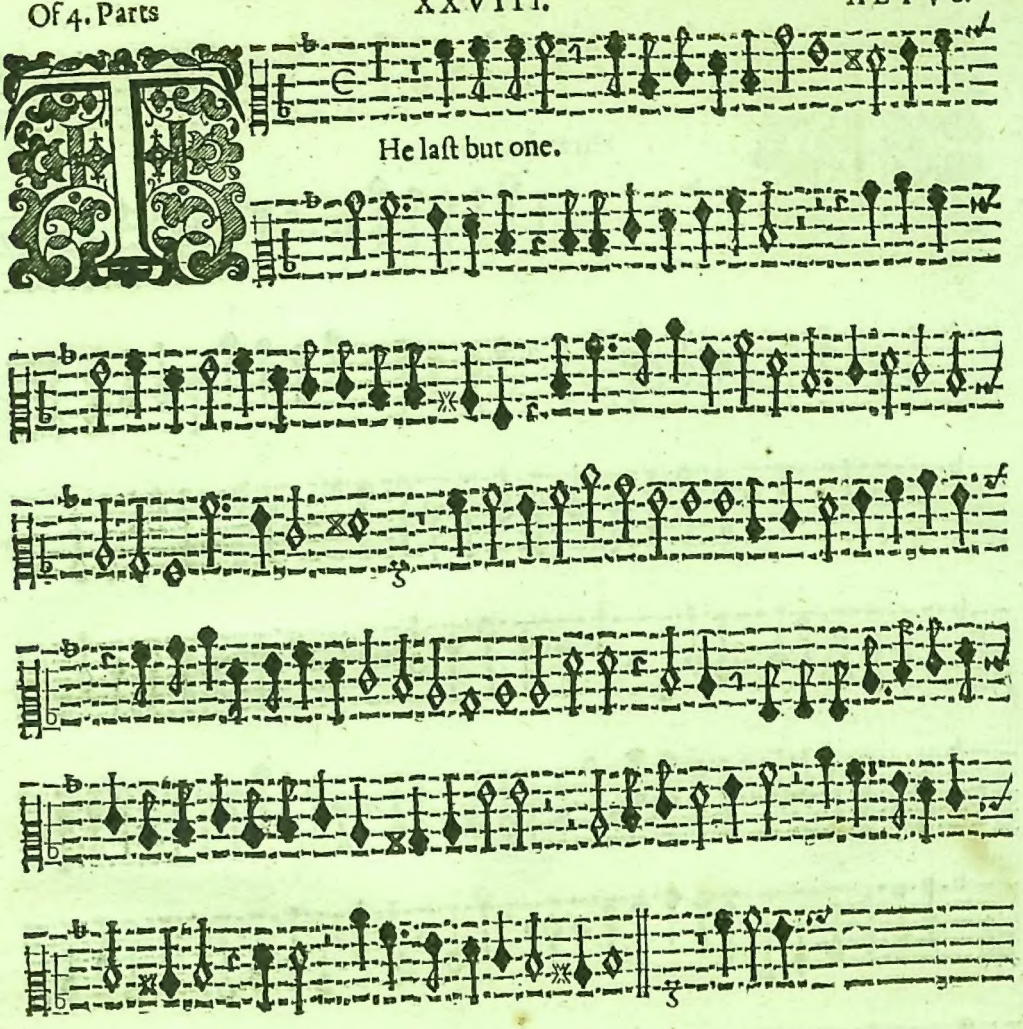
Somewhat short.



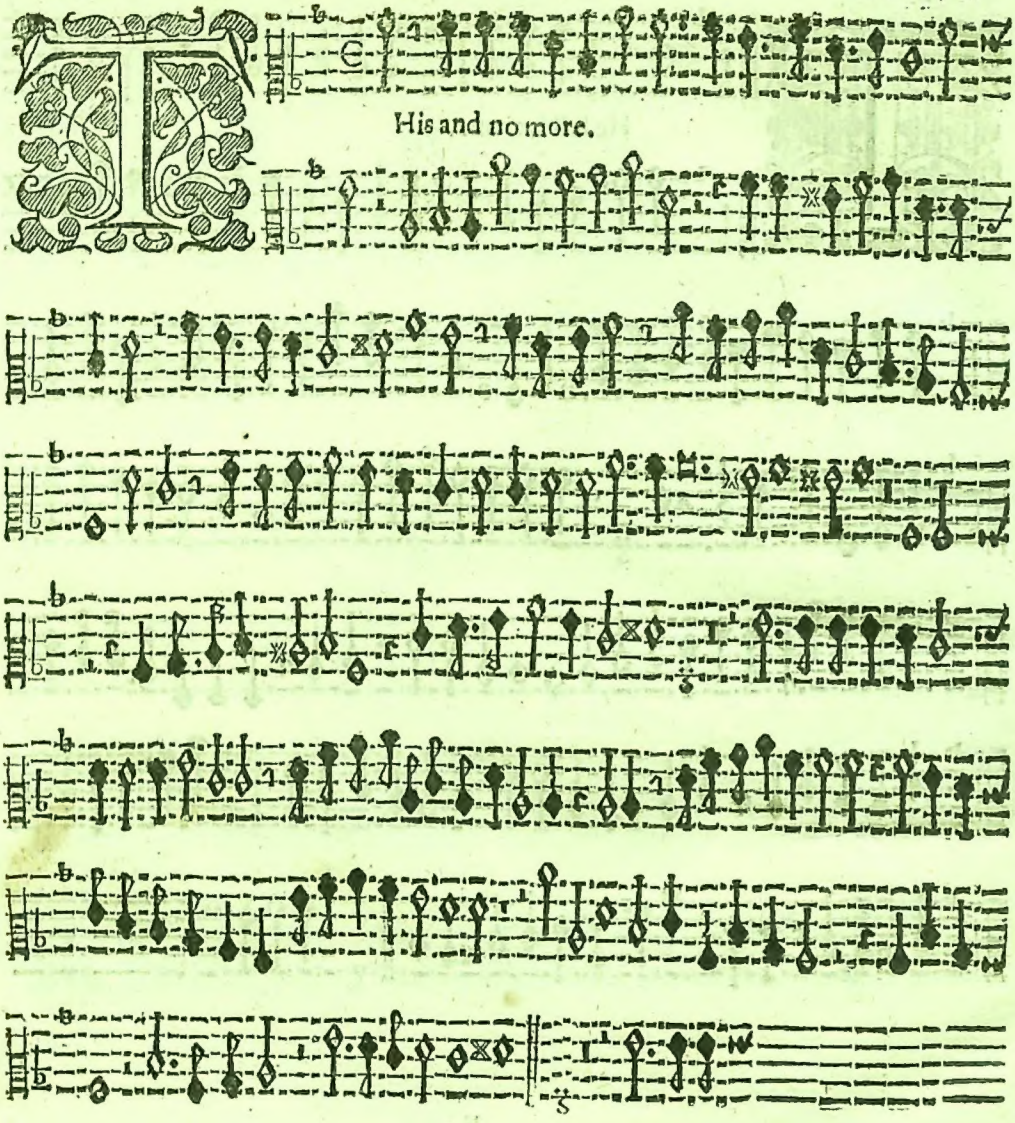
Oftly at laſt.



Lay not too fast.



He laſt but one.



FINIS.